Census Bureau Estimates Population of City at 95,109

Cambridge Has Bounded From 91,886 in 1900 to 102,982 and Lawrence From 62,559 to 77,541

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—The census office has prepared mathematical estimates of the population of the New England states and of numerous cities and towns within those states. It is stated that the estimates are based upon the population of the states, cities or towns at their last census, whether taken by the federal government in 1900 or by the states in 1905.

In each case the census bureau has added to the last available census figures an amount equal to the increase shown by that census since the preceding census, after allowing for annexations to present or subtractions from the territory embraced in the various communities figured on.

It is specifically stated that these estimates are not based upon the census of this year, the results of which may or may not approximate the bureau's estimates. On the whole, however, Director Durand believes that the population totals for this year as shown by the census will not differ greatly from the mathematical estimates prepared under his direction.

According to figures given out in Director Durand's office yesterday, the estimated population of the New England states this year is as follows:

Massachusetts 3,202,016
Maine 737,846
New Hampshire 446,646
Vermont 254,860
Rhode Island 321,608
Connecticut 1,070,552

Total for New England 6,833,958

The estimated population of various cities and towns in the several states is as follows:

MASSACHUSETTS
Boston 629,864
Adams 13,538
Amherst 8,207
Andover 10,733
Attleboro 14,060
Beverly 16,562
Brookline 55,325
Cambridge 102,982
Chelsea 40,506
Chicopee 21,215
Clinton 12,543
Danvers 9,584

Lowell Delegates to Atlantic Waterways Convention

J. L. CHALIFOUX
One of the Lowell Delegates

JOHN H. MURPHY

Were Personal Guests of Gov. Pothier, of R. I., Through J. L. Chalifoux—City of Providence Beats All Records at Entertaining Visiting Delegates

The most enthusiastic party of Lowell men who ever returned from a trip are the board of trade delegates to the Atlantic Deeper Waterways convention at Providence this week, consisting of President Harvey B. Greene, Secretary John H. Murphy, J. L. Chalifoux, Jesse H. Shepherd, Carl M. Phil and Representative George H. Marchand.

The Lowell delegates were fortunate in having with them Mr. Chalifoux, who is a close personal friend of Gov. A. J. Pothier of Rhode Island and as a result they were the personal guests of the governor and were the envy of all the delegates.

The party left here early Thursday morning in Mr. Chalifoux's auto and returned last night though the festivities do not conclude until this evening.

Secretary Murphy gave a most enthusiastic account of the trip to a reporter of the Sun this morning, emphasizing the manner in which Providence and the state looked after their visitors.

For the entertainment of the 400 delegates the state appropriated $5000, the city made an appropriation and the board of trade made a collection among the business interests of the city, the entire fund for entertainment amounting to the magnificent sum of $25,000.

The entire city of Providence was gaily decorated for the visitors and from the Civic square to the Narragansett hotel where the delegates made their headquarters the entire street was canopied with an illuminated arch also decorated with holly and evergreen. At either end of the arch in illuminated letters three feet long was the inscription "What Cheer," the greeting of old Roger Williams himself.

The Lowell delegates with the exception of Mr. Chalifoux were registered at Narragansett hotel. Mr. Chalifoux being the personal guest of the governor at his home in Woonsocket. Gov. Pothier making use of Mr. Chalifoux's auto during the convention. The convention was held in the Providence Opera House and the Lowell men attended both sessions on Thursday which were previously reported in the Sun. On Thursday evening the delegates took 50 special cars to a beautiful summer resort known as "Rhodes on the Pawtuxet" where they were royally entertained. In honor of the guests the Casino was closed to the public for the first time in its history while a large temporary fence was built around the place so that the public could not crowd in on the visitors. There they viewed the great water carnival of 100 decorated canoes and were treated to an elaborate lunch. On every hand were lunches, cigars, and liquid refreshments served with lavish hand.

On Friday morning Governor Pothier and Mr. Chalifoux came to the convention in Mr. Chalifoux's auto and were formally presented to the convention. Massachusetts was represented among the speakers by Mayor Fitzgerald, who was one of the big hits of the occasion. Mayor Fitzgerald made a strong speech in favor of the deepening of the Merrimack river so as to make it navigable to Lowell. He surprised the convention by quoting a wealth of statistics to show the great benefit to be derived by the cities of Lowell, Lawrence, and Haverhill by a deeper and navigable Merrimack river.

On Friday night the delegates to the number of 400 took the steamer Warwick for Vauxhall Fair, the largest clam bake in the world, while another steamer took the women delegates and the wives of the delegates in attendance to Felt's Point, where a special clam bake was served the ladies. In order to accommodate all the delegates under one roof, a $2500 temporary addition to the dining hall was built, and the 4000 sat down together. The delegates sat 10 to a table, and each table had its own waiter. Words failed Mr. Murphy when he attempted to describe the menu which he said was the finest ever produced. Everything moved like clockwork and the service was excellent. After the dinner all the delegates took the steamer for a trip down the harbor, except the Lowell men, who returned to Providence with Governor Pothier in Mr. Chalifoux's auto, where they were shown through the state house, a $3,000,000 building, and entertained by the governor. The Lowell party returned to Lowell last night. During the dinner a military band of 50 pieces furnished music, and at the request of the different delegations played the favorite tunes of the different states. During the dinner also the delegates had a view of the yachting, the finishing point being in front of the pavilion. The program today includes a trip to Newport and the naval station, entertainment by the different yacht clubs and fireworks.

One of the most interesting features of the convention, Mr. Murphy stated, was an illustrated lecture by Commander Robert E. Peary, the discoverer of the North Pole. Among those called upon for a speech was the governor of South Carolina who made a big hit by announcing that he failed to see his old friend the governor of North Carolina present in order to make a time honored statement to him but he added that as the affair was a water convention it was just as well the other governor remained at home.

Every city along the Atlantic coast had some kind of a souvenir or circular bearing its own advantages. See Mr. Murphy not to be outdone carried with him a bundle of the key cards that were distributed during the convention. Every body in Providence he says entered into the spirit of the occasion and the badges worn by the visitors gave them carte blanche wherever they went. The Outlook, one of the biggest department stores in Providence had a band stand constructed over the entrance to its stores and gave free band concerts afternoon and evening during the convention days.

BY DIRECT VOTE Plan to Nominate Senators and Rep's

Thomas P. Riley, attorney and counsellor-at-law, has addressed the following communication to City Clerk Dorman:

Sept. 1, 1910.
Dear Friend: I am sending you under separate cover, petitions signed by voters in your place, for the placing of the direct nomination question on the ballot in the next state election.

These signatures must be certified to by the registrar of voters in each city and town and the petitions filed with the secretary of state before the 8th of this month.

I respectfully ask that you notify the registrars in your place in order that they may certify the signatures Monday or Tuesday and also ask them if they will kindly reforward the petitions to the office of the secretary of state in the wrapper that will be enclosed with them for that purpose, mailing them not later than Wednesday morning.

The petitions will reach you by Monday at the latest.

Thanking you for your courtesy in behalf of the petitioners of the commonwealth as well as your own district, I remain,

Respectfully yours,

(Signed) Thomas P. Riley.

This communication has to do with an act relative to the nomination by direct plurality vote of senators and representatives in the general court.

The question is: "Shall nominations by political parties of candidates for the office of senator or representative be by direct plurality vote?"

This applies to the 14th and 15th representative districts and the 7th and 8th senatorial districts.

ON LABOR DAY

Lowell Will Have No Formal Celebration This Year

Loomfixers Will Hold Big Outing and Lowell Will Play Double-Header—The Opera House and Hathaway's Open For Season—Columbus Day Observance On October 12

Monday will be Labor Day and while it will be observed by a general suspension of business there will be no formal celebration on the part of the Labor organizations.

It was recently voted by the Trades and Labor council to omit the celebration this year owing to the curtailment and the present two weeks' shut-down.

The Loomfixers' union, however, will have an outing on the upper boulevard which will draw a big crowd.

The Carpenters' union has received an invitation to be the guests of their brethren of Lawrence Monday, where a big celebration and parade is being held and they have accepted though they will not appear in the parade.

Thousands of French-Americans will go to Manchester on Monday where a big parade of French societies and a military competition at Yankee park is to be held. Four of the local organizations will participate in the parade while the Garde Frontenac will also compete in the military contest.

The Opera House and Hathaway's theatre will open their seasons with two performances and strong attractions while every picture theatre in the city will run holiday performances.

Lakeview, Canobie Lake and Brerly Point offer special attractions, day and evening.

The biggest attraction here will be a double header game between Lowell and Lawrence at Spalding park, the first game beginning at 2 o'clock and two games for one admission. In the morning at 10 o'clock Lowell will play Lawrence at Glen Forest.

Columbus Day Plans

On October 12 Massachusetts will observe as a holiday for the first time, the anniversary of the discovery of America by Columbus, being one of 15 states to recognize the day as a holiday through the efforts of the Knights of Columbus. It is the desire of the knights and the legislators to have the day observed generally and not particularly by the organization that takes its name in honor of the discoverer. It is argued that but for the discovery of

PROF. HUGH J. MOLLOY

America by Columbus in all probability there would have been no Pilgrims' Day, Washington's Birthday, Lincoln Day, Independence Day or Labor Day and hence the holiday should be as general in character as the others. As this is the first year of the holiday the supreme officers of the Knights of Columbus have suggested that each city of sufficient size should have its own celebration. In Boston one of the features will be a parade of the Catholic societies of the city and it is expected that 50,000 men will be in the line. A celebration will be held in Lowell the exact nature of which will be decided upon next week. The committee on celebration from Lowell Council Knights of Columbus consists of Prof. Hugh J. Molloy, chairman, William F. Thornton, Dr. T. F. Carroll, Joseph Handley, Joseph W. Green and Grand Knight Daniel S. O'Brien, ex-officio. Among the features will be religious services and a banquet.

EDSON CEMETERY

Bids on New Gateway to be Called for

Bids for the new gateway to the Edson cemetery will be called for by the purchasing agent on Tuesday. The erection of a gateway is provided for in an appropriation of $2500. The gateway will be opposite Third avenue and at the intersection of Gorham street and Carlsbad road. The gateway itself is to be granite posts with wrought iron gates and fence. Other calls for bids by the purchasing agent will include drawing paper for the school department; trunks and overalls and maps and brooms for the charity department.

BOARD OF HEALTH SON WINS OVER FATHER IN THE FIRST BATTLE

Will Take Action to Suppress Cremator Odors

There was a little hen talk at a meeting of the board of health held yesterday afternoon. Two men who keep hens and who live near the corner of B and Puffer streets were present by appointment. Neighbors had complained that the hens were a nuisance; that they made funny noises and, unlike other hens, cackled when they didn't lay eggs. The complainers or petitioners, however, did not put in an appearance and the hearing was postponed until Sept. 16.

The granting of licenses by the agent to John Glennie to collect bones, grease, etc., and James Hadley to transport swill, was given the sanction of the board.

The petition of Charles Saffer to locate a stable at 11 Middlesex park was read and action on it was postponed until a view is taken.

A communication from a department inspector relative to a sanitary inspection of the police station was taken as a partial report and the agent was notified to confer with Inspector Dow of the buildings department relative to the matter.

Agent Bates said that the cremator had been burned out and that the present jacket is nearly worthless. It will be cleaned out and allowed to cool that the members of the board may inspect it at their earliest convenience.

ANNUAL SESSION Of the National Loomfixers Held in Lawrence

LAWRENCE, Sept. 2.—Mayor Cahill welcomed the delegates to the 19th annual convention of the National Loomfixers' association of America, which was opened in the hall of the local association yesterday. President John A. Farrell of Fitchburg was in the chair.

Delegates were present from New Bedford, Salem, Chilmark, Adams, Fitchburg, Clinton, Dover, N. H., Manchester, N. H., Middlebury, Vt., Greenville, Conn. and 15 cities. Fred Brazeau of Adams was appointed sergeant-at-arms.

The secretary and treasurer's reports were accepted and the financial report was referred to be audited. It was voted to amend the constitution, increasing the membership of the executive board from three to five members. See Oliver Christian of this city was given an additional $25 to his salary in appreciation of his services. An amendment to consolidate the offices of secretary and treasurer was voted down.

Officers will be elected today and the next place of meeting decided upon. A banquet will be tendered the delegates by the local union this evening, to which Lieut. Gov. Frothingham and Congressman Ames have been invited. On motion of Secretary Oliver Christian of this city, it was unanimously voted to extend a rising vote of thanks to Mayor Cahill for opening the convention.

Capt. William H. Taylor, chairman of the committee on arrangements, made a few remarks, expressing his pleasure for officiating as chairman of the important committee. He said that the Lawrence Loomfixers had arranged for a banquet and reception for the delegates and invited guests Saturday night at Franco-American hall, in which he said that the Lawrence Loomfixers' association, because the organization was not affiliated with the United Textile Workers.

platform, was a candidate on the "stand pat," or regular, ticket. Johnson, the son, won his battle by a big majority, while the father went down to defeat with other opponents of his offspring. But—and here is the interesting part of the story—one prohibitionist placed the name of the father, Grove L. Johnson, on a ballot, and he won the prohibition nomination on that one vote. Again, there were 28 democrats who voted for Grove L. and the same number who voted for a man named Bliss. This was a tie, and the supervisors of the county must decide whether Bliss or Johnson shall have the nomination on the democratic ticket by tossing a coin. Should Johnson senior win the democratic nomination he will again be opposed to his son, as he will be compelled to take the stump with his son on the opposition ballots.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 3.—The voters of the state of California have one of the most interesting fights in their history this year not only for the governorship, for which Hiram Johnson of this city is the republican candidate and Theodore A. Bell of Napa the democratic selection, but in many of the assembly districts and for other state officers. One of the interesting features of the battle was the primary contests for the republican nominations. In one of the Sacramento assembly districts Grove L. Johnson, the aged father of the man who won the republican nomination for governor on the insurgent

FETE CHAMPETRE PRESIDENT TAFT Starts On 3000 Mile Journey Today

BEVERLY, Sept. 3.—President Taft is off this afternoon on a 3000 mile journey to deliver an address before the National Conservation congress at St. Paul Monday morning. No stops are scheduled either going or returning and Mr. Taft will be back in Beverly late Wednesday afternoon. The president has prepared his St. Paul speech with much care. He has devoted more pains and study to it than to any of his recent speeches and it will stand as defining accurately and finally his position on the great subject of conservation.

Mr. Taft recently cancelled all of his speaking engagements in the west, save this one. Col. Roosevelt is to be in St. Paul on Tuesday. The president will visit the state fair at St. Paul Monday afternoon and leave for Beverly Monday evening. The president will journey into Boston this afternoon by auto and leave on a regular train for the west at 4:30 p. m. He goes by way of Albany, Buffalo, Cleveland and Chicago and returns the same way.

MISS ELKINS MAY BE MARRIED TO DUKE IN FEBRUARY

PARIS, Sept. 3.—Miss Katherine Elkins and Mrs. R. S. Hitt returned to Paris from London today. Circumstantial stories are to the effect that Miss Elkins and the Duke of the Abruzzi will be married in February.

In last evening's Sun, C. B. Coburn Co. advertised Electric Light Oil at twelve cents a gallon, but that price is incorrect. The mistake is rectified by stating that householders can buy this excellent lamp oil for ten cents a gallon.

DELEGATES SAW NEWPORT PROVIDENCE, R. The visitors sailed from the southern gateway of New England on the steamer Warwick this morning, arriving at Newport at 10:30. There a visit was made to the naval training station where there was a dress parade. A sight-seeing tour of the city was then made, after which the delegates returned on the steamer to this city.

STRIKE SITUATION ENDED CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—At the close of the miners and operators meeting that lasted until after midnight it was announced that the strike situation in the Illinois coal fields, virtually had been brought to an end. The miners get a share of their demands, only a few details having been changed.

INCREASE OF $12,000 In Bank Deposits During Hibernian Week

The Boston clearing house statement for the week shows that the deposits in the local banks for the week of August 24, Hibernian week, were $12,000 greater than for the corresponding week of one year ago.

The figures themselves do not represent the real increase for one year, as every mill in Lowell was running steadily and there was more money in circulation locally by thousands of dollars than there were this year so that the increase from out of town sources was far in excess of $12,000, a fact that shows that Hibernian week was a first class financial proposition for the city of Lowell, thanks to Mr. O'Sullivan and the Central Council of the A. ## COL. ROOSEVELT JACK BARRYMORE WELL KNOWN ACTOR WEDS MISS KATHERINE C. HARRIS

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Jack Barrymore and Miss Katherine Corri Harris were married at noon Thursday in the church of St. Francis Xavier in West 16th street.

The wedding was very quiet, almost secret. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. Thomas Harlan, formerly of Boston. Only relatives were present.

They were Mr. and Mrs. Russell G. Colt, Mrs. Colt being Miss Ethel Barrymore; Mrs. Brady, grandmother of the bride, and Mrs. Kitty Harris, the bride's mother.

Immediately following the ceremony there was a wedding breakfast, and then Mrs. Barrymore departed for Manhattan, where the young folks will make their home for a time with Mr. and Mrs. Colt. Mr. Barrymore remained in New York until after the performance of "The Fortune Hunter," in which he is the star.

The marriage was not attended by Mr. Harris, who had opposed it from the time the engagement was announced. His only objection, he stated, was the extreme youth of Miss Harris. She is only 18.

Surprise was caused by the announcement of the engagement, early last month. Mr. Barrymore and Miss Harris obtained a marriage license on Aug. 12. Miss Harris left the city immediately after the license was obtained to visit at Murray Bay, Canada.

Although she was out of the city, there were many reports that they had been married secretly. These were denied by Mr. Barrymore.

John Barrymore, 34, the full name under which he was married, is a member of two of the most distinguished theatrical families in the United States. He is a son of the late Maurice Barrymore and George Bruce. The bride is a granddaughter of the late Judge John R. Brady.

COL. ROOSEVELT Made a Knight of the Ak-Sar-Ben

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 3.—Having spent a day and night in Omaha, Theodore Roosevelt resumed his tour through the west early today. He left at 8:05 o'clock for Sioux Falls. The colonel had breakfast at the Omaha club this morning with the Roosevelt reception committee and then went to his train.

Colonel Roosevelt was made a member of the Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben last night and attended a smoker at "The Den," the home of the knights. Two initiates, dressed to resemble Speaker Cannon and Senator La Follette, were placed on trial before the court of Ak-Sar-Ben. Their counsel defended them by depicting "Cannon" as a man who "stood pat on the burning dock whence pretty nearly all but him had fled" and La Follette as the friend of the friends of the corporations, because when they were sorely hounded with the task of counting their money, he fixed things so that they wouldn't have so much money to count. The jury was unanimous for acquittal, but the "court" said it was his painful duty to sentence them. He banished "Cannon" to Kansas and "La Follette" to Rhode Island. Then the stage was set to resemble the Omaha conception of the main street of Oyster Bay. There were songs and jokes about Roosevelt, which the colonel took with a smile. After he had been declared a full-fledged knight he made a speech in which he said that he was proud to be a member of the Ak-Sar-Ben and that he was proud to be a member of the Ak-Sar-Ben.

MISS ELKINS MAY BE MARRIED TO DUKE IN FEBRUARY

PARIS, Sept. 3.—Miss Katherine Elkins and Mrs. R. S. Hitt returned to Paris from London today. Circumstantial stories are to the effect that Miss Elkins and the Duke of the Abruzzi will be married in February.

In last evening's Sun, C. B. Coburn Co. advertised Electric Light Oil at twelve cents a gallon, but that price is incorrect. The mistake is rectified by stating that householders can buy this excellent lamp oil for ten cents a gallon.

DELEGATES SAW NEWPORT PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 3.—The program of entertainment provided for the delegates to the Atlantic Deep-sea Waterways association's third annual convention was ended today with a sail to Newport. The visitors sailed from the southern gateway of New England on the steamer Warwick this morning, arriving at Newport at 10:30. There a visit was made to the naval training station where there was a dress parade. A sight-seeing tour of the city was then made, after which the delegates returned on the steamer to this city.

HAVERHILL WON

Lowell Was Shy a Single Run

HAVERHILL, Sept. 2.—Haverhill defeated Lowell here yesterday by the score of 5 to 1. Securing four runs in the first inning, Haverhill took the lead, to be tied in the ninth by the visitors. Haverhill, however, secured another run in their half of the ninth, and the game. The score:

DIAMOND NOTES

Two games today, Lowell Americans vs. Sanitary Club at 1:30 followed by Lowell-Lynn game.

Fall River ..... 57 54 51351
Lowell ..... 58 55 51327
And we're temporarily out of the first division.

The Lawrence Eagle says:
Will Lowell pass Worcester in the present New England league race? The Lowell fans are hoping that such a thing will come to pass and Worcester has not got such a lead on Lowell that it can't be overcome in the time remaining between now and the close of the season of 1910.

A glance at the standing of the New England league will easily show that Lowell has a mighty good chance of getting into third place. In short, it would not be impossible for Lowell to turn the trick. Worcester is now only three and one-half games ahead of Lowell. Worcester has won 61 games and lost 54. There is a difference in the percentage of 22 points. This is not a wide margin, by any means.
If Burkett should lose third place, wouldn't he be angry? You could then hear the old scout growl for miles.

FRED CLARK, PIRATES' LEADER, OUT OF THE GAME

PITTSBURG, Sept. 2.—The world's champion Pirates will play through the remainder of the season without the active services of Manager Fred Clark. The noble captain says that he has retired for 1910. The withdrawal of Clark from active playing is admittedly brought about by the vicious cut on his head he was subjected to on Aug. 25, when the champions lost two games around. Don't let it be overlooked, either, that Lowell has its eye out for that third place. The team has been playing "sensational" ball of late. In fact, no club in the league has played quite as consistent an article of ball in the last month as has Lowell. The team has played inside baseball, with its pitchers working well. Lowell seems strongest, too, against the best clubs. Lowell will play Lawrence three games on Monday and these games will have an important effect upon whether or not Lowell will wrest third position from Worcester.

There is a merry fight on, surely, and all the interest is not for first place. In fact, the fight for third is just now creating more interest in Lowell and Worcester than in the fight for the lead. New Bedford is conceded the pennant by the majority of the fans.

TIM AND JAKE

Base Ball Magnates at Sword's Points

The Lynn item of Wednesday has the following of interest to local as well as all the fans of the New England league circuit:

"That there will soon be a parting of the ways between President Timothy H. Murnane and Secretary J. C. Morse of the New England league is the information coming from Boston today. Based on the actions of Murnane in going over the head of Secretary Morse and raising the suspension of Pop Rising of New Bedford, who last Saturday went at Umpire Lanigan with a bat. Rising was suspended for three days by Secretary Morse, after Lanigan had reported the facts in the case, and yesterday Murnane raised the suspension after a conference with Rising and Jas. F. Smith, a heavy stockholder in the New Bedford club.

The action of Murnane came as a surprise to Morse, who was not consulted in the matter, and gave the secretary a severe jolt in his determination to eliminate rovelism from New England league ranks. It is understood that it is the first time that the president of the circuit has exercised his authority on certain teams, and not only has Mr. Morse become tired of such actions, but owners and managers of certain other teams in the league are equally disturbed.

"Rising was put out of the game with Brockton at New Bedford the first time he went to bat last Saturday. He disputed a decision by Umpire Lanigan, and is said to have swung the stick at the indicator holder, who, although being large of bulk, sidestepped in time to avoid danger. Then Rising was sent from the field, and Lanigan on Monday made his report of the matter to Secretary Morse. The latter at once issued an order to Manager Tom Dowd to keep Pop out of the game for three days.

"It was bad news to the Whalers, for with Rising out of the game it was necessary to use a pitcher in the field. Not having a very secure hold on first place because of the stiff fight Lynn is giving the club, Manager Dowd is said to have interested Mr. Smith in the matter and explained that, with Rising out of the game, the team would be so badly crippled that its chances of winning the pennant in Watertown, this season might be severely jeopardized. "Straightaway Rising, Dowd, Smith and Secretary McPhail of the team hurried to Boston. If they went to Mr. Morse's office they did not see that official, although the latter was in his place of business at the time they are said to have called.

"Tim Murnane was located, the situation explained to him and an offer made on behalf of the club, to pay a fine of reasonable size if the suspension were lifted and Rising allowed to go in the game against Lynn at Ocean park Tuesday afternoon. Murnane did not take long to decide that the ends of justice would be fully satisfied if a fine of $50 were imposed, it is claimed, which was paid on the spot, and permission given Rising to again don his uniform, less than 36 hours after the sentence of three days' suspension was pronounced by Secretary Morse. It is said that a contribution was taken among the New Bedford officials to raise the money."

ON THE CREASE.

The Lowell Athletics are playing the strong South Lawrence team at Fordway park, North Billerica, this afternoon.

The Lowell Lawrence and District Soccer league opened its season this afternoon. The game was played at Methuen, where the Manchester L. B. met the last year's champion.

The Hunting team will open on Sept. 10 on its own grounds with the Methuen team as its opponents. The Huntlines will present the strongest lineup they have had in years, as they have secured in addition to the pick of last year's team, the services of Butler, Rowbottom, Brown and others who have been playing with out-of-town teams in past years.

The North Chelmsford cricket team is playing the Pitchburg cricket team on the home grounds this afternoon.

BOXING GOSSIP

MANCHESTER, N. H., Sept. 3.—Bill McKillop, the Rosedale, who clashes with Frank Mantel of Pawtucket, R. I., at the coliseum at Lake Massabesic, Monday afternoon for the middleweight championship of New England, arrived in this city last night. "The Boston boxer looked in perfect trim. Manager Woods met him and his brother at the station and immediately after the trip started in an automobile for Smith's farm, where McKillop will finish his training. The club man is confident that he will win. "I am in good shape," said the sturdy boxer who bowled Terry Martin's colors. "Since I fought here I have whip-

GEO. E. ROBERTS RETURNS TO BE DIRECTOR OF MINT

GEORGE E. ROBERTS

BEVERLY, Mass., Sept. 3.—George E. Roberts is to return to Washington as director of the mint, and A. Platt Andrews, who succeeded Mr. Roberts when the latter resigned from the place, he is now to resume, will remain in the treasury department as assistant secretary. This has been announced from the summer White House. Mr. Roberts resigned from the government service to become president of the Commercial National bank of Chicago, but since that time the institution has been merged with the Continental National bank, and Mr. Roberts has been engaged in private business pursuits. A. Platt Andrews left the mint directorship when C. D. Norton was made the president's secretary.

ped Jimmy Gardner and fought a hard draw with Andy Morris. If I whip this fellow I shall be matched with Frank Klaus and you can bet that I will win with that chance ahead of me."

ELMER COLLINS

BROKE THE WORLD'S MOTOR PAGED RECORD

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 3.—Elmer Collins of Lynn broke the world's motor paced record for five miles on a 90-gear wheel here last night, his time being 3:02 2-5. The time was made in the second heat of his match race with Kramer, whom he defeated easily, taking the first heat by two laps and the second by four.

Gouldt won the five mile open. Fred Hill the one mile invitation, and Williams the half mile handicap.

HARRY LEWIS

PUT UP A TAME BOUT AGAINST MANSFIELD

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—It was a tame exhibition that Harry Lewis, who claims the welterweight championship, and Harry Mansfield of England gave the crowd at the National Sporting Club of America here last night. On points the popular decision goes to Lewis.

Neither man was in danger of a knockout in any of the ten rounds. Lewis, the aggressor, landed on the body repeatedly, but did no serious damage. Mansfield relied almost solely on defensive tactics and the spectators at times booed their efforts.

YACHT RACES

FLEET OF MORE THAN FIFTY BOATS TOOK PART

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 3.—The greatest yachting event in the history of racing on Narragansett bay took place yesterday afternoon when a fleet of more than 50 boats got away in regatta arranged especially for the entertainment of the delegates to the Atlantic seaper waterways convention here. The races were held off the Rhode Island Yacht club, and a fleet of more than 500 boats lay at anchor gaily decked with code flags, while thousands of spectators lined the shores and the delegates watched from the decks of a chartered steamer.

The winners of the principal races were: W. L. Frost's Albatross, 11 miles; Carter's Yankee, Porter-Pearcy's Hugh and Vice Commodore Jenks's Clara.

WON GOLF TOURNAMENT

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—Charles Evans Jr., of the Riverdale golf club, of Chicago, yesterday relieved the honor of being the first amateur to win an open tournament in this country.

In the 36 hole final for the western open championship at the Beverly country club, he defeated George Simpson, the professional of the Lagrange country club of Chicago, 4 up and 5 to play. Three years ago Simpson won the amateur championship of Scotland, and the match yesterday was a triumph for the young American golfer, who is conceded to have a fine chance of winning the national amateur event at Boston.

FORMER CHAMPION DEFEATED

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 3.—F. M. Byers, former national golf champion, was defeated yesterday by the Pennsylvania state champion, at the Allegheny country club by George Orin, 1 up and 3 to play. The match was an exciting one, and the players were followed by a large gallery.

RACE TRACK NEWS

Fitz Herbert, S. C. Hildreth's great four year old by Hildreth, Morcan, will never race again. From a reliable source it was learned at Saratoga on Wednesday that the horse has bowed out of the question. Two weeks ago Hildreth sent Fitz Herbert out for an exercise gallop in the way of a test. The horse breezed half a mile and when he was examined in the paddock after the workout it was discovered that he was in a serious condition. Hildreth was ready to pay any price if the vets guaranteed a recovery, but he was informed that the horse's forelegs were in such condition that a cure was out of the question. It is understood that Hildreth was on the verge of selling Fitz Herbert to Louis Winans, the purchaser of Dalmatian, but when the horse broke down Mr. Winans was notified by cable that the deal was impossible. Fitz Herbert's last appearance under saddle was at Saratoga when he won the Brooklyn handicap. He came out at that event as sound as ever, but he did not go to the post again. Hildreth denied rumors later that the horse was ailing and to disprove the statements he sent Fitz Herbert to Fort Erie to run in the $10,000 Dominion handicap, which was called off after the horse arrived there with jockey shilling.

In spite of constant clamor for a meeting at Saratoga between Fitz Herbert and Olambala Hildreth withdrew the son of Ethelbert from all of his engagements, thereby creating the impression that he was afraid of defeat. But now it is said that Fitz Herbert's failure to start was due to weak underrunning, which finally resulted in a hopeless breakdown. If Fitz Herbert had remained sound in limb, it is said, Hildreth would have sold him to Mr. Winans for $50,000. As it is he will be retired to J. E. Madden's breeding farm.

PURSE OF $5000

Is Offered For Six Day Go-As-You-Please Race

Between the Four Veterans, Dan O'Leary, E. P. Weston, John Innes and Henry Schmehl With $1500 in Extra Prizes—O'Leary Thinks Match Will Materialize

Dan O'Leary is in high glee over the offer of a New England business man to give $5000 for a six days go-as-you-please or walking match between himself, Edward Payson Weston, Henry Schmehl of Chicago and John Innes of Stamford, Conn., all veteran pedestrians and all still in the game.

Mr. O'Leary states that the promoter of the race offers $5000, the money to be divided as follows: 1st prize, $2000; 2d, $1500; 3rd, $1000; 4th, $500, each man to go 300 miles before he is entitled to a prize. Furthermore the promoter offers $1000 additional to the man who will first complete 600 miles and another $1000 to the man who will beat Dan O'Leary's record of 520 1/2 miles made by him when he won the Astley belt in England in 1878. In this race Mr. O'Leary was the only American against a field of 20 Englishmen. He won the race by 20 miles. The promoter stipulates that the racers are to have no share of the gate receipts simply the purse, to assure that the race will be on the level and it is to be pulled off in either Boston, New York, Chicago or Cincinnati. Mr. O'Leary is red hot for the race and believes that the others will enter. Speaking of John Innes, Mr. O'Leary states that he is the best general athlete that ever walked a race. He is a swimmer and ice skater, and has a record as a life saver.

PERSONALS

Miss Elizabeth Maguire, Miss Alice Masterson of this city, Mr. and Mrs. George Moore of the Boston Dental parlors, and Miss Nellie Hogan of Lawrence have returned after a very pleasant two weeks' vacation spent at Rockport, Mass.

The local exchange of the Bright and Sears Co., in Wyman's exchange, will not open tomorrow owing to the day being a holiday on the exchanges in New York and Boston.

Dr. and Mrs. Hugh Walker and Mrs. E. P. McCosker left Thursday for a trip to Quebec and the Saguenay river. They will attend the Eucharistic congress in Montreal next week, and also visit Ottawa, returning to this city on Sept. 17.

Bernard Judge, the popular conductor on the Christian Hill-Pawtucketville line of the Boston & North-eastern, and Mrs. Judge are rejoicing over the arrival of a long-expected son at their home, 42 Humphrey street, this morning. "Barney" is passing around the cigars and in return is receiving congratulations.

A son arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Klemann, 383 Moody street today.

CHAS. M. DANIELS WOLGAST SCORED

"Human Fish" Urged to Compete Again

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Close friends of Charles M. Daniels, the world's greatest short distance champion, are urging him to reconsider his determination to quit and again enter competition. When "the human fish" announced his retirement a few weeks ago it was thought that the many records he had established would stand for many years, but such is not the case, however, and only recently several swimmers came very close to Daniels' mark and gave every indication of beating it later. Although Daniels has not openly said he would enter the field again, he has intimated to a few friends that he might change his mind. Daniels is the greatest short distance swimmer that ever lived. He has established more records than any other man that ever competed in aquatic events.

If you want help at home or in your business, try "The Sun" "Want" column.

blame his manager, Tom Jones, for the champion's long lay off, and others claim that Ad has become timid since he won from Nelson. Wolgast is the pugilistic surprise of the year. He beat the greatest lightweight of many moons. Experts thought he would make a great fortune in the next year or so, but the case is just the opposite, and he has about made doughnut money since his win. He has had offers galore, theatrical jobs offered him soft coin in New York, too, and he has taken advantage of none. He was offered $12,500 to bump Freddie Welsh in England, but that was dumped overboard, and now a fat purse is offered him to go with Paddy McFarland. Will he accept?

When Madden sold Novity to Hildreth last spring they both said the price was $5,000. Just before the Fairbury somebody asked Madden how much he received for the colt. "I got $10,000,"

BOARD OF CHARITY

Referred Feeble Minded Bill to Mayor and City Council

As a result of the city collector's opinion relative to the payment of that much talked of feeble-minded bill, the board of charities, at a meeting held last night, voted to refer it to the mayor and city council. The collector, in his opinion, stated that if the bill had been considered and provided for when the appropriation was made for the charity department for the year 1910 it should be paid by the charity department, and if it hadn't been properly provided for an appropriation should be made to meet it.

The feeble-minded bill, so called, was not considered in the estimate or appropriation for the charity department for 1910 and that being the case a special appropriation will have to be made. That is why the matter was referred to the mayor and city council.

The city collector's opinion was not quite satisfactory to the board. The opinion was published in The Sun yesterday. Dr. J. J. McCarthy, chairman, said that the city collector did not make full answer to the board's request for an opinion on the matter.

"I don't know where to go to get any proof or any evidence that there was a special amount appropriated for this special bill," said the chairman. "The city collector has overlooked or at least does not refer to the sections I referred to in my letter to him."

"In my letter I referred to the estimate for 1910; also the municipal register for 1909, page 60, section 4; ordinance for appropriation section 1, paragraphs 2, 3 and 4; section 3 and paragraph 3 of said section; page 43, section 8 of the charter, and any other laws or ordinances which may in any way refer to this question."

On motion of Mr. Howe the matter was referred to the mayor and city council. It was the opinion of the members of the board that the city collector's opinion meant that the committee on appropriations should make a special appropriation for the feeble-minded bill.

Chairman McCarthy called attention to a bill of $324.48 for unloading coal for the city farm. Mr. Howe allowed it would be a good plan to ask the railroad to run a spur track to the farm. He said it would save considerable money, and agreed to look up the facts.

FIGHT PICTURES

Chief Banks Bars Them in Dracut

Dracut will not have the Johnson-Jeffries fight pictures and some half dozen enthusiastic promoters are doomed to disappointment.

Up to a week or more ago the selectmen never dreamed that anyone had any idea of exhibiting the tabooed pictures within the limits of the town but suddenly some half dozen different promoters got after them for a permit using all kinds of arguments.

Two of the promoters at least were residents of the town, a couple more from Lowell and a couple more strangers. The stumbling block that they all ran into was Chairman Banks of the board of selectmen who is also chief of police and who issues the permits for the shows.

The selectmen met last evening in regular session and when the matter came up Chief Banks put the kibosh on the pictures in no uncertain language. "I wonder if they think that Dracut is a dumping place for the state?" said Chief Banks to a reporter of The Sun. "All of a sudden along comes a bunch of promoters to exhibit the Johnson-Jeffries fight pictures in this town. Every other city in the commonwealth has turned them down and probably as a last resort they come to Dracut and point out the fact that Manchester has allowed them. Manchester is in New Hampshire and this is Massachusetts. If the other places won't have the pictures, Dracut will not permit them."

FUNERALS

CAVANAGH—The funeral of Patrick Cavanagh took place this morning at 8.30 from his home, 148 Chapel street and proceeded to St. Peter's church where high mass of requiem was sung at 9 o'clock by Fr. Heffernan. The choir under the direction of James E. Donnelly rendered the Gregorian music and there were solos by Miss Whiteley and Mr. Donnelly. The bearers were Thomas Lafferty, James Carty, James Kelly, James Scully, James Magee and James Cassidy. Burial took place in the family lot in the Catholic cemetery where the committal prayers were read by Fr. Heffernan. Funeral Director John P. Rogers in charge.

The following delegation from Division 2, A. O. U. W. was present: Patrick Gallagher, Thomas J. Sheehan, Cornelius Sullivan and St. Peter's Holy Name society, John J. Watson, John Gargan, John H. Corcoran and John Hynes.

SAYERS—The funeral of Thomas J. Sayers took place this morning from his late home, 20 Gold street, at 8.15. High mass of requiem at St. Patrick's church at 9 o'clock. Rev. Joseph Curran officiated. The choir under the direction of Mr. Michael Johnson sang the Gregorian mass and as the body was being borne from the church the choir sang "De Profundis." Miss Alice Murphy and Mr. Andrew A. McCarthy sustained the solos. The bearers were John F. Fitzgerald, Frederick Hassett, Patrick Hammer, Eugene Malone, Joseph W. Wood and John O'Connor. In attendance at the funeral were Harry P. Sullivan, president of the B. & N. St. Ry.; Thomas Lees, superintendent of B. & N. St. Ry.; Hebbus E. Farrington, division superintendent of B. & N. St. Ry.; William A. Driscoll, claim agent of B. & N. St. Ry.; and John M. O'Donnoghue. The mortician and conductors, headed by Walter H. Hickey, started at 7.30. The body was in a body. Interment was in St. Patrick's cemetery. Rev. Fr. Curran read the committal prayers. Undertaker Peter H. Savage had charge.

Among the many beautiful floral tributes were: a large pillow inscribed "Father" from the family; basket from grandchildren; large cross from Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Sullivan; mammoth anchor on base, with inscription "Peregrine," from employees of Boston & Northern Track Dept.; mammoth gates of St. Anthony's church; wreath from Boston & Northern street railway workmen and conductors; standing wreath on base from Boston & Northern Car Repair Dept.; large wreath from Supt. Lees of the Boston & Northern St. Ry.; spray of 53 chrysanthemums from Mr. John O'Leary and family; sheaf of wheat from Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Simpson; spray of 53 chrysanthemums from Mr. and Mrs. Dunlap; wreath from Mrs. Mary Donovan and family; spray of flowers from Miss Anna C. O'Neil; spray of roses and carnations from Mrs. and Mrs. James J. McMahon.

Among the out of town people present at the funeral were Mrs. Albert Wallace of Lynn and Mrs. Patrick Simpson and her daughter Grace of Lawrence.

JAIL SENTENCE

For Men Who Violated the Terms of Probation

The greater portion of this morning's session of the police court was taken up in passing up cases of drunkenness, there being many offenders present.

Richard J. Murphy was under a suspended sentence of three months in jail and failure to abide by the probationary rules resulted in his being arrested. When he appeared in court this morning the case of his former sentence was revived and he was committed to jail for three months.

John O'Brien was released from jail yesterday morning, got drunk during the day and at night he was in Middlesex street soliciting money from passersby. When the case came on for judgment the court learned that John had been from Woodstock, N. H., where many of Lowell's undesirable come from, he was sentenced to the state farm.

Jeremiah Holland said he belonged in Lincoln, which is not very far from Woodstock and is also a lumber camp, but when he promises to shake the dust of Lowell from his feet it given a

FAVORS HAMLIN DEATH REPORT

Douglas Prefers Him to Foss or Vahey With Causes Assigned for the Past Week

BOSTON, Sept. 3.—Ex-Gov. William L. Douglas is greatly interested in the success of the democratic state ticket this fall for he believes there is an opportunity to defeat Gov. Draper. Mr. Douglas and his friends think it is time to agree upon a strong candidate whom all can support with enthusiasm.

The ex-governor feels that some one other than Congressman Eugene N. Foss or James H. Vahey should be nominated for the sake of harmony. His view is that Charles S. Hamlin is the most available candidate, and he is anxious to see the leaders unite on Mr. Hamlin.

Mr. Douglas has had one or two conferences with Mr. Hamlin, in which he has urged that he be a candidate. Mr. Hamlin, however, has not been willing to enter the fight as against Mr. Vahey or Mr. Foss.

So interested is the ex-governor in the situation that on Thursday he asked Chairman Macleod of the democratic state committee to call on him. Mr. Macleod went to Mr. Douglas's summer home and spent several hours in conference with him.

In view of the adoption of the policy of sending unpledged delegates to the democratic state convention, ex-Gov. Douglas holds that there never was a better opportunity to nominate a candidate for governor who would have the loyal support of the entire party and who would appeal to the independent voter. He is anxious to get an early understanding and the choice of Mr. Hamlin.

The ex-governor favors making the tariff and high prices the leading issue and he has collected a mass of data and drawn on his experience as a manufacturer for a lot of campaign material which will be used in the campaign. On party managers in the campaign. On account of the familiarity of Mr. Hamlin with the tariff question, Mr. Douglas holds that he would be a very consistent candidate for the democracy this year.

Friends of the ex-governor in various parts of the state have endorsed his views of what the party should do and as a result a movement in behalf of Mr. Hamlin is well under way.

BIG CELEBRATION

WAS OPENED AT HALIFAX, N. S. TODAY

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 3.—A trine celebration of ten days' duration and which is being participated in by prominent delegates of priests and laymen in the Anglican world was opened at Halifax this morning. The attendance includes two archbishops, hundreds of other clergy and many of the laity interested in church work. In recognition of the bi-centenary anniversary of the establishment of the Anglican church in Canada, the real occasion of the celebration, King George IV, the temporal head of the church of England, presented a magnificent bound copy of the book of common prayer to the church in this country. The book was brought from England by Right Rev. Arthur Foley Minghington-Ingram, lord bishop of London.

Today the new beautiful gothic cathedral of All Saints was dedicated with imposing ceremonies. The Holy Eucharist was first celebrated at 7 a. m. by the Right Rev. Clark Lamb Worsfold, D. D., lord bishop of Nova Scotia. At this service a beautifully carved altar given in memory of the late Right Rev. Herbert Binney, fourth bishop of the diocese and a credence table in memory of the late Very Rev. Dean Giffin, second dean of the diocese were dedicated. The formal opening service took place at 11 a. m. when Right Rev. Frederick Courtenay, D. D., D. C. L., rector of St. James church, New York and formerly bishop of Nova Scotia, was the preacher. At this service an elaborately carved oak pulpit in memory of Bishop Binney was dedicated. There was an immense procession of vested clergy from all parts of Canada and the United States and many from England. After the dedication of the cathedral a luncheon was held in Masonic hall, after which the visitors were entertained by the city in the public gardens.

THE STATE POLICE

Are Looking Up the Dunstable Fire Bugs

The Massachusetts state police were in Nashua Thursday, running down clues of the firebugs who burned the Congregational church in Dunstable.

It is supposed they took through the woods. It is understood that they questioned a party of young men in Nashua, who were at the time of the fire camping out at Island pond, about three miles from the scene of the conflagration.

The state police are doing all in their power to apprehend the perpetrators, as they run down every clue which they come across.

ALASKA CALLED EMPIRE
CORDOVA, Alaska, Sept. 3.—Atty. Gen. George W. Wickersham and Secretary of Commerce and Labor Charles Nagel sailed for Seattle yesterday on the government steamship Albatross on the last leg of a trip through Alaska that has occupied more than a month. The Albatross is due at Seattle Monday.

The government officers said they were unable to express their surprise at the wonderful things they have seen. "We come to see a little place called Alaska, but discovered an empire," said Atty. Gen. Wickersham. "I realize more and more the importance of opening the coal lands, and after we have a talk with the president he may have some recommendations that will result in straightening out the present tangle."

The great necessity of Alaska is railroad transportation, as upon it depends the adequate development of mines and agricultural lands.

"It is expected that this transportation cannot be furnished until the coal lands are opened, for cheap coal is required to operate a railroad. I am in hopes that something will be done in this matter this winter."

IMPORT TRADE
WAS A RECORD BREAKER THE PAST YEAR
WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Uncle Sam's import trade under the Payne-Aldrich tariff law during the past year was a record-breaker, according to the government's statistical agency. Under this law during the 12 months ending July 31 last, imports aggregating $1,562,690,000 came into the United States. Of this vast total $794,590,000 was listed as dutiable, while $768,090,000 entered free of duty. Although it was the first year of the Payne-Aldrich law it eclipsed all former records under the Dingley, Wilson and McKinley laws. Until the Payne-Aldrich law became effective Aug. 1, 1909, the banner year of the previous 18 years had been 1907, when under the Dingley act an aggregate of $1,456,000,000 of imports was recorded.

Custom receipts during the past year amounted to $327,900,000, which was more than seventeen million dollars in excess of the previous year under the Dingley act. The customs receipts during each of the 18 years preceding 1910 showed a much less encouraging record, except in 1904 and 1907, when the customs receipts exceeded last year's total. During the past year March showed larger customs receipts than any other month during that period with a total of $33,700,000.

THE FIFTH DISTRICT DEMOCRACY SHOULD WAKE UP

Just a few words with the democrats of the Fifth district. It would be utterly disgraceful to the democracy of the Fifth district if a vigorous fight be not made to elect a democratic congressman this fall and thus to strike a blow at the trust rule and tariff extortion that prevails under the protecting aegis of the republican party.

Some of our democrats may not realize the extent to which the present tariff bears down upon the toilers, taxing heavily the necessities of life and letting luxuries come in at a moderate rate. Of this we shall here cite but a few examples. Champagne, for example, is admitted at from 54 to 66 per cent, whilst wearing apparel is taxed from 80 to 92. The wealthy few must have their champagne at a moderate price but the masses must pay 92 per cent. on clothing.

Another example of discrimination against the poor is found in the duty on hats. Those hats bringing not over $4.50 a dozen are taxed 77 per cent, while those valued at $18 a dozen are taxed only 47 per cent., a difference of 30 per cent. in favor of those who can afford the more expensive style. The cheaper hats are worn by the toilers, the more expensive by the wealthy few.

The imposts in the woolen schedule are so high as to bar foreign competition altogether except on very high priced goods purchased only by the wealthy consumer to whom the matter of price is a secondary consideration. In this case also the poor people feel the discrimination.

It was formerly held that the importer pays the tariff, and so he does, but he adds it to the price of the imported products, and thus the American consumer is compelled to pay it back. The case is even worse when a trust on finding a prohibition tariff in force puts up the price to the line where foreign competition begins. This is little short of public plunder. It is this that enables the trusts to sell their products in Europe and Asia at prices 25 per cent. lower than to the American consumer.

This is what the voters of the Fifth district are getting under republican rule.

Are they going to submit to this deliberate extortion without a struggle? Will they allow themselves to be sold out or betrayed by supposed democrats? This is a time when the people should fight their own battle. If they don't they will have to bear their present burdens or one even worse for years to come.

Let the old Fighting Fifth do its full duty by nominating a strong candidate for congress and then going in to elect him.

THE SPECIAL EDITIONS OF FAKE PAPERS

The Springfield Union has a few words to say in reference to the fake New York newspapers that send out the "seventh" and "eighth" evening edition all printed in the early morning. The Union has reference particularly to the editions that reached Springfield on the day Mayor Gaynor was shot. They blazoned in large letters the news of the early morning, but had not a single word of the general news of the day, and were silent as claims on the great event of the attempted assassination of Mayor Gaynor.

The Union is right when it says that the so-called "seventh" edition of those so-called evening papers, is printed about seven o'clock in the morning, and the "eighth" evening edition, about an hour later, otherwise it would be an impossibility to get them into New England for sale during the noon hour, or in the early afternoon.

Here in Lowell we had an illustration of this same method of imposing upon the public when a Wednesday morning special edition appeared purporting to give a full account of the big Liberatorian parade. As a matter of fact the paper had nothing definite about the day's proceedings, with the exception of a few pictures, and even these were misleading and inaccurate. This is what the people may expect when they buy early editions of sensational papers purporting to give the news of the day.

The Sun can get all the important news of the civilized world up to the moment of going to press, and it can put an edition on the street as fast as any paper in the United States. It might, therefore, be supposed that when the fake sheets appear on the street even the unintelligent reader would understand that the very best that can be expected of them is to be five or six hours behind The Sun in the live news of the day. Unfortunately many do not seem to see the difference, but it must be said that they are the people who buy a paper for funny pictures rather than the live news of the world.

LABOR DAY OUTLOOK

Labor day this year finds comparatively few conflicts between capital and labor. Of course there is widespread discontent and unrest owing to the high cost of living and the fact that wages have not advanced in the same proportion as did the prices of commodities.

In spite of this, however, the labor forces are showing a good deal of conservatism. They are wisely avoiding, wherever possible, the expensive luxury of declaring strikes. It has often happened that strikes have been declared in this city for the most trifling causes, notwithstanding that they involved the only means of support for thousands of people. These strikes injured not only the operatives but the factories in which they occurred, and today some of our local factories are suffering from reverses that had their origin in lost markets caused by strikes that a little tact and diplomacy might have averted. The effort of one side to force the other into submission is what has ruined many a mill and broken up many a labor union. If the spirit of mutual resistance be supplanted by that of mutual concession and compromise, there will be fewer strikes and a better feeling will exist between employers and their help.

Had Restelli or Capsalis committed their crimes in Lowell they would now be behind prison bars like the crooks who came in to do this town a few days ago.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

The 100th anniversary of the independence of Chili is to be celebrated in London September 20 by an elaborate banquet. Lord Alenham, one of London's "merchant princes," has been chosen to preside at the banquet. He is a member of the firm of Anthony, Gibbs & Co., which has been engaged in the South American trade for 100 years or more.

The new chairman of the Democratic executive committee of Texas is Colonel Sheb Williams of Paris. Colonel Williams is a farmer and business man, and his election to head the state committee has brought to light the fact that it is the first time in the history of that body that its chairman has been chosen from outside the legal profession.

The editor of the Courier met Joel Little Bird one day last week and he handed up a dollar on subscription, says the Colony. Oklahoma's Courier, Joel had stayed at home and tended his crops this season while nearly all the other Indians in the district were chasing around over the country, visiting, dancing and idling away their time. He has made a fair crop of corn and some oats. He has three acres of kaffir corn that his neighbors estimate will yield 50 bushels to the acre. He has raised some potatoes and other things to eat and has no reason to worry about horse feed or what he will live on this winter, which is better than putting in the summer painting his face and wearing feathers and then being on the verge of starvation all winter. Joel is a real Anishinabe Indian farmer and one of the best, besides he is a good citizen.

Mrs. Mary Powell of Philadelphia, aged 76, walked from Manitow to the top of Pike's Peak and back the other day. She did not make record time. She made a leisurely trip to the summit before dark and returned by moonlight.

Through a cablegram received from Paris has become known that Mrs. Maria Stoll of Philadelphia has done some record mountaineering in the Tyrolean Alps. The message said that Mrs. Stoll had been to the top of Mount Winklerturn, and that she is the only woman in the world to have accomplished this feat. Li. Leon Stoll, husband of Mrs. Stoll, is an engineer with the Philadelphia Electric company. He did not know that his wife had established a record for mountain climbing until the cablegram was read to him, says a Philadelphia newspaper. He had received a letter from his wife that said she had been to the top of the "Retelwurf," a peak of the Alps, 8,800 feet, or a mile and a half above sea level.

Mrs. Stoll is about twenty-nine years old, and she has been abroad for two years studying art in the "Kunstgewerbeschule," or the School of Applied and Industrial Art in Munich. She intends to return to this country in November. Although she had climbed mountains when she was in Europe on two previous occasions, she did not bring in the hazardous undertaking in order to establish a record of any kind. She and her husband had often trodden through dangerous and obscure places while they were on vacations, and Mrs. Stoll always said that she tried to reach the top of mountain peaks just for pastime.

In the early part of July Mrs. Stoll ascended the Retelwurf and other high peaks in the "Karwendel." When she wrote to her husband she said she intended to go through the "Zillertal," "Pfundertal," "Brixental," "Groebertal," and other peaks that have been traversed more or less frequently by men tourists. It is believed that Mrs. Stoll started for Mount Winklerturn from the Hotel Chalkenstein in Austria. Her husband is awaiting another letter, for he thinks that she will tell him all about her recent ascent of Winklerturn.

According to the dispatch received from Paris, the feat of Mrs. Stoll has created widespread comment among tourists and natives in the Tyrol. It is believed that she asked her life in order to perform the task, for many peaks that she had reached are considered almost inaccessible even to guides. Mrs. Stoll was Miss Marlen Buck of Waterbury, Conn. She met her husband while studying art at the Durer Institute, and while Mr. Stoll was studying electrical engineering there.

The story is going around that the New York policemen who have been on duty around where the woman surfaced.

CHILDREN'S HAIR

Proper Treatment of the Scalp in Childhood.

Much harm results from washing a child's head with the usual soaps and shampoos, as most of them contain too much alkali. This makes the scalp rough and dry, and often leads to a diseased condition which causes the hair to fall out as the child becomes older. Mothers are strongly advised to use Burt's Head Wash, the new anti-septic shampoo that is made of refined neutral soap (containing no free alkali), white of eggs, coconut oil, glycerine and salicylic acid. It removes every particle of dirt, all disease germs and leaves the scalp soft and pink, and the hair vigorous and glossy. A child whose head is kept clean with Burt's Head Wash will never have dandruff, and the hair will be kept in such a healthy condition that the hair will not fall out as the years pass. 25c, 50c.

fragments have been holding their open-air meeting this summer have been most chivalrous, and if they do not yet believe in woman suffrage, they are in a fair way to become converted. These guardians of the law have taken a fatherly interest in the speakers. On one occasion, when the evening air and the roar of Broadway began to tell on feminine vocal cords, and there was an ominous crack in the speaker's voice, some one touched her arm, and she turned to find a policeman at her side offering a glass of soda water. Once a stalwart member of the force even offered to carry back the orator's soap box to the corner grocery from which it had been borrowed, but, needless to say, the women in charge of the meeting refused to allow such a sacrifice of official dignity. At another meeting a policeman gave what is considered the final proof of devotion to the cause. In response to the contemptuous inquiry of a bystander, "How would you like to have women judges?" a blue-coated champion responded: "I'd just as soon have women judges as men. I think a woman judge would be great."

At the age of 125—so she says—Frau Dukievitz of Posen, Prussian Poland, has a rival for the distinction she claimed of being the oldest woman in the world. Frau Dukievitz says she was born on Feb. 21, 1785. Now comes a story from Bulgaria of a peasant woman still living who declares she was born in May, 1784, nine months before the Polish date, and her family hold that she is the oldest woman alive today.

U. S. FOREIGN TRADE

Comparative 1909 and 1910 figures of the trade of the United States with the principal grand divisions and countries of the world for the month of July and the 7-month period ending July have just been completed by the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor. While both the total imports and exports for the month were about 3 million dollars larger than during July of last year, the monthly imports from and exports to Europe show some decreases. The trade from North and South America, Asia and Oceania shows satisfactory increases both on the import and export side.

For the 7-month period ending July considerable gains over last year's figures are shown by the imports from the principal countries except France, Italy, British India, Japan and particularly Brazil. The decline in imports from Brazil is due to the smaller receipts, during the present year, of Brazilian coffee, which were particularly heavy during the early part of 1909. The large gain in the imports from Cuba during the 7-month period of the present year is primarily to the larger receipts of higher-priced sugar from that island. Exports during the 7-month period to the leading Asiatic and European countries, except Germany and Russia, were smaller than a year ago, but those to leading American countries made considerable gains. The decrease of exports to Europe is accounted for mainly by the smaller quantity and value of foodstuffs shipped to those countries, and the decline of exports to China is due chiefly to the reduced exports of cotton cloth to that country. Our total exports to Japan, notwithstanding the increases under many heads, show a slight decline for the period under consideration, because of the large decrease in the Japanese takings of our raw cotton. The value of our exports to Canada during the 7 months of the present year was more than 40 per cent. larger than during the corresponding period of 1909.

MRS. J. R. DREXEL Cancels Dance to Please Chauffeurs

NEWPORT, Sept. 2.—Because the chauffeurs of this summer resort had arranged for their annual ball on Sept. 1 Mrs. J. R. Drexel canceled her big dance and reception scheduled for that night. Mrs. Drexel learned of the plans of the chauffeurs she decided that the drivers of the autos were entitled to dance as much as her invited guests and graciously abandoned the affair for the time being.

AUTO DRIVERS

To be Shut Out of Revere

REVERE, Sept. 3.—An innocent looking vote, passed by the Revere selectmen at their last meeting, is in reality a joker that will result in entirely preventing automobile traffic through Revere beach Saturday, Sunday and Monday between the hours of 3 and 10 p. m. As a count kept by the officials has shown that over 400 automobiles sometimes pass along the beach drive in an hour on busy Sunday or holiday, the inconvenience to motorists along the north shore will be considerable after Labor day.

The metropolitan park commissioners have for several years shut off motor travel on the beach front from Elliot circle to Revere street Saturdays, Sundays and holidays from 3 till 10 p. m. This has caused automobile traffic to pass through Ocean avenue, a narrow street parallel with the boulevard. The resulting congestion has caused considerable anxiety to the town officials who are responsible for the public safety on Ocean avenue.

Several weeks ago the selectmen passed an order closing Ocean avenue to motor vehicles the same hours as the boulevard is closed to them. This order, however, could not become effective until after a hearing and approval by the state highway commissioners. The hearing was held, but up to date the highway commissioners have announced no decision.

Last Sunday afternoon the crush of autos on Ocean avenue caused an accident in which a little boy was run over and his arm broken by an automobile. Saturday, Sunday and Labor day will be three consecutive days during which the automobile restrictions will be in force on the boulevard, and past statistics has shown that these are often

MARRIED AGAIN

THREE HOURS AFTER HE BURIED THIRD WIFE

NORWICH, Conn., Sept. 3.—Oliver H. Rudd, a well-to-do farmer of Preston City, four miles from here, created a sensation Thursday by taking a fourth wife three hours after burying his third in the Yantic cemetery in this city.

Wife No. 3 was an inmate of the Norwich hospital for the insane and died there Tuesday. The funeral services were conducted at a local undertaker's rooms at 130 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Rev. C. A. Northrop of this city officiating.

Mr. Rudd was driven from the cemetery directly to Town Clerk Shedd's office in Preston City, where he procured a marriage license and was married by Rev. N. D. Prindle of the Preston City Baptist church to Mrs. Jennie Johnson of Natick. The minister declared at marrying Mr. Rudd under the circumstances, but when informed by the newly-made widower that he was resolved to marry at all events, he reluctantly consented to perform the ceremony.

Mr. Rudd is 75 years old and his bride 55. His deceased wife was 80, her marriage to him taking place six years ago. The groom is a civil war veteran and draws a pension from the government.

WONDERFUL CURE OF SORE HANDS

Skin Peeled and Flesh Got Hard and Broke—Blood Flowed in Fifty Places—"Single Box of Cuticura Ended Suffering."

About eleven years ago I was troubled with sore hands, so sore that when I would put them in water the pain would very nearly set me crazy, the skin would peel off and the flesh would get hard and break. There would be blood flowing from at least fifty places on each hand. Words could never tell the suffering I endured for three years. I tried everything that I was told to use for fully three years, but could get no relief. I tried at least eight different doctors, but none of them seemed to do me any good, as my hands were as bad when I got through doctoring as when I first began. I also tried many remedies, but none of them ever did me one cent's worth of good. I was discouraged and heart sore. I would feel so bad mornings when I got up, to think I had to go to work and stand the pain for ten hours, and I often felt like giving up my position.

Before I started to work mornings I would have to wrap every finger up separately, so as to try and keep them soft and then wear gloves over the rags to keep the grease from getting on my work. At night I would have to wear gloves in bed. In fact, I had to wear gloves all the time. After doctoring for three years, and spending much money, a single box of Cuticura Ointment ended all my sufferings. It's been eight years since I used any and I don't know what sore hands are now, and never lost a day's work while using Cuticura Ointment.

JOSEPH A. HOLMES

DR. HARVEY CRIPPEN AND MISS LE NEVE TO FACE COURT FROM STANCH IRON DOCK

Made Director of the New Bureau of Mines

BEVERLY, Sept. 2.—President Taft last night announced the appointment of Joseph Austin Holmes as director of the new bureau of mines at Washington.

Dr. Holmes had been selected for the place some time ago, but his appointment was held up, it is understood here, on the ground that Secretary Ballinger, in whose department the new bureau was placed was opposed to him.

Dr. Holmes is the intimate personal friend of Gifford Pinchot, James R. Garfield and P. H. Newell, director of the reclamation service, all three of whom sharply criticized Mr. Ballinger on the witness stand of the Ballinger-Pinchot inquiry.

It was reported here that Secretary Ballinger felt Dr. Holmes might have had a hand in what he termed the "conspiracy" against him. Friends of Dr. Holmes, while admitting the latter's close association and friendship with Messrs. Pinchot, Garfield and Newell, declared nevertheless that he had taken no active part in the campaign against Mr. Ballinger.

The endorsement of Dr. Holmes for the place was almost unanimous. It came from the mine operators and the miners' organizations alike. The purpose of the new bureau is to investigate and report upon safety appliances to prevent the awful waste of life annually. The bureau will also make an investigation looking to the improvement of methods of mining.

Dr. Holmes is a native of South Carolina. For 10 years he was professor of geology and natural history at the University of North Carolina and from 1891 to 1904 was state geologist of North Carolina.

A staff of engineers and experts will be transferred with Dr. Holmes from the geological survey to the bureau of mines. George Otis Smith, director of the geological survey, has been acting as director of the bureau pending permanent appointment by the president.

Civil Service Extension

President Taft is contemplating and probably will issue soon after his return to Washington from Beverly, an executive order putting all assistant postmasters and the permanent clerks at money order postoffices under the civil service. Postmaster General Hitchcock recommended this step to the president some time ago and he has been considering it. Yesterday the president talked the matter over with R. H. Dana, president of the national civil service reform league. Mr. Taft will take the question up with his cabinet the latter part of this month and finally dispose of it. Mr. Hitchcock thinks the order will work a great improvement in the postal service.

President Taft has a long list of matters to take up with his cabinet advisors. He will reach Washington Sept.

21, for a ten days' stay and the cabinet will be in practically continuous session Sept. 26, 27 and 28. All the members of the cabinet, whose families are still out of town, will be the president's guests at a "stag" party at the White House.

Supreme Court Vacancies

One of the principal subjects to be discussed will be the forthcoming appointments to the United States Supreme court. Mr. Taft will have to fill the vacancies created by the death of Chief Justice Fuller and the prospective retirement of Associate Justice Moody. It seems pretty well settled that Gov. Hughes of New York, who already has been confirmed as an associate justice, will be designated as chief justice. This will leave two associate justices to be appointed.

The president stated again yesterday that it was not his purpose to call an extraordinary session of the senate to confirm the appointments. They will wait until the regular session of congress begins.

Mr. Taft has stated in several speeches that he holds the supreme court to be one of the most sacred things of this government and the appointment of men to that bench as one of the most sacred duties of the president. He has stated also that he does not want to suggest that he is hurrying the court in its deliberations by calling an extra session. He also desires plenty of time to consider the various available candidates and to listen to all suggestions coming from responsible sources.

No Campaign Speeches

President Taft also will take up with his cabinet in Washington the final plans for putting the postal savings banks in operation. He will discuss the estimates for the coming fiscal year with the heads of the various departments and try to hold them down wherever possible. The economy plans for conducting the various departments and the best means of using the $100,000 appropriation for the improvement of business methods also will be discussed.

There is little or no chance that President Taft will make any speeches during the coming campaign. He has declared that his letter to Chairman McKinley of the republican congressional committee accurately states all that he has to say of the issues. The president will speak before the National league of republican clubs at New York, Sept. 30, along general lines.

Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the army, talked with the president for several hours yesterday regarding estimates for the army. Oddly enough, Lieut. Gen. Nelson A. Miles, formerly commanding general of the army, also called on the president yesterday afternoon. Gen. Miles is visiting friends at Swampscott and his visit was purely social.

Foster V. Brown of Tennessee, attorney general of Porto Rico, took up several matters affecting that island with the president. He also discussed the political situation in Tennessee. Ex-Gov. John L. Bates of Massachusetts paid a call of respect on the president.

EXTERIOR BOW STREET COURT

PRISONER'S DOCK AND COURT DESKS

LONDON, Sept. 3.—When Dr. Crispin and Miss Ethel Le Neve are brought to trial in the Bow street magistrate's court they will be subjected to the same treatment that is given all offenders in London. Instead of the comfortable seat, as in the case in the United States courts, the two accused will be compelled to stand within a narrow wooden seat or shelf upon which the pair may rest at intervals while arguments or motions are being made.

The dock on which all previous efforts at a settlement split was the closed shop. That dock is avoided by the adoption of the "preferential union shop" idea, for which Louis D. Brandeis, of Boston, counsel for Glavis in the Pinchot-Ballinger hearing, is given full credit.

STRIKE IS ENDED

70,000 Garment Workers Will Return to Their Work

NEW YORK, September 3.—The cloakmakers' strike, one of the greatest industrial disturbances in the history of American labor, was settled last night. Seventy thousand garment workers, who have been idle for nine weeks, will shortly return to work. Ten thousand of them and those dependent upon them—50,000 souls in all—were on the point of eviction and hundreds of them had already been forced into the streets. The industrial loss to employers and employees has run high into the millions. In loss of wages alone the total has been estimated at more than $10,000,000, while the loss to manufacturers, jobbers and retailers, the country over, has been computed at ten times that amount.

Julius Henry Cohen, counsel for the manufacturers' association, describes the agreement signed by him and representatives of the strikers in this sentence:

"No principle has been surrendered by the manufacturers, yet, the union may truly claim that they have won a great victory for their people." One feature of the settlement, important not only to the strikers, but to the nation at large, is the abolition of all contract work at home. Hereafter garments made in New York will be manufactured under sanitary conditions. There will be no more sweat shops.

The rock on which all previous efforts at a settlement split was the closed shop. That dock is avoided by the adoption of the "preferential union shop" idea, for which Louis D. Brandeis, of Boston, counsel for Glavis in the Pinchot-Ballinger hearing, is given full credit.

In the articles of agreement, the idea is thus described: "Each member of the manufacturers is to maintain a union shop; a union shop being understood to refer to a shop where union standards as to working conditions, hours of labor and rates of wages prevail, and where, when hiring help, union men are preferred; it being recognized that, since there are differences of degrees of skill, between the union man and another, and shall not be confined to any list, nor bound to follow any prescribed order whatever."

Other articles provide for:

(1) Free electric power.
(2) No work at home.
(3) Discipline of any manufacturer proved guilty of discrimination of his employees.
(4) Six work days a week and a cash weekly pay day.
(5) All sub-contracting within shops abolished.

(6) Nine hours work a day; five days a week, and five hours the sixth day.
(7)—The price of piece work to be agreed upon by a committee of employees and their employers.
(8)—Double pay for overtime.

Mr. Cohen concludes his statement with the following declaration, remarkable for one in his position: "Trades unions are not only necessary, but must be guided and strengthened. I shall urge all my clients to use every legitimate means to that end and each present employee in their shops to join the union. You must help by urging your people to be peaceable and quiet in returning to their work and in meeting those who are now union men."

The settlement of the strike averts a crisis on the crowded East Side. With thousands out of work and unable to pay rent, the courts were literally swamped with eviction proceedings and there arose the prospect of thousands of mothers and children being rendered shelterless. Many were evicted yesterday, but it is believed that landlords, apprised of the adjustment will now grant several days of grace.

SHOE WORKERS CHAS. HAMLIN

Have Voted to Return to Work
Denounces the Payne-Aldrich Tariff Act

SALEM, Sept. 3.—By votes passed at the meetings of the United Shoe Workers and the Knights of Labor, cutters last night the striking shoe workers will on Tuesday next return to work in three of the large factories of the city, those of F. J. Brown & Sons, E. S. Woodbury & Co. and O. F. Fields. In each of these cases, the manufacturers have either signed or signified their willingness to sign, agreements which practically mean the recognition of the union for which the strikers fought. Terms have not yet been reached with the L. G. Straw & Dunham company, where the strike originated, and Hoppins & Sons, and unless they are reached before Tuesday the men in those shops will not return to work at that time. Nearly 500 men were concerned in the strike. At this number, 350 by the vote last night will resume work next week. Seventeen hundred other employees who were obliged to lay off because of the strike will also return next week.

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 3.—Declaring that the Payne-Aldrich tariff act was the greatest outrage ever perpetrated on the public mind and betrayed the trust of the people, Charles S. Hamlin, of Boston, made a fiery address before a large assemblage of democrats here last evening. He declared that President Taft's speech at Winona was a fruitless effort of the fact into tariff propositions and "foolery."

In addition to Mr. Hamlin's addresses were made by George F. Haley of Saco, and W. M. Pennell, a congressional candidate. Mr. Pennell spoke of the evils of high protection as it sees them in the decay of shipping and loss of trade in Portland. All of the speakers declared for reciprocity with Canada.

GOV. HARMON WANTS GRAND JURY TO PROBE STREET CAR STRIKE

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 3.—Governor Harmon yesterday called upon Attorney General Denman to take up a grand jury investigation of the Newark lynching.

Governor Harmon also issued a statement in which he declined to call on the Columbus railway and light company, to arbitrate the strike, as requested by state labor leaders. The governor gave a proclamation in which he urged the people of the state to attend the state fair next week, assuring them of "perfect safety."

ATTACKS GIRLS MANIAC CLUBS ONE TO INSENSIBILITY WITH REVOLVER

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., Sept. 3.—The entire police force of this city and of neighboring villages is hunting a maniac who, without reason, attacked two girls in a field near here yesterday afternoon, beat one of them into insensibility by the butt of his revolver, placed the muzzle to the breast of the other and then, suddenly changing his mind, fled. The man said he was a New York detective.

The two girls were Lillian Sherman, 11 years old, and Lydia Fitzgerald, 20. Miss Sherman's condition is critical.

A WILD CHASE

For Man Supposed to be Capsalis

KENNERBUNK, Me., Sept. 3.—There was an exciting chase and capture in the western part of the town early yesterday morning. Fred J. Wicher, deputy sheriff, received word that Nicholas Capsalis, the Somersworth murderer suspect, would pass through here on a freight train. Wicher waited for his man, but could not get another officer to stay with him.

When the train arrived he arrested one tramp and giving him to the night operator at the station, started for a second man. He chased him about the streets and, firing shots, made the citizens think the town was in the hands of desperadoes. The man escaped after all, though a posse of officers from Hildford got on his trail a little later, and yesterday morning he was arraigned for evading a fare.

CAPSALIS BLAMED

SACO, Me., Sept. 3.—City Marshal Harry W. Reilly received a telephone message from Deputy Sheriff Albert R. Pennell of Bar Mills yesterday morning that a man thought to be Nicholas Capsalis, accused of murder in Somersworth, N. H., had held up two woodsmen at the point of a dark knife in the woods, taken their rig from them and driven away.

Later the horse and carriage were found several miles away, where it had been abandoned by the horse-looking foragee. The description of the horse fitted closely with that of Capsalis' light horse, about five miles from the woods in North Saco where it has been suspected the trick has been played for a week.

According to the story told to Marshall Reilly, two men were getting out of the woods near Mills when they saw a man creeping toward their rig, which was standing in a woods road a short distance away.

They shouted to him as he jumped into the carriage, whereupon he threatened to kill them if they did not keep away. He then drove away at a fast pace. The men hurried to the house of Henry Pennell and told their story. He notified the State officers and then started in search of the man who had stolen the outfit.

While he found it abandoned several miles from where it was taken, he was not able to discover any trace of the man.

COINAGE OF GOLD

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Coinage of gold by the United States will be suspended for an indefinite period, it plans now forming in the treasury department are adopted. The idea is to issue gold certificates for all gold bullion and foreign coin turned into the mints, instead of coining them into eagles and double eagles.

BOSTON CAPITAL

IN CONTROL OF THE GLOUCESTER GAS COMPANY

GLOUCESTER, Sept. 3.—At a meeting Thursday afternoon of six of the majority of the stockholders of the Gloucester Gas Light company, including the United estate holdings of Boston, the directors of the Gloucester Gas Light company, Inc., were voted to sell a controlling interest in the stock to the Massachusetts Lighting company of Boston.

Negotiations to this end have been in progress for the past month. Yesterday the final papers in the transaction were passed in Boston. The matter has been very secretly conducted so much so that many of the local holders of stock were entirely unaware of what has been going on.

Quite a bunch of the stock is held here, but the bulk of stockholder is reported to be a Boston man. Mrs. Fred L. Davis, wife of a prominent business man, owns a stock, and it is known nothing whatever of the projected change. The explanation here is that the Boston stockholders who are in a majority have placed their block on the market at what price local holders do not know.

The Gloucester Gas company stock is considered the gift of local corporation stock of Gloucester. Its stock, issued in 1881, when it was first organized, is now held in a number of hands, but the majority is in the hands of a few.

It is understood that for the past year efforts have been quietly made to secure what could be had of this stock. The management plan is on record by order. The price for a 10 per cent block was placed with a 10 per cent discount for prompt monthly payment.

HAIR IN SUMMER

IN summer, when one is living much in the open, the hair is apt to fall out more readily than at any other season of the year. Dust is the cause of most of this tribulation, for the dust of the present day is not the harmless dust of old time roads. It is laden with filth and oil from roads traveled by hundreds of automobiles and comes in thick clouds instead of thin, as from a carriage. I refer particularly to the woman who lives an outdoor life and particularly she who motors during the summer and early fall months. In order to see just how much dust can accumulate in the hair in a day of automobiling take a perfectly clean brush and after a few strokes rub the brush well with a Turkish towel. Each place where the fingers hold the towel will be defined with black smudges, and by the time the head has been entirely brushed the towel will be streaked with grime from end to end. The harm to the hair with this sticky dust forming a veritable paste at the roots can be imagined.

Daily brushings are not enough to combat the dust. There should be a shampoo given every ten days with soft water and pure soap. When the hair is perfectly dry a good tonic should be rubbed into the scalp, one without any greasy properties, for that would mean a foundation for the next batch of dust to adhere to. After the tonic is on the hair should again dry out entirely, a sun bath being given if possible.

Blond hair has to be washed more frequently than dark hair for the sake of its color, as it soils as easily as chiffon with dust and grit. To its beauty the smoke and cinders of a trip by train are fatal, and a shampoo should be given as soon as possible at the end of the journey. Dark hair, as it does not show the effects of travel stain as easily, stands in far greater danger of injury, and the harm done when the accumulation of grime is not noticed is incalculable.

Too much sun is bad for hair of any color. It not only dries out all the natural oil, but bleaches and coarsens fair hair to an effect of old rope or straw and gives a curious rusty appearance to dark hair.

Salt water has the same effect, besides often rotting the roots of the hair, this last calamity occurring when the hair is dried in the sun on the beach. If the hair when bathing gets wet and is dried before returning to the house it should as soon as possible be washed out in fresh water. A tonic should be rubbed into the roots, and the drying should be done with a fan and rubbing by hand. The scalp, too, should be thoroughly massaged and the hair brushed well when dry. This starts a good circulation, which is very necessary for healthy hair.

DAPHNE DEAN.

A FAT REDUCER.

Before starting to starve or drug off your extra layers of fat try the effect of this simple exercise, which is a mighty reducer of "too, too solid flesh."

Standing with knees close together, rise on the tips of the toes and at the same time elevate the chest and force down the palms of the hands as if pushing hard on a board. Bend the hands up slightly so the muscular strain comes on the fleshy part of the hand close to the wrist.

Do this exercise whenever you happen to think of it during the day and you will soon notice a decided difference in your flesh, particularly in a prominent abdomen.

USEFUL BITS OF VELVET.

No bought powder puff or chamade skin can be better for puffing powder upon the skin than a bit of velvet. It feels good, costs nothing, can be thrown away when soiled even in the least and is satisfactory in every way. A piece of black velvet also makes an excellent penwiper.

ADVANCE GUARDS OF FASHION

Lady Duff Gordon's "Mummy" Dress—Hats That Injure the Hair

THERE'S not much sartorial hope for the short, stout woman," moaned a sister so proportioned recently to her dressmaker. "Will there be any chance this fall of modes being more kindly toward her?" continued the same anxious questioner.

To be perfectly fair, the short, stout woman has a good case against the present fashions, for one would really suppose that those who are responsible for the styles now in vogue labored under the hallucination that the majority of women were tall and slender. Take, for example, the frock with the deep hem, the tunic with a wide decorative band at the bottom or the tailored suit with horizontal stripes finishing the lower edge of both coat and skirt. Now, what could be more effectual in taking from the height than these two effects? And there are many more that could be added if statistics were our object. But let it go. You remember Mark Twain says that "statistics are only watered stock."

To come back to our subject, the sorrows of the fashionable short, stout woman, it is only fair to say that the effect of the garments instanced have been modified by the narrowness of the skirts, and to the woman who is not broad in proportion to her height they have been harmless, but they have been the despair of short, stout femininity. But let us trust that the day of the deep skirt hem has passed, and there is every reason to believe that the winter styles will banish it completely. But there will be modish cloth suits having skirts trimmed with bands of fur, and fashions will vary as to the width of this band. Every sensible woman will use the width that is most becoming to her figure.

SALT ON CANDLES.

If the wicks of candles are salted before lighting there will be no spitting or dripping. Take fine table salt between the fingers and rub well into the wick. You will be surprised at the clear light.

The woes of the short woman, too, be she stout or thin, have really only begun when she attempts to buy a ready made suit, for everything seems designed for her taller sisters, and she will have to choose a model that can be altered without spoiling the lines. Here is a hint that is worth while recalling when buying ready made suits: The simpler garments with vertical lines are the ones that can be most easily adapted to the needs of the short woman. The checked gown illustrated is an example of a model that is best avoided by the short woman.

Lady Duff Gordon, the "Lucille" of London, is, as every one knows, the fitted Englishwoman who has opened a smart dressmaking establishment in New York city. This artist composes frocks. It was from Lady Duff-Gordon's imaginative brain that there emanated the dream dress and the emotional gown, but her latest creation is the "mummy" dress. This inspiration comes from Japan, where, she says, "the dress of the women clings to the natural lines of the figure. These garments have endured for 2,000 years because their lines were right."

Working on this principle, the celebrated Lucille delivered into the dresses of the Assyrians and Babylonians. Recently Lady Gordon showed a model wearing such a gown. The dress clings gracefully to the figure, says a woman who has seen the creation, showing the lines, but yet swathing the form almost as do a mummy's wrappings. The coat and skirt are combined. Once the coat and skirt are removed there remains a garment for indoors that is artistic. "For the house," said Lady Gordon, "I am going to make gowns which would not have been out of place in an ancient Assyrian temple. I am going to make gowns which will be the very essence of womanhood. They will be so very subtle, so tender, that they will instinctively appeal to man's sense of protection."

Go ahead, Lady Duff, but will the men notice the difference when their best girls are arrayed in these appealing frocks? Listen to the experience of a woman who asked two men how they liked her gowns. The man who was in love with her said, as she might have known he would, "You are adorable in everything." That would have been all right, but he was fool enough to add: "I never notice your clothes. I only look at you." Quite infuriating to any woman! So she left him abruptly and, taking her courage in her hands, asked the opinion of a man who she knew disliked her. He looked her up and down and in a very polite voice said very rudely: "In what do I like you best? But, you know, my dear madam, I don't like you at all." Perhaps it served her right. What do you think? So much for the masculine viewpoint anyway.

Now what about millinery for the short, stout woman. Here the fates have been more kind to her, for in the new Elfin millinery, piled high as to crown and abbreviated as to brim, the short, stout woman is taller and less stout apparently. But the big hat—never let her dally with it! But what a temptation it is when one sees charming models like the large chapeau illustrated, adorned with the new pleureuse plumes that have knotted fronds. The toque model, which shows the newest pose for feathers, is her metier.

The gigantic hat has been monarch of all it surveys until recently, when small hats have entered into the running for favor, but the large hat, in spite of rage and ridicule, is just as firmly fixed on pretty curls as though it intended to be fashionable forever. But danger is now said to lurk beneath its mammoth shade, and there is every likelihood that hatboxes will shrink to normal proportions this winter. A famous hair specialist asserts that "if women will wear big hats and shades that envelop the head they will lose their hair."

"As grass turns yellow under a mushroom, so women's hair will lose its color under the present style of hats," says this seer. "There is every possibility of the sex going bald unless a revolution in hats is effected. First of all, these enormous mountains of millinery shut out the health giving sun and air; secondly, they present such a vast surface to the wind, the large shapes, that they tug against the delicate hair like kites on strings."

What woman cares a bit for this Cassandra-like talk! She'll wear the modish hats, and unless the unexpected happens will pile as much of her own or false hair under them as she pleases.

Really the only safe dress proposition that I have left is the new hand bag, and, by the way, whether of jeweled meshed gold or silver or merely leather, these new bags are larger than those we have been carrying, and the shopping type is fitted with a button watch on the outside. There is no excuse—that is, no good masculine excuse—for millady's missing an appointment if she has a watch equipped bag. CATHERINE TALBOT.

When the Lamp Is Lit

MUSINGS OF ELINOR HITE

WE have all of us heard of girls without charm. Maggie Wylie was one, Barrie's—oh, yes, I had nearly written charming—heroine. You remember what Maggie said when her brothers asked, "Maggie, what is this thing 'charm' exactly?" And Maggie replied: "Oh, it's a kind of bloom on a woman. If you have it you don't need anything else, not even education, and if you don't have it it doesn't matter what else you have. Some women, the few, have charm for all, and most have charm for one, and some have charm for none."

And poor Maggie thought she came under this last category. Yet it was not so, and it is said that she is of all Barrie's lovable women the most lovable. Now, there are Maggie Wylies all over the world. We have all met them—sweet, lovable and really charming women who don't know their charm. Maggie didn't. You know the kind of woman I mean. Barrie knew when he etched in Maggie's picture so artistically—the girl who, like Grizel, another of his heroines, was "very good at loving." Now, the world wants more of these women—women who are not necessarily pretty, who will never be lovely, but who nevertheless are "very good at loving."

Maybe some girl is now saying to herself: "Yes, that's me. I'm like Maggie." Or maybe another reader is saying: "Why, that's like So-and-so. She doesn't believe she has any charm." Well, if you're the first of these girls, just take heart. Maggie had more charm than she knew. So have you perhaps. And if you're the one who knows a girl "just like that," then play the part of good Samaritan to that girl and tell her that she's charming. Perhaps she won't believe you at first. Those shy girls seldom do when anything like that is said to them.

Only the other day a girl I knew was absolutely astonished when I knew another woman said to her: "Miss So-and-so thinks you are pretty. She said what pretty eyes you had."

That word of appreciation, coming secondhand, though it did, was like a tonic to the girl. She went and looked at herself in the glass to see if it could be true, and then she thanked God that she wasn't quite unsightly to her fellow beings after all.

So if you know any girls who are shy and unhappy and sensitive, but who are really charming or pretty or lovable and don't know it, just give yourself the pleasure of making them know it. They will value it all the more from you than from a man. It's always more likely to be sincere from a woman. The same thing applies to work. We have heard of employers who never praise. They don't deserve to get the best work out of their employees.

HINTS FROM BABYLAND.

When the baby goes out in his perambulator or go-cart great care should be taken that he is lifted gently over the curbs and when taken on country roads smooth ones should be first chosen.

The Massive Baby.

It is not always a sign that a baby is healthy if he is very fat and eats enormously. Babies of this type should not be fed to excess and should be kept in the open air as much as possible. As soon as they are old enough they should be encouraged to kick and stretch and may indulge in walking exercises if their legs are strong enough.

Do Not Walk the Floor.

Don't send your year old son or daughter to the "land of Nod" by pacing the floor with him or her. The hour may come when you will be physically incapable of so doing, and trouble may follow.

The Importance of Tidiness.

Children should be encouraged to take care of their things, and even quite small girls can be taught the value of this. Most mothers are guilty of allowing their children to depend on them for nearly everything. The little girl who is taught to sew the buttons on her own clothes, to repair ripping seams, to trim the ends of her hair ribbons, not only develops the habit of self reliance, but unconsciously becomes neat and particular with her belongings.

Comfort in Bloomers.

There are many mothers who find it very hard to allow their little girls to give up wearing the dainty little white underclothes for dark bloomers, but for ordinary wear they are a great saving in the washing and afford a child a thoroughly comfortable garment. Children should never be conscious of their clothes, and there are only two things that will make them so. One is discomfort and the other an undue amount of elaboration, which attracts attention.

Bread and Butter For Babies.

There is no place in which bread and butter can be so beneficial or poisonous as in the nursery. The worst thing you can give a young baby under a year old is bread.

But later on bread becomes useful. It should never be given new to a child at any age, but stale bread or toast is excellent.

MOVABLE SCHOOLS IN HOME ECONOMICS

A LESSON IN COOKING GIVEN TO HOUSEWIVES.

DURING the past few years the college extension department of the Kansas State Agricultural college has sent out a domestic science lecturer to give demonstrations for the housewives at the farmers' institutes. The demand for this work grew so strong that out of this demand developed the idea of the movable school in cooking and sewing, which is now in operation. The college sends out two people for each school. Each instructor takes with her as an assistant a graduate of the domestic science department. A local committee is appointed, generally by the local farmers' institute. This committee provides entertainment for the teachers, a suitable hall, at least one good range and a two burner gas or gasoline stove for each member of the class. Besides this the local committee is required to furnish all the supplies, such as flour, vegetables, meat, etc. This expense is usually covered by the membership fee of $1. To secure the services of the school it is necessary to have an enrollment of not less than twenty-four, no member to be under fifteen years of age. Cooking lessons are given in the morning, and sewing lessons in the afternoon. Of course this work is elementary. The cooking lessons offered have included such subjects as breadmaking, the cooking of eggs, meat and vegetables. The lessons in sewing have included instruction in patternmaking and drafting, buttonhole and shirt waist making.

One of the pupils of the school was a woman over sixty, mother of a graduate of the college, who had for years longed for a chance to make a scientific study of cooking, although she was considered the best cook in town. She was the most delighted person enrolled and joyously exclaimed that she had "learned a lot." In some places young married women enrolled who had never been taught to cook. One young woman had been married four months, and the fact that she didn't know how to prepare meals never seemed to matter until the cook left, and she was unable to get one anywhere. Things looked dark for her, but the movable school saved the day.

Sensibly Arranged Bookshelves

Who has not been annoyed by the irregularity of the rows of books on the shelves? The small book gets shoved back and sometimes disappears behind its larger neighbor, and Mrs. A is suspected of never having returned it after having borrowed it months ago.

The whole effect is biggledly piggedly, simply because bookcases are always made too deep for the books they contain. They are made deep enough for the maximum dictionary, which should never go on a shelf anyway, and the minimum choice little gems and even the average novels have several inches of shelf room to spare.

A bookcase made just wide enough for the books would look cramped and too heavy, so a way should be found to straighten up the lines of books and keep them well to the front, where a mere touch of the finger at the top brings the book to the hand. To solve the problem adopt this method:

At housecleaning time this fall, when all the books are taken down, tack cleats on the shelves just far enough back to give them room in front for books of different sizes. You will be surprised to find how much narrower the books are than you supposed. The cleats are therefore placed irregularly and tacked in lightly so they can be easily changed.

A book goes in until it reaches a cleat, and so all come flush with the edge of the shelf. There is no bare ledge to catch the dust and no books to get pushed out of sight.

RESTORING OLD PICTURES.

Have you a collection of old family daguerreotypes that are almost faded out of existence? Before they have gone beyond help take them to a photographer and have them restored.

This work is now so well done that the quaint old pictures will last for years. In making a collection keep the old wooden frames with velvet lining that add to the quaintness.

Daguerreotypes are now reproduced by an old time process and made into effective pictures which look well framed with narrow wooden molding.

A DELICIOUS SAUCE.

Here is a sauce that is delicious with a steamed pudding. Where wine sauce is not used a good hard sauce is the next best choice.

This is rarely well made, as it is too often gritty rather than creamy. The next time you make it try this method: Have the butter soft and stir in gradually powdered sugar instead of granulated, which is usually selected. When creamy and ready to serve stir in a quarter of a cup of cream, whipped very stiff, and the well beaten white of an egg.

SHE SAW ROSTAND'S "CHANTECLER" IN PARIS

"Yes," said a woman recently returned from Paris, "I saw Rostand's 'Chantecler'—that is, I didn't hear all of it. I left before the last curtain. Why? Frankly, it was too smelly. I don't know what kind of moth killers they use to preserve the plumage worn by the actors. I rather think each actor has his favorite kind, and the odors fight each other. Then the feathers have their own effluvia brought out by the heat of the stage, and as the performance progressed—well! I should have fainted if I had tried to stay out the drama. I couldn't understand why they didn't have a good strong breeze blow across the stage. It would have made things much pleasanter to the audience, not to mention the actors. I don't see how the latter endure the atmosphere. A breeze, moreover, would have rustled the foliage and made the scenes more realistic."

A NEW WAY TO SERVE CORN

GREEN CORN AU GRATIN IN RAMEKINS.

COOK one slice of onion, says the Boston Cooking School Magazine, and a slice of green pepper, chopped fine in one or two tablespoons of butter until softened and yellowed, add two tablespoons of flour and a half teaspoonful of salt and cook until frothy, add two cupfuls of thin cream and cook and stir until boiling, then stir in sweet corn, cut from the cob, to make quite a consistent mixture. One or two beaten eggs may be added if desired. Turn into buttered ramekins and cover with two-thirds of a cup of cracker crumbs mixed with melted butter. Let cook in the oven until the crumbs are browned. Serve as an entree at dinner or luncheon or as the chief dish at supper or luncheon.

TOILET TRIFLE FOR TRAVELERS

BLOUSE CASE CLOSED.

WHAT could be nicer as a gift for the girl who travels than a case in which she may safely bestow her "best" lingerie blouses? It does away with the necessity of paper for packing and keeps the supply of waists together, preventing as well the edges from becoming soiled. The original case was made of dotted muslin, but lawn or silk may be used. Muslin, however, is the best material, as it always looks fresh and dainty and launders well.

To make the case get a yard and a half of muslin. This quantity will make a case large enough to hold a half dozen blouses. Mark the center of the length used, hem the ends and trim with lace, then fold the ends over equally with the hem outside as shown to form pockets as receptacles for the blouses and join at the selvages, which run the length of the case.

Finish the edges between the pockets, turn inside out evenly and sew a ribbon in the center of each end to fold over and tie with, as in the closed view illustrated, when the case is complete, though you may ornament it in other ways if preferred. The owner's monogram is very attractive when worked prettily in wash cotton or silk.

KEEP OLD BICYCLE PUMPS.

When going over the new home of a very neat housewife recently a bicycle pump was noticed in the broom closet. The guest who was being taken over the house said to her hostess, "When your small son wants to pump up his tires will he ever think of looking for the necessary tool in this closet?"

"That is not his pump, it is mine," was the reply. "I use it for my carved furniture, and it works as well as a vacuum cleaner. The maid can hold it with her foot, pump with one hand and with the other direct the blast from the tube into any niche or cranny that a duster does not reach, and old Mr. Dust goes flying." She has told many of her friends of this use for the discarded bicycle pump.

DEXTER ENDORSED For Mayoralty by Ex-Com. of Republican City Committee

Last night the executive committee of the republican city committee met in executive session and voted to endorse Royal K. Dexter, of the board of aldermen, for the republican mayoralty nomination. The meeting was well attended and was for members exclusively. Chairman Herbert L. Chapman presided and Edward T. Howard acted as secretary. The meeting had been previously announced in the papers and the word had been passed around that the mayoralty matter would be discussed. Alderman Dexter was not present. The committee was in session but a short time. The subject was introduced at the opening and a unanimity of opinion made a long meeting unnecessary.

ROYAL K. DEXTER

In addition to the formal endorsement of the action of the committee last night said that he had no statement to give out at present. He had been undecided as to whether he would run. His friends, however, state that his name will certainly appear on the ballot. Frank K. Stearns, who had been mentioned as a candidate, was not considered by the committee. It is ex-

PANAMA CANAL Ambassador Bryce Thinks It Wondrous

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—James Bryce, the British ambassador to the United States, is on an inspection tour of the Panama canal and several South American countries. In speaking of the Panama canal, in which he declared he was greatly interested, the ambassador said: "I regard the canal as the most extraordinary improvement on nature that has ever been made on this planet." He added that the commercial value of the canal as yet was uncertain, as he did not think that would be known until after it had been put in use. Besides visiting Peru and Chile, Prof. Bryce and his wife, who accompanied him, will sail through the strait of Magellan and go to Buenos Ayres, where he will probably take a British steamer for England and return to Washington in November. He said he was making his first trip to South America and was looking forward with much pleasure to it. Although the ambassador is entering his 70th year, he is still a keen lover of travel.

FIRE IN HAYLOFT Blaze Caused Damage Estimated at $3500

HAVERHILL, Sept. 3.—The firemen had an hour's battle in preventing the spread of flames at a fire in the Riverside district yesterday afternoon, which started in a barn owned by James W. Bowdoin on Race street, and were successful in saving many houses nearby, but only after the barn was totally destroyed and a two and one-half story house adjoining was gutted, entailing a total loss of $3500. The fire started in the hayloft of the barn, and Chief Gordon says that the owner, who was at work on the exterior of the structure, admitted that he had been smoking about the premises.

The barn was practically in ruins when the department arrived and the flames had jumped to the house. The firemen were handicapped by the lack of adequate water supply and were obliged to await the arrival of a steamer before getting a stream on the house. The sparks from the fire were carried by the wind to the roofs of houses nearby, and these were saved by the use of garden hose.

The locality where the fire occurred is thickly settled and the winter appears poor. The houses of N. E. Taber and Mrs. Lizzie M. Phillips on Haverhill street were slightly damaged by the flying sparks.

NIGHT EDITION
THE LOCAL POLICESuspect That Tony Carrell is a Clever Thief

Clothes Found in Home Identified by Residents of Belvidere—
He Will be Arraigned in Court
Next Wednesday

In the arrest of Tony Carrell, who was taken into custody yesterday morning by Major E. J. Noyes, corporation detective, assisted by Patrolman William H. Wilson, the police are of the opinion that they have behind the bars one of the cleverest clothes line and sneak thieves who has worked this vicinity for years.

The man is a foreigner, and while he looks to be on the shady side of 50 years, he may be younger.

He has been in this city but three weeks, but during that time, it is said that he managed to steal property from the William H. Ward Co., over a thousand feet of lumber from the Musachusetts cotton mills and clothing of almost every description from yards in lower Belvidere. When the police visited Carrell's apartments at 36 Davidson street, today, they found so much stuff that it was necessary to telephone for a large wagon to remove the trunks, boxes and clothing found in the rooms to the police station.

While the police are of the opinion that many of the goods taken from the Davidson street house were stolen in other cities and brought here by Carrell, people residing in Belvidere this afternoon identified nearly a hundred articles as their property.

Census Bureau Estimates Population of City at 95,109

Cambridge Has Bounded From 91,886 in 1900 to 102,982 and Lawrence From 62,559 to 77,541

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—The census office has prepared mathematical estimates of the population of the New England states and of numerous cities and towns within those states. It is stated that the estimates are based upon the population of the states, cities or towns at their last census, whether taken by the federal government in 1900 or by the states in 1905.

In each case the census bureau has added to the last available census figures an amount equal to the increase shown by that census since the preceding census, after allowing for annexations to present or subtractions from the territories embraced in the various communities figured on.

It is specifically stated that these estimates are not based upon the census of this year, the results of which may or may not approximate the bureau's estimates. On the whole, however, Director Durand believes that the population totals for this year as shown by the census will not differ greatly from the mathematical estimates prepared under his direction.

According to figures given out in Director Durand's office yesterday, the estimated population of the New England states this year is as follows:

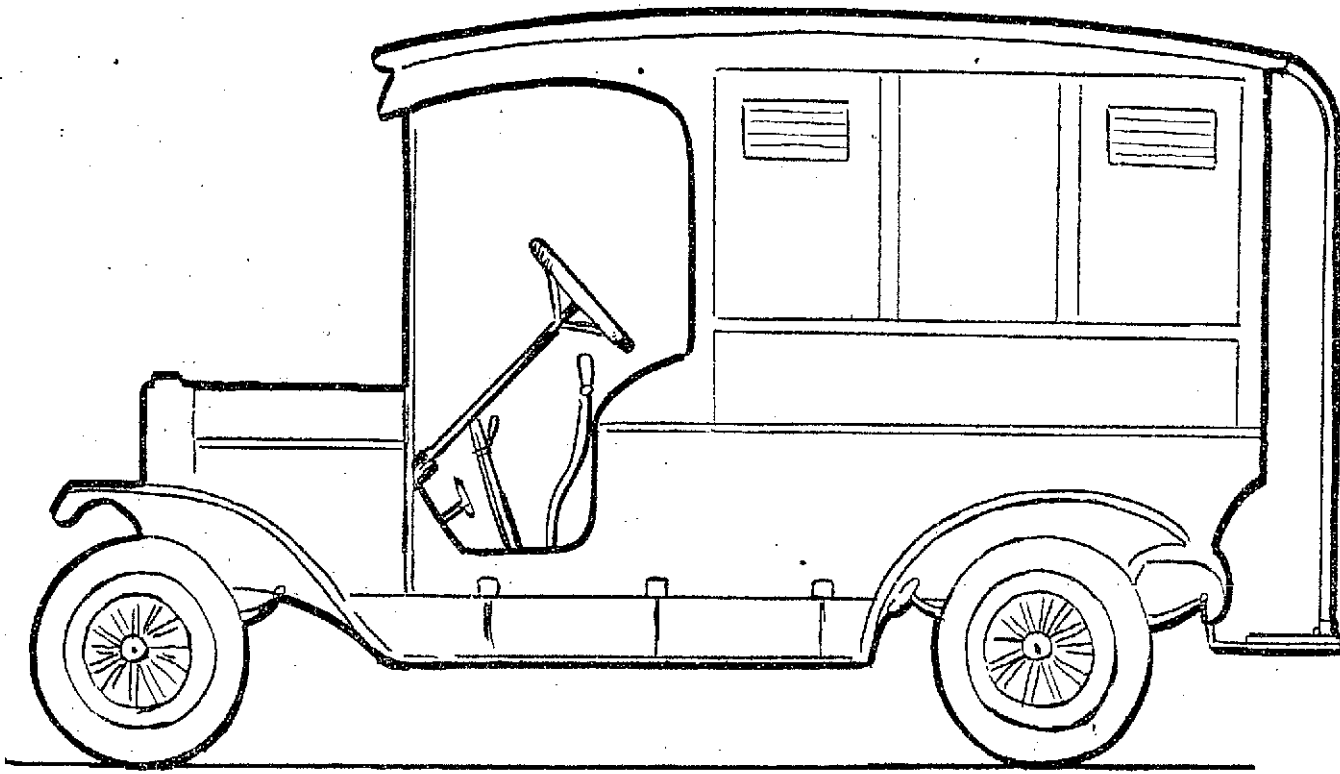

State	Population
Massachusetts	3,302,016
Maine	737,846
New Hampshire	446,648
Vermont	354,860
Rhode Island	531,026
Connecticut	1,070,382
Total for New England	6,335,558

The estimated population of various cities and towns in the several states is as follows:

Seats inside full length, cushions in two parts, upholstered with leather, well filled with curled hair, boxed under seat and top of seat removable to accommodate stretcher, rope and tackle, also opened from rear. All floors covered with linoleum, brass-bound, step on rear heavy enough to carry three persons, covered with rubber matting, two heavy brass tubings extending from step to top of door, box on right side of running board, to carry full line of tools for the machine. Box on left side of running board to carry one "First Aid" medicine chest, copper tank for remedy for burns, hand cuffs, twisters, two riot guns and pistols. Box and cover to be divided.

Specifications for chassis state that the wheel base must not be less than 130 inches; motor, 4 or 6 cylinder water cooled; horsepower not less than 40. Ignition, two separate and distinct systems magneto and batteries.

All material and workmanship must be of the best and subject to inspection and approval of the chief of the department of supplies and the mayor.

Every proposal must be signed by the bidder and accompanied by a certified check for five hundred dollars ($500), made payable to the city of Lowell.

A penalty of five dollars ($5) per day will be charged for all days in excess of time agreed for delivery.

A bond or certified check will be required for the faithful performance of the contract in such sum as shall be fixed by the chief of the department of supplies after the bids are opened.

The chief of the department of supplies and the mayor reserve the right to reject any and all bids should they deem it for the interest of the city to do so.

states to recognize the day as a holiday through the efforts of the Knights of Columbus. It is the desire of the Knights and the legislators to have the day observed generally and not particularly by the organization that takes its name in honor of the discoverer. It is argued that but for the discovery of America by Columbus in all probability there would have been no Pilgrims' Day, Washington's Birthday, Lincoln Day, Independence Day or Labor Day and hence the holiday should be as general in character as the others. As this is the first year of the holiday the supreme officers of the Knights of Columbus have suggested that each city of sufficient size should have its own celebration. In Boston one of the features will be a parade of the Catholic societies of the city and it is expected that 50,000 men will be in line.

A celebration will be held in Lowell the exact nature of which will be decided upon next week. The committee on celebration from Lowell Council, Knights of Columbus consists of Prof. Hugh J. Molloy, chairman, William F. Thornton, Dr. T. F. Carrell, Joseph Handley, Joseph W. Green and Grand Knight Daniel S. O'Brien, ex-officio. Among the features will be religious services and a banquet.

ON LABOR DAY

Lowell Will Have No Formal Celebration This Year

Loomfixers Will Hold Big Outing
and Lowell Will Play Double-Header—The Opera House and Hathaway's Open For Season—Columbus Day Observance On October 12

Monday will be Labor Day and while it will be observed by a general suspension of business there will be no formal celebration on the part of the labor organizations.

It was recently voted by the Trades and Labor council to omit the celebration this year owing to the curtailment and the present two weeks' shut-down.

The Loomfixers' union, however, will have an outing on the upper boulevard which will draw a big crowd.

The Carpenters' union has received an invitation to be the guests of their brethren of Lawrence Monday, where a big celebration and parade is being held and they have accepted, though they will not appear in the parade.

Thousands of French-Americans will go to Manchester on Monday where a big parade of French societies and a military competition at Varick park is to be held. Four of the local organizations will participate in the parade.

while the Garde Frontenac will also compete in the military contest.

The Opera House and Hathaway's theatre will open their seasons with two performances and strong attractions while every picture theatre in the city will run holiday performances.

Lakeview, Canobie Lake and Breezy Point offer special attractions, day and evening.

The biggest attraction here will be a double header game between Lowell and Lawrence at Spalding park, the first game beginning at 2 o'clock and two games for one admission, in the morning at 10 o'clock Lowell will play Lawrence at Glen Forest.

A SERIOUS CAVE-IN

In Excavation Under New York's
New City Hall BuildingSurface Car Narrowly Escaped Being Engulfed — Traffic On Third Avenue Road Blocked

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—A serious cave-in in the excavation of the new city hall building undermined Park row just below Chambers street for a distance of forty feet, blocked the surface car tracks and stopped traffic for hours today on the Third avenue elevated railroad line from Chatham square to the city hall terminal, the "L" pillars being badly undermined. A south-bound surface car narrowly escaped being engulfed. The motorman saved his car by speeding as he felt the rails give away under him.

ROOSEVELT ON TAFT

Colonel Pleased With Remarks
About Tariff Commission

SIOUX CITY, Ia., Sept. 3.—Colonel Roosevelt in the presence of Senator Dolliver and Representative Hubbard of Iowa today made his first public utterance regarding the administration of President Taft. He endorsed the president's suggestions for a tariff commission and complimented him on his negotiations with foreign countries to bring about tariff agreements.

It was made known that this commendation of the president was purposely given within "insurgent" territory and that both Senator Dolliver and Mr. Hubbard knew in advance that Colonel Roosevelt was to say what he said and approved it, although they were not consulted by the colonel about his reference to themselves.

The colonel's private car was moved on a siding to Mizoum park where a large assemblage was waiting to hear him.

The colonel's speech was as follows: "I was particularly pleased with what the president said in his last letter on the subject of the tariff commission. A number of senators and congressmen have for some years advocated this as the proper method of dealing with the tariff and I am glad that the country seems now to have definitely awakened to the idea that tariff commission offers the only solution of the problem which is both rational and insures the absence of jobbery. The president from the beginning has advocated this proposition. I call your attention to the fact that the amendment proposed to provide for such a commission in the original bill when the tariff was under consideration in the senate, was introduced by your own senator here, Senator Dolliver. It was a characteristic act of service to the people on the senator's part and I wish to take this opportunity of saying that throughout my term as president on every important question it was my privilege to stand shoulder to shoulder with Senator Dolliver. Let me add, my friends, that what I have said of Senator Dolliver I can also say of your congressman, Mr. Hubbard.

"A word here for my friend, Congressman Martin, although he is not from Iowa but from South Dakota. He also was a man who absolutely stood by me on every point throughout my term and with whom I was able to work in hearty sympathy for every progressive policy. All three of these men I found after trying them out, stood without hitching; perhaps that simile suits South Dakota better than Iowa, where I should say that they never kicked over the pail."

"It was only by a bitter fight that the friends of the commission idea in congress got through the proposition. It is not yet in satisfactory shape. The commission itself should be enlarged and its powers greatly enlarged and defined and any necessary changes made that will make its work more effective from the standpoint both of the executive and congress. But the establishment makes an excellent beginning in the right direction. Moreover, the value of the commission as provided has been real by the action of the administration in constraining in broad fashion the law that provided for it. There is another feature of the tariff law which is admirable and points our course in the right direction, the maximum and minimum provision. And here again I wish to point out that the value of the provision has been rendered largely upon excellent work done by the administration in the negotiations with foreign powers for the application, especially the negotiations with the Dominion of Canada, which were the most difficult of all. And yet, in my eyes, the most important, because I esteem it of vital consequence that we should always be on relations of the highest friendliness and good will with our great and growing neighbor in the north.

"In addition it was of very real importance to provide, as present tariffs after one year.

to provide, for proper treatment of the Philippines."

Mayor Smith introduced the speaker to the people of Iowa.

There was a great demonstration as Mr. Roosevelt proceeded with his remarks.

Colonel Roosevelt read with interest today the statement issued yesterday by William Barnes, Jr., of Albany, charging him for his western speech, which, Mr. Barnes said, "have startled all thoughtful men and impressed them with the danger which lies in his political tendency."

"I think there is something perfectly delicious," said the colonel, "in the idea of Mr. Barnes dying to the defense of the supreme court and righteousness."

On the way from Omaha to Sioux City, Colonel Roosevelt made a brief speech at Omaha, Ia., telling the crowd that he believed in a square deal.

ST. MICHAEL'S HOLY NAME
The general committee of St. Michael's Holy Name society will meet at the school hall on Seventh street, Tuesday evening, Sept. 6th, at 7:30 o'clock. The committee will formulate plans for the fall and winter season and make arrangements for the first meeting of the society after the summer's rest. It is the desire of the spiritual director, Rev. Fr. Mullin, that every man of the parish will join the Holy Name society.

The different sub-committees will have their season's work laid out for them and the members guided by their officers will continue in the good work which the Holy Name society has been doing for St. Michael's parish. The regular meeting of the society will be Sunday evening, Sept. 11th.

PRES. TAFT'S DENIAL
WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—The White House today issued the following statement received by wire from Secretary Norton at Beverly:

"The president sharply repudiated this morning the story which appeared in certain Boston and New York newspapers to the effect that he had made any comment whatever expressing either pleasure or displeasure on the 'new nationalism.'"

PROF. UMPLEBY
VISITED THE TEXTILE SCHOOL AT FALL RIVER

Fenwick Umpleby, of the Lowell Textile school, recently elected principal of the Bradford Durfee Textile school, Fall River, Mass., recently visited the school to meet the members of the faculty and to give Joseph W. Bailey, the retiring principal, an opportunity to turn the keys over to him in a semi-formal way. When Mr. Umpleby arrived at the school, President Leonard Lincoln, Edward S. Adams and James E. Cunniff, of the board, and Mr. Bailey were present to greet him. The day instructors were also present, as follows: John Kiveton, Fred H. Webster, Frederick R. Puleston, William Dink, Frederick R. Hays and J. Harvey Jack. Another friend was Fred H. Grover, local manager of the South-east Massachusetts Telephone Co. Mr. Umpleby and Mr. Grover were members of the first day class at the Lowell Textile school, and Mr. Umpleby was the first instructor. Mr. Bailey completed the course, but Mr. Grover left before he could complete it.

Suit Against the American Federation of Labor

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 3.—C. W. Post of Battle Creek, Mich., today filed suit in the United States circuit court for the eastern division of Missouri against the American Federation of Labor and the Bucks Stove & Range Co. of St. Louis not only to restrain the officers of the latter from carrying out an alleged tentative agreement with officers of the former to make the St. Louis institution a closed shop but setting up a claim for damages of $750,000 under the Sherman act. The case is in a suit in equity and includes among the defendants Samuel Gompers, president; John Mitchell, vice president; Frank Morrison, secretary, and other officers of the Federation and some fifty others prominently identified with union labor in America. A meeting between the American Federation leaders and the stove company officers has been set for next Tuesday, and it was to head off possible action that the suit was filed today.

It is claimed among other things that the consummation of the proposed agreement would deprive the stove company of an opportunity of recovering hundreds of thousands of dollars lost because of the union boycott and the irreparable injury to the concern will result because of the destruction of the prestige it gained through its victory over the labor unions in the district of Columbia courts.

A claim for damages in the sum of $750,000 allegedly suffered as the result of the boycott is set up under the Sherman act, making the case identical in many respects with the famous Danbury Hat suit in which the hatlers recovered $224,000 as the result of a boycott by the labor unions.

THE SONDER RACES

Whitney's and Emmons' Boats
the Winners

MARION, Sept. 3.—When the sixteen American sonder boats started out into Buzzards bay this morning for the first struggle to obtain positions on the challenging team to go to Germany next spring, there was the lightest of airs only and the smoothest of seas. The strong calm conditions which the committee of the Eastern Yacht club hoped to obtain by coming around this side of Cape Cod were entirely absent for the forenoon hours today at least. The yachts went out therefore with the expectations of having some good races and with no idea of how they were to be rated or eliminated next week.

The starters today were in two divisions as follows:

First division—Deaver, George Dabney and others; Bebolot, H. P. Whitney; Coot, R. F. Herrell; Helien, D. P. Davis; Juanita, H. E. Converse; Sally VII, V. C. Helier; Sally XII, Demarest Lloyd; Spokane III, Hugh Bancroft.

Second division—Bantit, J. C. Edwards; Bessie II, G. T. Thomas; Cima, Guy Lowell; Peg, Gailen Stone; Seacoon, J. L. Stockpole; Tolobogan II, R. W. Emmons; D. Y. Pendas; Alarm, Austin Sands.

He is Scored by the Judge

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—On appointing a receiver yesterday for the Mount Morris Storage company, at the instance of Justus N. Williams, formerly president of the New York Central Storage company, Supreme Court Justice Page questioned the part taken by a lawyer in organizing the Mount Morris concern.

The lawyer is Reno R. Billington of 45 Broadway. Williams had sued him, along with others, alleging that he had been defrauded of $25,000 in New York Central Storage stock, to the advantage of the other company, alleged to be controlled by Billington.

Justice Page, in his opinion, said: "A condition certainly exists which requires the interference of a court of equity. The plaintiff, through the machinations of the defendant, Billington, his confidential legal adviser, has been induced to part with his majority holdings in a going and solvent business, and so far as the papers before me show, has received absolutely nothing therefor."

Williams, it appeared from the papers, told his attorney, Billington, that he wanted to convert his holdings in New York Central Storage into cash. Billington is alleged to have advised a transfer to the Mount Morris company for bonding equal face value. Williams declares the latter company "did not have $500 in its treasury."

The court enjoined all the defendants from disposing of the Mount Morris company's assets.

LAWYER BLAMED THE LOCAL POLICE

Continued
He is Scored by the Judge

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—On appointing a receiver yesterday for the Mount Morris Storage company, at the instance of Justus N. Williams, formerly president of the New York Central Storage company, Supreme Court Justice Page questioned the part taken by a lawyer in organizing the Mount Morris concern.

The lawyer is Reno R. Billington of 45 Broadway. Williams had sued him, along with others, alleging that he had been defrauded of $25,000 in New York Central Storage stock, to the advantage of the other company, alleged to be controlled by Billington.

Justice Page, in his opinion, said: "A condition certainly exists which requires the interference of a court of equity. The plaintiff, through the machinations of the defendant, Billington, his confidential legal adviser, has been induced to part with his majority holdings in a going and solvent business, and so far as the papers before me show, has received absolutely nothing therefor."

Williams, it appeared from the papers, told his attorney, Billington, that he wanted to convert his holdings in New York Central Storage into cash. Billington is alleged to have advised a transfer to the Mount Morris company for bonding equal face value. Williams declares the latter company "did not have $500 in its treasury."

The court enjoined all the defendants from disposing of the Mount Morris company's assets.

Came to Lowell Recently

Carroll and a woman, who has been acting as housekeeper for him, came to Lowell about three weeks ago and took up their residence in the block numbered 34 Davidson street. As a general rule the residents of that vicinity become acquainted within a few days, but Carroll and his housekeeper kept aloof from the other tenants and the latter looked upon the new arrivals with suspicion.

It was a noticeable fact that Carroll kept close to the house during the greater part of the day, while on several occasions he was seen to leave and enter the house late at night and early in the morning.

Patrolman Wilson Suspicious
Patrolman William H. Wilson grew suspicious when he noted Carroll's presence on the street at various hours in the morning when most people are asleep. His suspicions caused him to report the matter to headquarters and yesterday Major Noyes arrested Carroll on a warrant charging him with the larceny of a wheelbarrow the property of the William H. Ward Co., which has the contract for the erection of the new mills of the Massachusetts mills and the larceny of 1000 feet of lumber the property of the Massachusetts mills. It is alleged that Carroll first stole the wheelbarrow and from night to night under the cover of darkness stole lumber.

A Clothesline Thief
The finding of these articles together with the complaints entered by residents of lower Belvidere to the effect that their clotheslines had been robbed caused the police to have another complaint of larceny preferred against their prisoner.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—It is not unlikely that the Rev. H. A. Handel, the Episcopal clergyman who performed the ceremony marrying R. Augustus Heinze and Mrs. Bernice Golden Henderson, will be called to account for his act before the Episcopal diocese of the Long Island Episcopal diocese, of which Bishop Broderick Burgess is the presiding official.

It is alleged that the Rev. Mr. Handel violated one of the canons of the Episcopal church in marrying Mrs. Henderson, who obtained a divorce from Charles Henderson some time ago. She has a young daughter.

Bishop Burgess acknowledged this when he was asked if any action would be taken to punish Mr. Handel. "Although the marrying of divorced persons is prohibited by the Episcopal church," said Mr. Burgess, "I cannot discuss this particular case for the reason that it has not been brought officially to my notice. I have read of the marriage in the newspapers, and I purpose to write to Mr. Handel for an explanation. If such a marriage has actually occurred, it will, of course, be brought to the attention of the Ecclesiastical court of the Long Island diocese."

The marriage of Mr. Heinze and Mrs. Henderson was performed by the Rev. Mr. Handel at his home, No. 34 Jefferson avenue, Brooklyn. Mr. Handel has been a friend of Mrs. Henderson's family for years.

DAMAGES

CREW FOUGHT DEATH
For 72 Hours Men Were Threatened With Drowning

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—The four-masted bark Pelipse, laden with oil, reached this port last night with a thrilling tale of the sea. For seventy-two hours after a collision the ship was kept afloat with a four-foot hole under the water line by a constant straining at the pumps and the heroic exertions of a crew that finally beat back the ocean from her hold.

For seventy-two hours the bark's trip was fraught with death to the 26 men of her crew, including Captain James C. White. The bark finally reached Pernambuco, South America.

The Pelipse left this port on April 23, bound for Hong Kong, with 120,000 cases of oil. She is 325 feet long and of 5000 tons burden. On the morning of June 4, in latitude 8 degrees south, longitude 7 degrees west, a bark was seen on her port bow, heading directly toward her. The wind was blowing hard a gale when the look out first made her out three miles ahead.

out even a signal of recognition, according to the officers of the Pelipse. Before the latter could change her course to avoid the approaching stranger, the latter had rammed her nose into the bluff of the port bow, tearing a gash in the bulwarks. For forty feet the steel bulwark was torn away, raked by the prow of the colliding ship.

When the latter drew away no sound was heard, and so far as the crew of the Pelipse knows, she disappeared entirely from view. Her fate has not yet been reported.

The crossjack yard of the Pelipse was smashed, the mizen lower and upper topsail yards and mizen gallant yards were carried off deck. The water poured into the forehold, which was emptied to lighten the bow. Then occurred a grim fight for life.

The ship's parrot Mazingo was knocked off the crossjack yard and saved by one of the crew. The parrot soon after the collision cried out in answer, "Who did it?"

POLICE ACCUSED

Beat O'Brien

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Patrolmen William O'Shaughnessy and Hugh McCarthy, of the Amity street police station, in Brooklyn, were last night picked out of line at the station house by friends of John O'Brien, who was found dead in the doorway of his mother's home, at No. 74 Amity street, on Thursday. The men who picked out the policemen say that one of them pushed O'Brien and the other hit him over the head with his club. An autopsy performed on the body yesterday showed that O'Brien had died from a fractured skull.

O'Brien, who was known as Darby, and lived at No. 378 Kings street with his wife and three children, attended an outing of the Second assembly district of Kings county at Donnelly's Grove on Wednesday. Sheriff Patrick H. Quinn is the leader of the district and gave the outing.

On Thursday morning he was found in the doorway leading to the home where his mother lives. He died in a few minutes. The mother then learned he had been beaten and reported it to the police.

Last evening Inspector Sweeney had John Lockwood and Arthur Ralph, of No. 141 and No. 34 Atlantic avenue, brought to the station just before the platoon going off for nearly four hours was lined up. Lockwood came out from the captain's room and picked out the two policemen. He went back and Ralph came out and also picked them out. The two men were then ordered from the ranks to the rear room and confronted by the two men.

The men say that there was a fight on the way home and when the police were on hand and that the three men who were fighting were "manhandled." O'Brien was hit by one of the policemen with a club and his head knocked against a station.

From the pier the three went to a saloon where ice was placed on O'Brien's head and at 3 o'clock he started for home. The men say he remarked "I guess O'Shaughnessy has finished me."

Inspector Sweeney did not relieve the policemen from duty and ordered the men to report to Inspector Dillon on Monday at headquarters. He said he did this because the police asked him to produce witnesses to show they had not used a club on O'Brien and had not struck him.

They say they were called to the pier where the excursion boat landed, and O'Brien and others were pointed out as those who had been causing trouble, and they were ordered to leave the boat, and also so.

O'Brien is 32 years old and was mixed up in the primary fights of the district. A year or so ago he was shot in a political fight and came near dying.

laken to the police station and opened it was found that some of the contents had been taken from Cambridge and shipped to Carroll in this city.

Several residents of Belvidere called at the police station and identified some of the clothing found as belonging to them.

The police are of the opinion that Carroll was up to date when he stole clothes, for instead of removing the articles piece by piece, it is alleged he cut the lines and gathered up the lines, clothes and clothespins, took them to his apartment where they strung the lines up in the kitchen and allowed the clothes to dry. When the police visited the place today they found nearly half a dozen lines filled with clothing drying in the kitchen.

Several persons who have missed clothing of late called at the police station today and among those who identified their clothes in the goods taken from Carroll's house were Anne Carrigan, 28 East Merrimack street, Margaret Murphy, 280 East Merrimack street, Dora M. Gotham of 21 Stockpole street, Nellie Murphy of 30 East Merrimack street and a woman who resides at 22 Stockpole street.

Carroll, when he appears in court Wednesday morning, will have a number of complaints to answer to.

SKIRMISH MARCH

O. M. I. Cadets to Walk From Boston

The O. M. I. Cadets walking team consisting of eight members of the Cadets will attempt a skirmish walk from Boston to this city on Saturday, Sept. 24. The boys will take a train to Boston in the morning and will begin their march from the State house at noon. They will be clad in khaki uniforms, will carry rifles, bayonets and canteens. They figure on covering the distance in about six hours. The boys have been training for the walk for several weeks past, under the direction of Police Officer Mc McCann, physical instructor of the Cadets. The members who will take part in the march are James Shannon, Jeremiah Sullivan, William Scully, Robert Dwyer, Leo Kenny, Frank Clark, John Whittier and Jeremiah Langley.

LATEST RESCUED AT SEA

Members of Crew of the West Point Picked Up

The Boat Caught Fire at Sea and Afterwards Foundered—Some of the Crew May Have Been Lost

BOSTON, Sept. 3.—Sixteen members of the crew of the British steamer West Point have been rescued at sea by the steamer Devonian, which arrived here today. The West Point, which was bound from Glasgow for Charleston, S. C., caught fire at sea and afterwards foundered. The news of the loss of the West Point and the rescue of her crew was received here by wireless. The message received by the White Star line office from Captain Trant of the Devonian did not give any particulars of the rescue. Neither time nor position were mentioned. It is not known whether all of the crew of the West Point were saved, nor whether they were taken from the burning steamer or from the ship's lifeboats.

The Devonian with the rescued men on board, although to arrive on Monday, is not expected by the officers of the Leyland line to whose fleet she belongs, to make port before Tuesday morning. The Devonian was somewhat delayed in leaving Liverpool and there also would be a further delay as a result of the halting in midocean to render assistance to the survivors from the West Point.

The Devonian has a full passenger list on her trip to Boston. Most of the passengers are young women, it is understood, the majority of whom are schoolteachers who have been spending their vacations in Europe in travel.

In his wireless dispatch Captain Trant, commander of the Devonian, did not give any particulars of the disaster. Neither date of rescue nor position at sea were given. It is not known whether the entire crew of the West Point was saved or whether some perished. There is a possibility also that some of the West Point's crew may have been taken off by some other steamer.

The West Point, Captain Pinkham in command, sailed for Glasgow, S. C., on Aug. 15. The West Point registered 4810 tons gross and 3074 tons net. She was built at Newcastle in 1899. She hailed from Liverpool, her owners being the Norfolk & North American Shipping Co. (limited) of that city.

MISPLACED SWITCH MADE TROUBLE

NEW BEDFORD, Sept. 3.—The tracks of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad in this city were blocked for several hours this morning by the overturning of a large refrigerator car which smashed a hole in the side of a passenger coach. No one was injured. A misplaced switch is believed to have been the cause.

MISS GLADYS KERENS MARRIED

LONDON, Sept. 3.—Miss Gladys Kerens of St. Louis, youngest daughter of Richard Kerens, American ambassador at Vienna, and George Hamilton Colket of Philadelphia, son of the late George Colket, were married today in the church of St. John the Evangelist at Herons Ghyll in Sussex. Only members of the two families were present. These included Ambassador and Mrs. Kerens, who arrived from the Austrian capital last night. Father Burke officiated. Miss Mary Kenna, a niece of the bride, was bridesmaid and C. Stevenson Hulberry of Philadelphia best man. A wedding breakfast was served at The Rocks, Boarshead, Sussex, the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dudley Kenna.

BY DIRECT VOTE

Plan to Nominate Senators and Rep's

Thomas P. Riley, attorney and counselor-at-law, has addressed the following communication to City Clerk Dammann:

Sept. 1, 1910.

Dear Friend: I am sending you under separate cover, petitions signed by voters in your place, for the placing of the direct nomination question on the ballot in the next state election.

These signatures must be certified to by the registrar of voters in each city and town and the petitions filed with the secretary of state before the 8th of this month.

I respectfully ask that you notify the registrars in your place in order that they may certify the signatures Monday or Tuesday and also ask them if they will kindly reforward the petitions to the office of the secretary of state in the wrapper that will be enclosed with them for that purpose, mailing them not later than Wednesday morning.

The petitions will reach you by Monday at the latest.

Thanking you for your courtesy in behalf of the petitioners of the commonwealth as well as your own district, remain,

Respectfully yours,
(Signed) Thomas P. Riley.

This communication has to do with an act relative to the nomination by direct plurality vote of senators and representatives in the general court.

The question is: "Shall nominations by political parties of candidates for the office of senator or representative be by direct plurality vote?"

This applies to the 14th and 19th representative districts and the 7th and 8th senatorial districts.

CLARA KONTER

Girl Who Drank Poison is Dead

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 3.—Clara Kontor, the principal in one of the most mysterious cases the police and medical men of Pittsburgh have ever attempted to solve, died in the Ohio Valley General hospital early today from the effects of drinking half a pint of turpentine. The poisonous draught was taken Sunday by the girl, who told the hospital attendants she was tired of life.

Clara Kontor left her home near Shousetown two years ago. One morning, long after search had ceased, she was found in bed in her home unconscious. For days she lay in a stupor, physicians being unable to arouse her. Finally she was awakened when a friend suggested making a sudden and sharp noise at her bedside. The girl's identity was not established at the hospital until late yesterday.

2000 EMPLOYEES AFFECTED

CLINTON, Sept. 3.—The Lancaster Gingham mills beginning today will be closed until Sept. 22. Two thousand employees are affected.

PLANT IS CLOSED

HOLYOKE, Sept. 3.—Until Sept. 12, the 1400 employees of the Lyman Cotton mill will be idle, the entire plant having closed last night.

The mills have been shut down twice before this year.

EDSON CEMETERY

Bids on New Gateway to be Called for

Bids for the new gateway to the Edson cemetery will be called for by the purchasing agent on Tuesday. The erection of a gateway is provided for in an appropriation of $2500. The gateway will be opposite Third avenue and at the intersection of Gorham street and Carlisle road. The gateway itself is to be granite posts with wrought iron gates and fence.

Other calls for bids by the purchasing agent will include drawing paper for the school department; trousers and overalls and mops and brooms for the charity department.

BURGLAR IS BUSY

Several Breaks Made in Andover

A midnight marauder attempted to enter the home of George Littlefield at 65 Allen avenue last night, but was scared away before he could force an entrance to the house.

The burglar was detected in the act of entering the house through a rear window which he had forced up, but was frightened away.

The man was seen by one of the inmates of the house as he was trying to enter, and is described as being about 40 years of age, 5 feet 7 inches tall, weighing about 165 pounds, and was dressed in a dark suit of clothes.

The constantly increasing number of breaks about the city has put the police on edge, and they have been instructed by Chief Burckes to keep out a special watch for open windows on their beats.

On Wednesday somebody entered the room of Charles Hanson in the Stirling Chambers on Andrew street, and when he returned he found a light suit of clothes, a Panama hat, six stickpins and two razors missing. The fellow who made this raid was evidently in need of raiment, judging by what he took.

Gilbert W. Ballard of 50 Andrew street also received a call from the burglar, and clothing and jewelry to the amount of $75 was carried away. If the stranger keeps at it in time he will have enough to start a little store of his own.

Miss Carrie Brown of the Osmond house has a grievance against the fellow, for he entered her room on the same day as the others and walked away with a horseshoe diamond stickpin, a five stone emerald ring, gold chain and locket with an opal in the center and surrounded by five small diamonds, a daisy bead chain, a chased band ring, gold cuff links, gold watch fob and a register book containing $170.

He is supposed to be a man from Lynn.

MILLS SHUT DOWN

FALL RIVER, Sept. 3.—Forty-six cotton mills owned by eighteen corporations shut down today until Sept. 12, throwing out 18,000 operatives.

Several others will be idle until next Wednesday. The renewed curtailment here will keep 2,500,000 spindles idle next week and shut off 175,000 pieces of print cloth. The following corporations ceased work: Fall River Iron works, (7 mills) Ancona, Border City, Chase, Flint, Laurel Lake, Mechanics, King Philip, Narragansett, Pocasset, Richard Borden, Seacomet, Stafford Weaving department, Teumesseth, Troy, Wampanoag and Weymouth No. 3. The Bourne and Tauter mills will start up Wednesday.

TREATED LIKE KINGS 23 WERE WOUNDED

Lowell Delegates to Atlantic Waterways Convention

One of the Lowell Delegates

JOHN H. MURPHY

Were Personal Guests of Gov. Pothier, of R. I., Through J. L. Chalifoux—City of Providence Beats All Records at Entertaining Visiting Delegates

The most enthusiastic party of Lowell men who ever returned from a trip are the board of trade delegates to the Atlantic Deeper Waterways convention at Providence this week, consisting of President Harvey B. Greene, Secretary John H. Murphy, J. L. Chalifoux, Jesse H. Shephard, Carl M. Phil and Representative George H. Marchand.

The Lowell delegates were fortunate in having with them Mr. Chalifoux, who is a close personal friend of Gov. A. J. Pothier of Rhode Island and as a result they were the personal guests of the governor and were the envy of all the delegates.

The party left here early Thursday morning in Mr. Chalifoux's auto and returned last night through the feedlot ties do not conclude until this evening.

Secretary Murphy gave a most enthusiastic account of the trip to a reporter of The Sun this morning, emphasizing the manner in which Providence and the state looked after their visitors.

For the entertainment of the 4000 delegates the state appropriated $5000. The city made an appropriation and the board of trade made a collection among the business interests of the city, the entire fund for entertainment amounting to the magnificent sum of $25,000.

The entire city of Providence was gaily decorated for the visitors and open house was the rule on all sides. From the Civic square to the Narragansett hotel where the delegates made their headquarters the entire street was enlivened with an illuminated arch also decorated with bolly and evergreen.

At either end of the arch in illuminated letters three feet long was the inscription "WELCOME TO CHALIFOUX." At the other end of the arch, the greeting of old Roger Williams himself, "The Lowell delegates with the exception of Mr. Chalifoux were registered at Narragansett hotel. Mr. Chalifoux being the personal guest of the governor at his home in Woonsocket.

Gov. Pothier made use of Mr. Chalifoux's auto during the convention. The convention was held in the Providence Opera House and the Lowell men attended both sessions on Thursday which were previously reported in The Sun. On Thursday evening the delegates took 50 special cars to a beautiful summer resort known as "Rhodes on the Pawtuxet" where they were royally entertained. In honor of the guests the Casino was closed to the public for the first time in its history while a large temporary fence was built around the place so that the public could not crowd in on the visit.

On Friday morning Governor Pothier and Mr. Chalifoux came to the convention in Mr. Chalifoux's auto and were formally presented to the convention. Massachusetts was represented among the delegates by Mayor Fitzgerald, who was one of the big hits of the occasion. Mayor Fitzgerald made a strong speech in favor of the deepening of the Merrimack river so as to make it navigable to Lowell. He surprised the convention by quoting a wealth of statistics to show the great benefit to be derived by the cities of Lowell, Lawrence and Haverhill by a deeper and navigable Merrimack river.

On Friday noon the delegates to the number of 4000 took the steamer Warwick for Vane Fair, the largest clam resort in the world, while another steamer took the women delegates and the wives of the delegates in attendance to Fitch's Point, where a special clam bake was served for the delegates. Under one roof, a $2500 temporary addition to the dining hall was built, and the 4000 sat down together. The delegates sat 12 to a table, and each table had its own waiter. Words failed Mr. Murphy when he attempted to describe the meal which he said was the finest ever produced. Everything moved like clockwork and the service was excellent. After the dinner all the delegates took the steamer for a trip down the

By Mob of 2000 At Barletta in Italy

BARLETTA, Italy, Sept. 3.—Following the promulgation of an ordinance prohibiting the eating of figs because of the cholera scare at Bari, 30 miles west of here, today, a mob of 2000 persons attacked and wrecked the local sanitary office and beat the employees. Carbineers intervened and in dispersing the rioters wounded 23 persons.

A GIRDER BRIDGE

Is Being Constructed Over the Prescott Canal

The work of constructing the large triple girder bridge over the Prescott canal, near Merrimack square, which will give the Massachusetts Cotton mills an additional entrance from Canal street, is being pushed ahead rapidly by the New England Structural Co., which is doing the work.

The principal use of the bridge will be for the transfer of freight from the railroad tracks in Canal street to the yard or vice versa. The structure will be bricked in on the top and the sides by the mill which will be erected over the canal.

The modern methods of the bridge builders attract the attention of many people and at almost any time of the day a hundred or more people stop to watch the activities of the workmen.

Everything is done in a systematic manner and with clock like precision. Each man has a certain thing to do at a certain time and a little slip up by one man will cause a derangement of the system, but the workmen are well drilled and mistakes are few.

The principal attraction in connection with the construction of the bridge is the manner in which the men do the rivetting. There are several portable forges on the temporary flooring of the bridge where men get the rivets to a red heat. When the rivet is ready to be inserted in the hole the man at the forge takes the rivet in a pair of tongs and throws it to one of the rivetters, the latter catching the red hot rivet in an old nail keg. The rivet is then passed to the rivetter, it is placed in the hole and while a couple of men hold a heavy piece of iron against one end of the rivet another man applies a trip hammer, which operated by compressed air, flattens out the top of the rivet. The work is done in about a minute and there is a striking difference when compared with the manner in which the work was done a few years ago.

Many of the people who are attracted to the scene take great interest in watching the men who catch the red hot rivets in the barrel, expecting undoubtedly to see him miss one now and then, but as a general rule he has the barrel in the right place and at the right time to receive the rivet.

INJURED BOY TAKES BLAME

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—"It's my fault; don't arrest the man," said six-year-old Michael Connelly, of No. 2454 Eighth avenue, last evening after his right collarbone had been broken by contact with the mudguard of an auto in West One Hundred and Thirty-second street. The child was playing with several companions and ran in front of the machine of Matthew Goldthwaite, of No. 226 West One Hundred and Thirty-second street.

Goldthwaite brought the car to an immediate standstill as it struck the lad. Because of the boy's statement Goldthwaite was not held.

GRAND JURY SESSION

The grand jury will sit at the court house in Gorham street next Tuesday to consider local cases where probable cause of guilt has been found. While there are but six cases they are of such a serious nature that the session of the superior court to follow the sitting of the grand jury will be an important one.

The following is a list of the cases to be brought before the grand jury:

- George Giannakos, murder.
- Arthur Duchesne, rape.
- Charles I. Hebert, breaking and entering and larceny from a store in the night time.
- John J. Costello, manslaughter.
- Louis Balikos, rape.
- Joseph J. Johnson, breaking and entering and larceny.

TO COMPLETE DRYDOCK

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—The fourth contract for the completion of the great drydock at the New York navy yard, the construction of which has presented serious difficulties, was signed at the navy department yesterday. The latest contract changes the method of remuneration to the contractors, Holbrook, Cabot & Rollins, of Boston, now constructing the dock.

Owing to the insufficiency of the appropriation, the government entered into a contract with the Boston firm for the construction of the dock, payment to be made on a cost plus 10 per cent. basis. The government was given an option, should the limit of cost be increased, to substitute a new contract. That was done yesterday.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 3.—His attention rejected, Dominick Dincomello today shot and killed Mrs. Marie Diminico, the wife of his landlord, and then committed suicide.

GREAT SWIMMER

LETTER CARRIER JOHN EWING WILL SHOW SOME CLASS

Everybody in the Lowell post office is watching the wire today with his mind only partly on his work and if it were possible for the post office to shut down for the day every employee of Uncle Sam would be lined along the north shore from Beverly beach to Old Orchard.

Talk about John Daly, Pete McNally, Rose Pinnoff, Annette Kollerman, Mary Morecroft, Mickey Larkin, Percy Lynch, Ed. McCormick and Luke McLake being swimmers, it has nothing for Letter Carrier John Ewing to make them all look like a lot of dead fish. For he starts out today to swim from Old Orchard beach to Beverly on a wager. John has been doing all kinds of stunts in the water and this will be his crowning effort. In the event of making the swim he will enter the ranks of the professional swimmers with Letter Carrier Joe Egan as manager and after a tank of beer on the north shore they will go to England and swim the English channel.

Lowell Was Shy a Single Run

HAVERHILL, Sept. 3.—Haverhill defeated Lowell here yesterday by the score of 6 to 5. Securing four runs in the first inning, Haverhill took the lead, to be tied in the ninth by the visitors. Haverhill, however, secured another run in their half of the ninth, and the game. The score:

DIAMOND NOTES

Two games today. Lowell Americans vs. Sanctuary Club at 1:30 followed by Lowell-Lynn game.

The actual standing of Lowell and Fall River is as follows:
Fall River..... 57 54 51351
Lowell..... 58 55 51327

And we're temporarily out of the first division.

The Lawrence Eagle says:
Will Lowell pass Worcester in the present New England league race? The Lowell fans are hoping that such a thing will come to pass and Worcester has not got such a lead on Lowell that it can't be overcome in the time remaining between now and the close of the season of 1910.

A glance at the standing of the New England league will easily show that Lowell has a mighty good chance of getting into third place. In short, it would not be impossible for Lowell to turn the trick. Worcester is now only three and one-half games ahead of Lowell. Worcester has won 61 games and lost 50. Lowell has won 53 and lost 54. There is a difference in the percentage of 32 points. This is not a wide margin, by any means.
If Buckett should lose third place, wouldn't he be angry? You could then hear the old scout growl for miles around. Don't let it be overlooked, either, that Lowell has its eye out for that third place. The team has been playing sensational ball of late. In fact, no club in the league has played quite so consistent an article of ball in the last month as has Lowell. The team has played inside baseball, with its pitchers working well. Lowell seems strongest, too, against the best clubs. Lowell will play Lawrence three games on Monday and these games will have an important effect upon whether or not Lowell will wrest third position from Worcester.

There is a merry fight on, surely, but all the interest is not for first place. In fact, the fight for third is just now creating more interest in Lowell and Worcester than is the fight for the lead. New Bedford is conceded the pennant by the majority of the fans.

TIM AND JAKE

Base Ball Magnates at Sword's Points

The Lynn item of Wednesday has the following of interest to local as well as all the fans of the New England league circuit:

That there will soon be a parting of the ways between President Timothy H. Murnane and Secretary C. Morse of the New England league is the information coming from Boston today, based on the actions of Murnane in going over the head of Secretary Morse and raising the suspension of Pop Rising of New Bedford, who last Saturday went at Umpire Lanigan with a bat. Rising was suspended for three days by Secretary Morse, after Lanigan had reported the facts in the case, and yesterday Murnane raised the suspension after a conference with Rising and Jas. F. Smith, a heavy stockholder in the New Bedford club.

The action of Murnane came as a surprise to Morse, who was not consulted in the matter, and gave the secretary a severe jolt in his determination to eliminate rowdism from New England league yards. It is understood that it is not the first time that the president of the circuit has exercised his authority on certain teams, and not only has Mr. Morse become tired of such actions, but owners and managers of certain other teams in the league are equally disturbed.

Rising was put out of the game with Brockton at New Bedford the first time he went to bat last Saturday. He disputed a decision by Umpire Lanigan and is said to have swung the stick at the indicator holder, who, although being large of bulk, stepped in time to avoid danger. Then Rising was sent from the field, and Lanigan on Monday made his report of the matter to Secretary Morse. The latter at once issued an order to Manager Tom Dowd to keep Pop out of the game for three days.

"It was bad news to the Whalers, for with Rising out of the game it was necessary to use a pitcher in the field. Not having a very secure hold on first place because of the stiff fight Lynn is giving the club, Manager Dowd is said to have interested Mr. Smith in the matter and explained that, with Rising out of the game, the team would be so badly crippled that its chances of landing the pennant in Whitehaven this season might be severely jeopardized.

"Straightaway Rising, Dowd, Smith and Secretary McPhail of the team hurried to Boston. If they went to Mr. Morse's office they did not see that official, although the latter was in his place of business at the time they are said to have called.

"Tim Murnane was located, the situation explained to him and an offer made on behalf of the club, to pay a fine of reasonable size if the suspension were lifted and Rising allowed to go in the game against Lynn at Ocean park Tuesday afternoon. Murnane did not take long to decide that the ends of justice would be fully satisfied if a fine of $35 was imposed. It is claimed, which was paid on the spot, and permission given Rising to again don his uniform, less than 36 hours after the sentence of three days' suspension was pronounced by Secretary Morse. It is said that a contribution was taken among the New Bedford officials to raise the money."

ON THE CREASE.

The Lowell Athletics are playing the strong South Lawrence team at Fordway park, North Billerica, this afternoon.

The Lowell, Lawrence and District Soccer league opened its season, this afternoon. The game was played at Methuen, where the Manchester L. B. met the last year's champion.

The Owning team will open on Sept. 10 on its home ground with the Mathew team as its opponents. The Owning will present the strongest lineup they have had in years as they have secured, in addition to the pick of last year's team, the services of Butler, Rowbottom, Brown and others who have been playing with out-of-town teams in past years.

The North Chelmsford cricket team is playing the Fitchburg cricket team on the home grounds this afternoon.

MANCHESTER, N. H., Sept. 3.—Bill McKinnon, the Boston middleweight, who clashes with Frank Munnell of Paytonville, N. Manager Woods met him and his brother and they were immediately after the trio started in an automobile for Sullivan's farm, where McKinnon will finish his training. The club man is confident that he will win. "I am in good shape," said the sturdy boy who lowered Perry Martin's colors. "Since I fought here I have whil-

GEO. E. ROBERTS RETURNS TO BE DIRECTOR OF MINT

BEVERLY, Mass., Sept. 3.—George E. Roberts is to return to Washington as director of the mint, and A. Platt Andrews, who succeeded Mr. Roberts when the latter resigned from the place, he is now to resume, will remain in the treasury department as assistant secretary. This has been announced from the summer White House. Mr. Roberts resigned from the government service to become president of the Commercial National bank of Chicago, but since that time the institution has been merged with the Continental National bank, and Mr. Roberts has been engaged in private business pursuits.

Platt Andrews left the mint directorship when C. D. Norton was made the president's secretary.

able source it was learned at Saratoga on Wednesday that the horse has bowed both tendons and has several well known veterinarians. Two weeks ago Hildreth sent Fitz Herbert out for an exercise gallop in the way of a test. The horse broke half a mile and when he was examined in the paddock after the workout it was discovered that he was in a serious condition. Hildreth was ready to pay any price if the vets guaranteed a recovery, but he was informed that the horse's forelegs were in such condition that a cure was out of the question.

It is understood that Hildreth was on the verge of selling Fitz Herbert to Louis Whann, the purchaser of Dalmatian, but when the horse broke down Mr. Whann was notified by cable that the deal was impossible. Fitz Herbert's last appearance under saddle was at Gravesend when he won the Brooklyn handicap. He came out of that event as sound as ever, but he did not go to the post again. Hildreth decided, however, that the horse was all right and to disprove the statement he sent Fitz Herbert to Fort Erie to run in the $10,000 Dominion handicap, which was called off after the horse arrived there with Jockey Shilling.

In spite of constant clamor for a meeting at Saratoga between Fitz Herbert and Dalmatian Hildreth withdrew the sale of Hildreth from all of his engagements, thereby creating the impression that he was afraid of defeat. But now it is said that Fitz Herbert's failure to start was due to weak underpinning, which finally resulted in a hopeless breakdown. If Fitz Herbert had rammed a sound in him, it is said, Hildreth would have sold him to Mr. Whann for $50,000. As it is he will be retired to J. E. Madden's breeding farm.

Hildreth, who takes such reverses as a matter of course, thinks he has another Fitz Herbert in Novelty. He has shipped the Futurity winner together with other horses to Montreal and will probably send him to the post at Bill Bennett as well as at Toronto. Novelty is eligible for the colt division of the rich Maroon stakes to be run at Pimlico next month and Hildreth says he intends to start him. It is possible Hildreth will try to get Novelty up to the $10,000 mark before he retires for the season.

With no more racing on the New York tracks this year the new Agnew-Perkins laws went into effect Sept. 1. They prohibit "hookmaking, with or without writing"—whatever that means—and also make the directors of racing associations criminally liable for any betting that may occur on a track with or without their knowledge and consent. That the new laws will soon be tested in the courts there is no room for doubt. A civil suit has already been brought by the minority stockholders of the Coney Island Jockey club against the majority stockholders seeking forth that the calling off of the fall meeting at Sheepshead Bay is unwarranted and a financial detriment. The race has been placed on the supreme court calendar and will probably come to trial at an early date. It is intended to involve the constitutionality of the directors' liability law. Later, it is understood, there will be a test of the "hookmaking" law by withdrawing a hand book man and a bettor, but the ways and means have not as yet been decided.

In spite of bumper attendance figures it is said that the Saratoga meeting was run at a financial loss and that the subscribers to an emergency fund have been called upon to make good the deficit. It is not believed that the association lost more than $20,000, however, and this would have been impossible if the amount of the added money in stakes and overnight events had been curtailed. The Saratoga Racing Association, guided by R. T. Wilson Jr.'s extremely liberal policy, being up nearly $200,000 for the balance. It is believed there will be a reduction next season.

When Madden sold Novelty to Hildreth last spring they both said the price was $5,000. But before the Futurity somebody asked Madden how much he received for the colt. "I got $10,000," he replied. "I got $10,000," he replied. "I got $10,000," he replied.

PURSE OF $5000

Is Offered For Six Day Go-As-You-Please Race

Between the Four Veterans, Dan O'Leary, E. P. Weston, John Innes and Henry Schmehl With $1500 in Extra Prizes—O'Leary Thinks Match Will Materialize

Dan O'Leary is in high glee over the offer of a New England business man to give $5000 for a six days' go-as-you-please or walking match between himself, Edward Payson Weston, Henry Schmehl of Chicago and John Innes of Stamford, Conn., all veteran pedestrians and all still in the game.

Mr. O'Leary states that the promoter of the race offers $5000, the money to be divided as follows: 1st prize, $2000; 2d, $1500; 3rd, $1000; 4th, $500, each man to go 300 miles before he is entitled to a prize. Furthermore, the promoter offers $1000 additional to the man who will first complete 500 miles and another $1000 to the man who will beat Dan O'Leary's record of 520 1/2 miles made by him when he won the Astley belt in England in 1878. In this race Mr. O'Leary was the only American against a field of 20 Englishmen. He won the race by 20 miles. The promoter stipulates that the racers are to have no share of the gate receipts simply the purses, to assure that the race will be on the level and it is to be pulled off in either Boston, New York, Chicago or Cincinnati. Mr. O'Leary is red hot for the race and believes that the others will enter. Speaking of John Innes, Mr. O'Leary states that he is the best general athlete that ever walked a race. He is a swimmer and ice skater, and has a record as a life saver.

for him," he replied, or $12,500 for both Novelty and Hampton Court, who were turned over to Hildreth at the same time. Then somebody else asked Hildreth what he paid for Novelty and the answer was, "Eight thousand dollars." A wag who stood near remarked with a grin, Madden and Hildreth should compare notes!

PERSONALS

Miss Elizabeth Maguire, Miss Alice Masterson of this city, Mr. and Mrs. George Moore of the Boston Dental parlors, and Miss Nellie Hogan of Lawrence have returned after a very pleasant two weeks' vacation spent at Rockport, Mass.

The local exchange of the Bright and Sears Co. in Wyman's exchange, will not open tomorrow owing to the day being a holiday on the exchanges in New York and Boston.

Dr. and Mrs. Hugh Walker and Mrs. E. P. McCook left Thursday for a trip to Quebec and the Saguenay river. They will attend the Eucharistic congress in Montreal next week, and also visit Ottawa, returning to this city on Sept. 17.

Bernard Judge, the popular conductor on the Christian Hill-Pawtucketville line of the Boston & North-eastern, and Mrs. Judge are rejoicing over the arrival of a ten-pound son at their home, 42 Humphrey street, this morning. "Barney" is passing around the cigars and in return is receiving congratulations.

"Human Fish" Urged For Not Defending His Title

Compete Again

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Close friends of Charles M. Daniels, the world's greatest short distance champion, are urging him to reconsider his determination to quit and again enter competition. When "the human fish" announced his retirement a few weeks ago it was thought that the many records he had established would stand for many years, but such is not the case, however, and only recently several swimmers came very close to Daniels

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Probably no lightweight champion has ever been so severely censured for not defending his title more often than Ad Wolgast, the present holder of the emblem. Since he defeated Battling Nelson last February Wolgast has engaged in only two battles, and then with fourth raters. Several near champions have been on his trail, clamoring for a chance at the championship title, but Wolgast has paid no heed to them. Many critics blame his manager, Tom Jones, for the champion's long lay off, and others claim that Ad has become timid since he won from Nelson. Wolgast is the pugilistic surprise of the year. He beat the greatest lightweight of many moons. Experts thought he would make a great fortune in the next year or so, but the case is just the opposite, and he has about made doughnut money since his win. He has had offers galore, theatrical jobs offered him soft coin in New York, too, and he has taken advantage of none. He was offered $12,500 to bump Freddie Welsh in England, but that was dimmed overboard, and now a fat purse is offered him to go with Mackey McFarland. Will he accept?

Referred Feeble Minded Bill to Mayor and City Council

As a result of the city solicitor's opinion relative to the payment of that much talked of feeble-minded bill, the board of charities, at a meeting held last night, voted to refer it to the mayor and city council. The solicitor, in his opinion, stated that if the bill had been considered and provided for when the appropriation was made for the charity department for the year 1910 it should be paid by the charity department, and if it had been properly provided for an appropriation should be made to meet it.

The feeble-minded bill, so called, was not considered in the estimate or appropriation for the charity department for 1910 and that being the case a special appropriation will have to be made. That is why the matter was referred to the mayor and city council.

The city solicitor's opinion was not quite satisfactory to the board. The opinion was published in The Sun yesterday. Dr. J. J. McCarthy, chairman, said that the city solicitor did not make full answer to the board's request for an opinion on the matter.

"I don't know where to go to get any proof or any evidence that there was a special amount appropriated for this special bill," said the chairman. "The city solicitor has overlooked or at least does not refer to the sections I referred to in my letter to him."

"In my letter I referred to the estimate for 1910; also the municipal register for 1909; page 60, section 4; ordinance for appropriation section 1, paragraphs 2, 3 and 4; section 3 and paragraph 3 of said section; page 48, section 8 of the charter, and any other laws or ordinances which may in any way refer to this question."

On motion of Mr. Howe the matter was referred to the mayor and city council. It was the opinion of the members of the board that the city solicitor's opinion meant that the committee on appropriations should make a special appropriation for the feeble-minded bill.

Chairman McCarthy called attention to a bill of $24,448 for unloading coal for the city farm. Mr. Howe allowed it would be a good plan to ask the railroad to run a spur track to the farm. He said it would save considerable money, and agreed to look up the facts.

"ORDOVA, Alaska, Sept. 3.—Atty. Gen. George W. Vickersham and Secretary of Commerce and Labor Charles Nagel sailed for Seattle yesterday on the government steamship Albatross on the last leg of a trip through Alaska that has occupied more than a month. The Albatross is due at Seattle Monday. The government officers said they were unable to express their surprise at the wonderful things they have seen.

"We came to see a little place called Alaska, but discovered an empire," said Atty. Gen. Vickersham. "I realize more and more the importance of opening the coal lands, and after we have a talk with the president he may have some recommendations that will result in straightening out the present tangle. The great necessity of Alaska is railroad transportation, as upon it depends the adequate development of mines and agricultural lands."

IMPORT TRADE

WAS A RECORD BREAKER THE PAST YEAR

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Uncle Sam's import trade under the Payne-Aldrich tariff law during the past year was a record-breaker, according to the government's statistical experts. Under this law during the 12 months ending July 31 last, imports aggregating $1,552,600,000 came into the United States. Of this vast total $744,600,000 was listed as dutiable, while $768,000,000 entered free of duty. Although it was the first year of the Payne-Aldrich law it eclipsed all former records under the Dingley, Wilson and McKinley laws. Until the Payne-Aldrich law became effective Aug. 1, 1909, the banner year of the previous 18 years had been 1907, when under the Dingley act an aggregate of $1,456,500,000 of imports was recorded.

Custom receipts during the past year amounted to $327,000,000, which was more than seventeen million dollars in excess of the previous year under the Dingley act. The customs receipts during each of the 18 years preceding 1910 showed a much less encouraging record, except in 1904 and 1907, when the customs receipts exceeded last year's total. During the past year March showed larger customs receipts than any other month during that period with a total of $33,709,000.

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 3.—A triune celebration of ten days' duration and which is being participated in by prominent delegates of priests and laymen in the Anglican world was opened at Halifax this morning. The attendance includes two archbishops, hundreds of other clergy and many of the laity interested in church work. In recognition of the bi-centenary anniversary of the establishment of the Anglican church in Canada, the real occasion of the celebration, King George IV, the temporal head of the church of England, presented a magnificent copy of the book of common prayer to the church in this country. The book was brought from England by Right Rev. Arthur Polley, minister of the Anglican church in London. It is an elaborately bound volume, dedicated in memory of Bishop Blinney who died in 1841. There was an immense procession of vested clergy from all parts of Canada and the United States and many from England. After the dedication of the cathedral a luncheon was held in Masonic hall, after which the visitors were entertained by the city in the public gardens.

IMPORT TRADE

WAS A RECORD BREAKER THE PAST YEAR

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Uncle Sam's import trade under the Payne-Aldrich tariff law during the past year was a record-breaker, according to the government's statistical experts. Under this law during the 12 months ending July 31 last, imports aggregating $1,552,600,000 came into the United States. Of this vast total $744,600,000 was listed as dutiable, while $768,000,000 entered free of duty. Although it was the first year of the Payne-Aldrich law it eclipsed all former records under the Dingley, Wilson and McKinley laws. Until the Payne-Aldrich law became effective Aug. 1, 1909, the banner year of the previous 18 years had been 1907, when under the Dingley act an aggregate of $1,456,500,000 of imports was recorded.

Custom receipts during the past year amounted to $327,000,000, which was more than seventeen million dollars in excess of the previous year under the Dingley act. The customs receipts during each of the 18 years preceding 1910 showed a much less encouraging record, except in 1904 and 1907, when the customs receipts exceeded last year's total. During the past year March showed larger customs receipts than any other month during that period with a total of $33,709,000.

THE FIFTH DISTRICT DEMOCRACY SHOULD WAKE UP

Just a few words with the democrats of the Fifth district. It would be utterly disgraceful to the democracy of the Fifth district if a vigorous fight be not made to elect a democratic congressman this fall and thus to strike a blow at the trust rule and tariff extortion that prevails under the protecting aegis of the republican party.

Some of our democrats may not realize the extent to which the present tariff bears down upon the toilers, taxing heavily the necessities of life and letting luxuries come in at a moderate rate. Of this we shall here cite but a few examples. Champagne, for example, is admitted at from 54 to 66 per cent. whilst wearing apparel is taxed from 80 to 92. The wealthy few must have their champagne at a moderate price but the masses must pay 92 per cent. on clothing.

Another example of discrimination against the poor is found in the duty on hats. Those hats bringing not over $4.50 a dozen are taxed 77 per cent. while those valued at $18 a dozen are taxed only 47 per cent., a difference of 30 per cent. in favor of those who can afford the more expensive style. The cheaper hats are worn by the toilers, the more expensive by the wealthy few.

The imposts in the woolen schedule are so high as to bar foreign competition altogether except on very high priced goods purchased only by the wealthy consumer to whom the matter of price is a secondary consideration. In this case also the poor people feel the discrimination.

It was formerly held that the importer pays the tariff, and so he does, but he adds it to the price of the imported products, and thus the American consumer is compelled to pay it back. The case is even worse when a trust on finding a prohibition tariff in force puts up the price to the line where foreign competition begins. This is little short of public plunder. It is this that enables the trusts to sell their products in Europe and Asia at prices 25 per cent. lower than to the American consumer.

This is what the voters of the Fifth district are getting under republican rule.

Are they going to submit to this deliberate extortion without a struggle? Will they allow themselves to be sold out or betrayed by supposed democrats? This is a time when the people should fight their own battle. If they don't they will have to bear their present burdens or one even worse for years to come.

Let the old Fighting Fifth do its full duty by nominating a strong candidate for congress and then going in to elect him.

THE SPECIAL EDITIONS OF FAKE PAPERS

The Springfield Union has a few words to say in reference to the fake New York newspapers that send out the "seventh" and "eighth" evening edition all printed in the early morning. The Union has reference particularly to the editions that reached Springfield on the day Mayor Gaynor was shot. They blazoned in large letters the news of the early morning, but had not a single word of the general news of the day, and were silent as clams on the great event of the attempted assassination of Mayor Gaynor.

The Union is right when it says that the so-called "seventh" edition of those so-called evening papers, is printed about seven o'clock in the morning, and the "eighth" evening edition, about an hour later, otherwise it would be an impossibility to get them into New England for sale during the noon hour, or in the early afternoon.

Here in Lowell we had an illustration of this same method of imposing upon the public when a Wednesday morning special edition appeared purporting to give a full account of the big Hibernian parade. As a matter of fact the paper had nothing definite about the day's proceedings, with the exception of a few pictures, and even these were misleading and inaccurate. This is what the people may expect when they buy early editions of sensational papers purporting to give the news of the day.

The Sun can get all the important news of the civilized world up to the moment of going to press, and it can put an edition on the street as fast as any paper in the United States. It might, therefore, be supposed that when the fake sheets appear on the street even the unintelligent reader would understand that the very best that can be expected of them is to be five or six hours behind The Sun in the live news of the day. Unfortunately many do not seem to see the difference, but it must be said that they are the people who buy a paper for funny pictures rather than the live news of the world.

LABOR DAY OUTLOOK

Labor day this year finds comparatively few conflicts between capital and labor. Of course there is widespread discontent and unrest owing to the high cost of living and the fact that wages have not advanced in the same proportion as did the prices of commodities.

In spite of this, however, the labor forces are showing a good deal of conservatism. They are wisely avoiding, wherever possible, the expensive luxury of declaring strikes. It has often happened that strikes have been declared in this city for the most trifling causes, notwithstanding that they involved the only means of support for thousands of people. These strikes injured not only the operatives but the factories in which they occurred, and today some of our local factories are suffering from reverses that had their origin in lost markets caused by strikes that a little tact and diplomacy might have averted. The effort of one side to force the other into submission is what has ruined many a mill and broken up many a labor union. If the spirit of mutual resistance be supplanted by that of mutual concession and compromise, there will be fewer strikes and a better feeling will exist between employers and their help.

Had Restelli or Capaldi committed their crimes in Lowell they would now be behind prison bars like the crooks who came in to do this town a few days ago.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

The 100th anniversary of the independence of Chile is to be celebrated in London September 30 by an elaborate banquet. Lord Aldenham, one of London's "important persons," has been chosen to preside at the banquet. He is a member of the firm of Anthony, Gibbs & Co., which has been engaged in the South American trade for 100 years or more.

The new chairman of the Democratic executive committee of Texas is Colonel Sheb. Williams of Paris. Colonel Williams is a farmer and business man, and his election to head the state committee has brought to light the fact that it is the first time in the history of that body that its chairman has been chosen from outside the legal profession.

The editor of the Courier met Joel Little Bird one day last week and he handed him a dollar on subscription, says the Courier, Oklahoma, Courier. Joel had stayed at home and tended his crops this season while nearly all the other Indians in the district were chasing around over the country, visiting, dancing and idling away their time. He has made a fair crop of corn and some oats. He has three acres of alfalfa corn that his neighbors estimate will yield 50 bushels to the acre. He has raised some potatoes and other things to eat and has no reason to worry about horse feed for what he will live on this winter, which is better than putting in the summer painting his face and wearing feathers and then being on the verge of starvation all winter. Joel is a real American Indian farmer and one of the best, besides he is a good citizen.

Mrs. Mary Powell of Philadelphia, aged 70, went from Manitowish to the top of Pike Peak and back the other day. She did not make the summit. She made a leisurely trip to the summit before dark and returned by moonlight.

Through a cablegram received from Paris has become known that Mrs. Marian Stoll of Philadelphia has done some record mountain-climbing in the Tyrolean Alps. The message said that Mrs. Stoll had been to the top of Mount Winklerturm, and that she is the only woman in the world to have accomplished this feat. J. Leon Stoll, husband of Mrs. Stoll, is an engineer with the Philadelphia Electric company. He did not know that his wife had established a record for mountain climbing until the cablegram was read to him, says a Philadelphia newspaper. He had received a letter from his wife that said she had been to the top of the "Bettelwurf," a peak of the Alps, 8,500 feet, or a mile and a half above sea level.

Mrs. Stoll is about twenty-nine years old, and she has been abroad for two years studying art in the "Kunstgewerbeschule," or the School of Applied and Industrial Art in Munich. She intends to return to this country in November. Although she had climbed mountains when she was in Europe on two previous occasions, she did not indulge in the hazardous undertaking in order to establish a record of any kind. She and her husband had often trodden through dangerous and obscure places while they were on vacations, and Mrs. Stoll always said that she tried to reach the top of mountain peaks just for postume.

In the early part of July Mrs. Stoll ascended the Bettelwurf and other high peaks in the "Karwendel." When she wrote to her husband she said she intended to go through the "Zillertal," "Pfunderthal," "Brixental," "Grossglockner" and other peaks that have been traversed more or less frequently by men tourists. It is believed that Mrs. Stoll started for Mount Winklerturm from the Hotel Giselkufstein in Austria. Her husband is awaiting another letter, for he thinks that she will tell him all about her recent ascent of Winklerturm.

According to the dispatch received from Paris, the feat of Mrs. Stoll has created widespread comment among tourists and natives in the Tyrol. It is believed that she risked her life in order to perform the task, for many peaks that she had reached are considered almost inaccessible even to guides. Mrs. Stoll was Miss Marian Buck of Waterbury, Conn. She met her husband while studying art at the Drexel Institute, and while Mr. Stoll was studying electrical engineering there.

The story is going around that the New York policemen who have been on duty around where the woman suffered.

CHILDREN'S HAIR

Proper Treatment of the Scalp in Childhood.

Much harm results from washing a child's head with the usual soaps and shampoos, as most of them contain too much alkali. This makes the scalp rough and dry, and often leads to a diseased condition which causes the hair to fall out as the child becomes older. Mothers are strongly advised to use Birt's Head Wash, the new anti-dandruff shampoo that is made of refined neutral soap (containing no free alkali), white of eggs, coconut oil, glycerine and salicylic acid. It removes every particle of dirt, all disease germs and leaves the scalp soft and pink, and the hair vigorous and glossy. A child whose head is kept clean with Birt's Head Wash will never have dandruff, and the hair roots will be kept in such a healthy condition that the hair will not fall out as the years pass. 25c, 50c.

fragments have been holding their open-air meeting this summer have been most chivalrous, and if they do not yet believe in woman suffrage they are in a fair way to become converted. These guardians of the law have taken a fatherly interest in the speakers. On one occasion, when the evening air and the roar of Broadway began to tell on feminine vocal cords, and there was an ominous crack in the speaker's voice, some one touched her arm, and she turned to find a policeman at her side offering a glass of soda water. Once a stalwart member of the force even offered to carry back the orator's soap box to the corner grocery, from which it had been borrowed in haste. In less than a word, the women in charge of the meeting refused to allow such a sacrifice of official dignity. At another meeting a policeman gave what is considered the final proof of devotion to the cause. In response to the contemplative inquiry of a bystander, "How would you like to have men judges?" a blue-coated champion responded: "I'd just as soon have women judges as men. I think a woman judge would be great."

At the age of 125—so she says—Frau Dukilevitz of Posen, Prussian Poland, has a rival for the distinction she claimed of being the oldest woman in the world. Frau Dukilevitz says she was born on Feb. 21, 1785. Now comes a story from Bulgaria of a peasant woman still living who declares she was born in May, 1784, nine months before the Polish dame, and her family hold that she is the oldest woman alive today.

U. S. FOREIGN TRADE

Comparative 1909 and 1910 figures of the trade of the United States with the principal grand divisions and countries of the world for the month of July and the 7-month period ending July have just been completed by the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor. While both the total imports and exports for the month were about 5 million dollars larger than during July of last year, the monthly imports from and exports to Europe show some decreases. The imports from North and South America, Asia and Oceania shows satisfactory increases both on the import and export sides.

For the 7-month period ending July considerable gains over last year's figures are shown by the imports from the principal countries except France, Italy, British India, Japan and particularly Brazil. The decline in imports from Brazil is due to the smaller receipts during the present year, of Brazilian coffee, which were particularly heavy during the early part of 1909. The large gain in the imports from Cuba during the 7-month period of the present year is primarily due to the larger receipts of higher-priced sugar from that island. Exports during the 7-month period to the leading Asiatic and European countries, except Germany and Russia, were smaller than a year ago, but those to leading American countries made considerable gains. The decrease of exports to Europe is accounted for mainly by the smaller quantity and value of foodstuffs shipped to those countries, and the decline of exports to China is due chiefly to the reduced exports of cotton cloth to that country. Our total exports to Japan, notwithstanding the increases under many heads, show a slight decline for the period under consideration, because of the large decrease in the Japanese takings of our raw cotton. The value of our exports to Canada during the 7 months of the present year was more than 30 per cent. larger than during the corresponding period of 1909.

To be Shut Out of Revere

REVERE, Sept. 3.—An innocent-looking vote, passed by the Revere selectmen at their last meeting, is in reality a joker that will result in entirely preventing automobile traffic through Revere beach Saturday, Sunday and Monday between the hours of 2 and 10 p. m. As a count kept by the officials has shown that over 400 automobiles sometimes pass along the beach drive in an hour on a busy Sunday or holiday, the inconvenience to motorists along the north shore will be considerable till after Labor day.

The metropolitan park commissioners have for several years shut off motor travel on the beach front from Pilot street to Revere street Saturdays, Sundays and holidays from 3 till 10 p. m. This has caused automobile traffic to pass through Ocean avenue, a narrow street parallel with the boulevard. The resulting congestion has caused considerable anxiety to the town officials who are responsible for the public safety on Ocean avenue.

Several weeks ago the selectmen passed an order closing Ocean avenue to motor vehicles the same hours as the boulevard is closed to them. This order, however, could not become effective until after a hearing and approval by the state highway commissioners. The hearing was held, but up to date the highway commissioners have announced no decision.

MARRIED AGAIN

THREE HOURS AFTER HE BURIED THIRD WIFE

NORWICH, Conn., Sept. 3.—Oliver H. Rudd, a well-to-do farmer of Preston City, four miles from here, created a sensation Thursday by taking a fourth wife three hours after burying his third in the Yantic cemetery in this city.

Wife No. 3 was an inmate of the Norwich hospital for the insane and died there Tuesday. The funeral services were conducted at a local undertaker's rooms at 1:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon, Rev. C. A. Northrop of this city officiating.

Mr. Rudd was driven from the cemetery directly to Town Clerk Shedd's office in Preston City, where he procured a marriage license and was married by Rev. N. B. Prindle of the Preston City Baptist church to Mrs. Jennie Johnson of Norwich. The minister decried at marrying Mr. Rudd under the circumstances, but when informed by the newly-made widower that he was resolved to marry at all events, he reluctantly consented to perform the ceremony.

Mr. Rudd is 75 years old and his bride 56. His deceased wife was 30, her marriage to him taking place six years ago. The groom is a civil war veteran and draws a pension from the government.

WONDERFUL CURE OF SORE HANDS

Skin Peeled and Flesh Got Hard and Broke—Blood Flowed in Fifty Places—"Single Box of Cuticura Ended Suffering."

About eleven years ago I was troubled with sore hands, so sore that when I would put them in water the pain would very nearly set me crazy, the skin would peel off and the flesh would get hard and break. There would be blood flowing from at least fifty places on each hand. Words could never tell the suffering I endured for three years. I tried everything that I was told to use for fully three years, but could get no relief. I tried at least eight different doctors, but none of them seemed to do me any good, as my hands were as bad when I got through doctoring as when I first began. I also tried many remedies, but none of them ever did me one cent's worth of good. I was discouraged and heartless. I would feel so bad mornings when I got up, to think I had to go to work and stand the pain for ten hours, and I often felt like giving up my position.

Before I started to work mornings I would have to wrap every finger up separately, so as to try and keep them soft and then wear gloves over the rags to keep the grease from getting on my work. At night I would have to wear gloves in bed. In fact, I had to wear gloves all the time. After doctoring for three years, and spending much money, a single box of Cuticura Ointment ended all my sufferings. It's been eight years since I used any and I don't know what sore hands are now, and never lost a day's work while using Cuticura Ointment. (Signed) THOMAS A. CLANCY, Nov. 11, 1909. 310 N. # JOSEPH A. HOLMES DR. HARVEY CRIPPEN AND MISS LE NEVE TO FACE COURT FROM STANCH IRON DOCK

Made Director of the New Bureau of Mines

BEVERLY, Sept. 3.—President Taft last night announced the appointment of Joseph A. Holmes as director of the geological survey, as director of the new bureau of mines at Washington.

Dr. Holmes had been selected for the place some time ago, but his appointment was held up. It is understood here, on the ground that Secretary Ballinger, in whose department the new bureau was placed was opposed to him.

Dr. Holmes is the intimate personal friend of Gifford Pinchot, James R. Garfield and F. H. Newell, director of the reclamation service, all three of whom sharply criticized Mr. Ballinger, on the witness stand of the Ballinger-Pinchot inquiry.

It is reported here that Secretary Ballinger felt Dr. Holmes might have had a hand in what he termed the "conspiracy" against him. Friends of Dr. Holmes, while admitting the latter's close association and friendship with Messrs. Pinchot, Garfield and Newell, declared nevertheless that he had taken no active part in the campaign against Mr. Ballinger.

The indorsement of Dr. Holmes for the place was almost unanimous. It came from the mine operators and the miners' organizations alike. The purpose of the new bureau is to investigate and report upon safety appliances to prevent the awful waste of life annually. The bureau will also make an investigation looking to the improvement of methods of mining.

Dr. Holmes is a native of South Carolina. For 10 years he was professor of geology and natural history at the university of North Carolina and from 1891 to 1904 was state geologist of North Carolina.

A staff of engineers and experts will be transferred with Dr. Holmes from the geological survey to the bureau of mines. George Otis Smith, director of the geological survey, has been acting as director of the bureau pending permanent appointment by the president.

Civil Service Extension
President Taft is contemplating and probably will issue soon after his return to Washington from Beverly, an executive order putting all assistant postmasters and the permanent clerks at money order postoffices under the civil service.

Postmaster General Hitchcock recommended this step to the president some time ago and he has been considering it. Yesterday the president talked the matter over with R. H. Dana, president of the national civil service reform league. Mr. Dana will take the question up with his cabinet the latter part of this month and finally dispose of it. Mr. Hitchcock thinks the order will work a great improvement in the postal service.

President Taft has a long list of matters to take up with his cabinet advisors. He will reach Washington Sept.

21, for a ten days' stay and the cabinet will be in practically continuous session Sept. 26, 27 and 28. All the members of the cabinet, whose families are still out of town, will be the president's guests at a "stag" party at the White House.

Supreme Court Vacancies

One of the principal subjects to be discussed will be the forthcoming appointments to the United States Supreme court. Mr. Taft will have to fill the vacancies created by the death of Chief Justice Fuller and the prospective retirement of Associate Justice Moody. It seems pretty well settled that Gov. Hughes of New York, who already has been confirmed as an associate justice, will be designated as chief justice. This will leave two associate justices to be appointed.

The president stated again yesterday that it was not his purpose to call an extraordinary session of the senate to confirm the appointments. They will wait until the regular session of congress begins.

Mr. Taft has stated in several speeches that he holds the supreme court to be one of the most sacred things of this government and the appointment of men to that bench as one of the most sacred duties of the president. He has stated also that he does not want to suggest that he is hurrying the court in its deliberations by calling an extra session. He also desires plenty of time to consider the various available candidates and to listen to all suggestions coming from responsible sources.

No Campaign Speeches

President Taft also will take up with his cabinet in Washington the final plans for putting the postal savings banks in operation. He will discuss the estimates for the coming fiscal year with the heads of the various departments and try to hold them down wherever possible. The economy plans for conducting the various departments and the best means of using the $100,000 appropriation for the improvement of business methods also will be discussed.

There is little or no chance that President Taft will make any speeches during the coming campaign. He has declared that his letter to Chairman McKinley of the republican congressional committee accurately states all that he has to say of the issues. The president will speak before the National league of republican clubs at New York, Sept. 20, along general lines.

Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the army, talked with the president for several hours yesterday regarding estimates for the army. Oddly enough, Lieut. Gen. Nelson A. Miles, formerly commanding general of the army, also called on the president yesterday afternoon. Gen. Miles is visiting friends at Swampscott and his visit was purely social.

Foster V. Brown of Tennessee, attorney general of Porto Rico, took up several matters affecting that island with the president. He also discussed the political situation in Tennessee. Ex-Gov. John L. Bates of Massachusetts paid a call of respect on the president.

CONCERTS AT CANOBIE LAKE

The band concert at Canobie Lake park tomorrow afternoon will be furnished by the Nashua Military band under the direction of Conductor Ralph W. Holt. In the evening at 8 o'clock a sacred concert will be given by Gorman's Comedy company, to be followed by an exhibition of moving pictures.

Following is the program for the band concert: March, "Battle of Gettysburg"; Missed; overture, "Morning, Noon and Night"; Supper; selection, "Solange"; Reeves; trombone solo, selected, Mr. C. S. Sturtevant; popular medley, "America"; Harris; concert waltz, "A Joyous Mind Through Life to Find"; Fahrbach; characteristic march, descriptive, "The Night Alarm"; Reeves; polka, "From Martha"; Plotow; patrol, "The Blue and the Grey" (by request); Dabney; comic opera selection, "Bright Eyes"; Hoschna; finale march, "From Tropic to Tropic"; Alexander; Star Spangled Banner.

For Man Supposed to be Capsalis

KENNEBUNK, Me., Sept. 3.—There was an exciting chase and capture in the western part of the town early yesterday morning. Fred J. Wicher, deputy sheriff, received word that Nicholas Capsalis, the Somersworth murderer suspect, would pass through here on a freight train. Wicher waited for his man, but could not get another officer to stay with him.

IN CONTROL OF THE GLOUCESTER GAS COMPANY

GLOUCESTER, Sept. 3.—At a meeting Thursday afternoon of six of the majority of the stockholders of the Gloucester gas light company, including the Friend estate holdings of Boston, at the rooms of the Gloucester safe deposit and trust company, it was voted to sell a controlling interest in the stock to the Massachusetts lighting company of Boston.

Negotiations to this end have been in progress for the past month. Yesterday the final papers in the transaction were passed in Boston. The matter has been very secretly conducted, so much so that numerous of the local holders of stock were entirely unaware of what has been going on.

Quite a block of the stock is held here, but the heaviest stockholder is reported to be a Boston man. Mrs. Fred L. Davis, wife of a prominent business man, owns a block and they know nothing whatever of the projected change. The explanation here is that the Boston stockholders who are in a majority have placed their block on the market, at what price local holders do not know.

The Gloucester gas company stock is considered the gilt edge local corporation stock of Gloucester. Its stock, issued at $50 per share, is closely held and is quoted, when sold, at double its par value. The property is in fine physical condition and under Supt. Coggin has paid handsome dividends.

It is understood that for the past year efforts have been quietly made to secure what could be had of this stock. Its manufacturing plant is on the water front and it obtains all its coal by water. The price for gas here is $1.20 per thousand with a 10 per cent. discount for prompt monthly payment.

DRACUT

The outfit of the members of the Dracut Young Men's Republican club, which was scheduled to take place at Willow Dale next Thursday, will probably be postponed inasmuch as several of the prominent speakers who were expected to be present have other engagements for that day.

COINAGE OF GOLD

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Coinage of gold in the United States will be suspended for an indefinite period, it plans now forming in the treasury department are adopted. The idea is to issue gold certificates for all gold bullion and foreign coin turned into the mint, instead of coining them into eagles and double eagles.

STRIKE IS ENDED

70,000 Garment Workers Will Return to Their Work

NEW YORK, September 3.—The cloakmakers' strike, one of the greatest industrial disturbances in the history of American labor, was settled last night. Seventy thousand garment workers, who have been idle for nine weeks, will shortly return to work. Ten thousand of them and those dependent upon them—50,000 souls in all—were on the point of eviction and hundreds of them had already been forced into the streets. The industrial loss to employers and employees has run high into the millions. In loss of wages alone the total has been estimated at more than $10,000,000, while the loss to manufacturers, jobbers and retailers, the country over, has been computed at ten times that amount.

Julius Henry Cohen, counsel for the manufacturers' association, describes the agreement signed by him and representatives of the strikers in this sentence:

"No principle has been surrendered by the manufacturers, yet, the union may truly claim that they have won a great victory for their people."

One feature of the settlement, important not only to the strikers, but to all contract work at home. Hereafter, garments made in New York will be manufactured under sanitary conditions. There will be no more sweat shops.

The rock on which all previous efforts at a settlement split was the closed shop. That rock is avoided by the adoption of the "preferential union shop" idea, for which Louis D. Brandeis, of Boston, counsel for Glavin in the Pinchot-Ballinger hearing, is given full credit.

In the articles of agreement, the idea is thus described:

"Each member of the manufacturers is to maintain a union shop; a union shop being understood to refer to a shop where union standards as to working conditions, hours of labor and level of wages prevail, and where, when hiring help, union men are preferred; it being recognized that since there are differences of degree of skill, employers shall have the selection as between the union man and another, and shall not be confined to any list, nor bound to follow any prescribed order whatever."

Other articles provide for:

(1) Free electric power.

(2) No work at home.

(3) Discipline of any manufacturer proved guilty of discrimination of his employees.

(4) Six work days a week and a cash weekly pay day.

(5) All sub-contracting within shops abolished.

(6) Nine hours' work a day; five days a week, and five hours the sixth day.

(7)—The price of piece work to be agreed upon by a committee of employees and their employers.

(8)—Double pay for overtime.

Taft had been "foolish" statement with the following declaration, remarkable for one in his position:

"Trade unions are not only necessary, but must be guided and strengthened. I shall urge all my clients to use every legitimate means to that end and shall urge upon them strongly that each present employee in their shops join the union. You must help by urging your people to be peaceable and quiet in returning to their work and in meeting those who are now union men."

The settlement of the strike averts a crisis on the crowded East Side. With thousands out of work and unable to pay rent, the courts were literally swamped with eviction proceedings and there arose the prospect of thousands of mothers and children being rendered homeless. Many were evicted yesterday, but it is believed that landlords, apprised of the adjustment will now grant several days of grace.

SHOE WORKERS CHAS. HAMLIN

Have Voted to Return to Work Denounces the Payne-Aldrich Tariff Act

SALEM, Sept. 3.—By votes passed at the meetings of the United Shoo Workers and the Knights of Labor cutters last night the striking shoo workers will on Tuesday next return to work in three of the large factories of the city, those of F. J. Brown & Sons, E. S. Woodbury & Co., and P. A. Fields. In each of these cases, the manufacturers were either signed or signified their willingness to sign agreements which will mean the recognition of the union for which the strikers fought. Terms have not yet been reached with the L. G. Straw & Dunham company, where the strike originated, and Hopkings & Sons, and unless they are reached before Tuesday the men in those shops will not return to work at that time. Nearly 500 men were concerned in the strike. Of this number, 350 by the vote last night will resume work next week. Seventeen hundred other employees who were obliged to lay off because of the strike will also return next week.

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 3.—Declaring that the Payne-Aldrich tariff act was the greatest outrage ever perpetrated on the public and that even President Taft had been "fooled and betrayed," and denouncing the act as a "betrayal" on the high cost of living, Charles S. Hamlin, of Boston, made a fiery address before a large assemblage of democrats here last evening. He declared that President Taft's speech at Winona was a frank avowal of the fact that he had been unsuspectingly led into a tariff proposition, "foolish," in addition to Mr. Hamlin's addresses were made by George F. Haley of Saco, and W. M. Pennell, a congressional candidate. Mr. Pennell spoke of the evils of high protection as he sees them in decay of shipping and loss of trade in Portland. All of the speakers declared for reciprocity with Canada.

GOV. HARMON

WANTS GRAND JURY TO PROBE STREET CAR STRIKE

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 3.—Governor Harmon yesterday called upon Attorney General Dennison to take up a grand jury investigation of the Newark lynching.

Governor Harmon also issued a statement in which he declined to call on the Columbus railway and light company, to arbitrate the strike, as requested by state labor leaders. The governor gave a proclamation in which he urged the people of the state to attend the state fair next week, assuring them of "perfect safety."

ATTACKS GIRLS

MANIAC CLUBS ONE TO INSENSIBILITY WITH REVOLVER

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., Sept. 3.—The entire police force of this city and of neighboring villages is hunting a maniac who, without reason, attacked two girls in a field near here yesterday afternoon, beat one of them into insensibility with the butt of his revolver, placed the muzzle to the breast of the other and then, suddenly changing his mind, fled. The man said he was a New York detective.

The two girls were Lillian Sherman, 14 years old, and Lydia Fitzgerald, 20. Miss Sherman's condition is critical.

PASTOR ARRESTED

DURHAM, Conn., Sept. 3.—Charged with misappropriating certain church and society funds, Rev. Chester H. Sweet, until a few months ago pastor of the local Congregational church, was arrested yesterday afternoon before a justice of the peace and held for trial in the superior court. He gave the required bond. Mr. Sweet, who is about 29 years old and married, was arrested at New Haven earlier in the day and brought here for a hearing. He came to Durham from Boston.

TRAINMEN KILLED

AND MANY PASSENGERS WERE INJURED

SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 3.—Two trainmen were killed and several passengers injured in a head-on collision of passenger trains on the Pennsylvania division of the Erie railroad yesterday afternoon. The trains came together on a single track near Lake Ariel. The dead are:

DAN SMITH, engineer.

JOHN B. MILLER, fireman on the eastbound train.

HAIR IN SUMMER

IN summer, when one is living much in the open, the hair is apt to fall out more readily than at any other season of the year. Dust is the cause of most of this tribulation, for the dust of the present day is not the harmless dust of old time roads. It is laden with filth and oil from roads traveled by hundreds of automobiles and comes in thick clouds instead of thin, as from a carriage. I refer particularly to the woman who lives an outdoor life and particularly she who motors during the summer and early fall months. In order to see just how much dust can accumulate in the hair in a day of automobile taking a perfectly clean brush and after a few strokes rub the brush well with a Turkish towel. Each place where the fingers hold the towel will be defined with black smudges, and by the time the head has been entirely brushed the towel will be streaked with grime from end to end. The harm to the hair with this sticky dust forming a veritable paste at the roots can be imagined.

Daily brushings are not enough to combat the dust. There should be a shampoo given every ten days with soft water and pure soap. When the hair is perfectly dry a good tonic should be rubbed into the scalp, one without any greasy properties, for that would mean a foundation for the next batch of dust to adhere to. After the tonic is on the hair should again dry out entirely, a sun bath being given if possible.

Blond hair has to be washed more frequently than dark hair for the sake of its color, as it soils as easily as chiffon with dust and grit. To its beauty the smoke and cinders of a trip by train are fatal, and a shampoo should be given as soon as possible at the end of the journey. Dark hair, as it does not show the effects of travel stain as easily, stands in far greater danger of injury, and the harm done when the accumulation of grime is not noticed is incalculable.

Too much sun is bad for hair of any color. It not only dries out all the natural oil, but bleaches and coarsens fair hair to an effect of old rope or straw and gives a curious rusty appearance to dark hair.

Salt water has the same effect, besides often rotting the roots of the hair, this last calamity occurring when the hair is dried in the sun on the beach. If the hair when bathing gets wet and is dried before returning to the house it should as soon as possible be washed out in fresh water. A tonic should be rubbed into the roots, and the drying should be done with a fan and rubbing by hand. The scalp, too, should be thoroughly massaged and the hair brushed well when dry. This starts a good circulation, which is very necessary for healthy hair.

A FAT REDUCER.

Before starting to starve or drug off your extra layers of fat try the effect of this simple exercise, which is a mighty reducer of "too, too solid flesh."

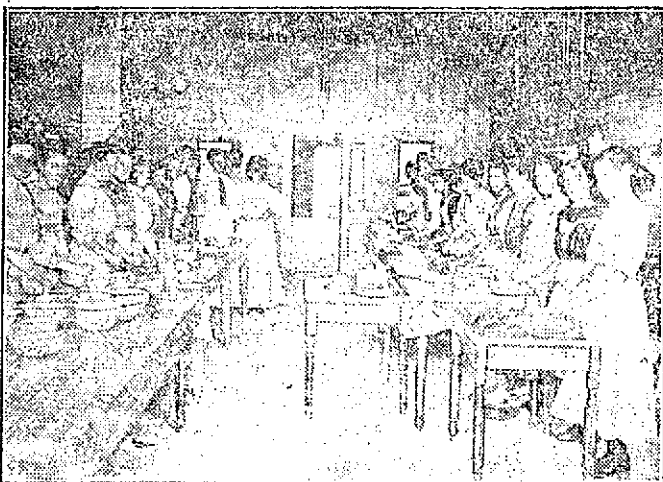

Standing with knees close together, rise on the tips of the toes and at the same time elevate the chest and force down the palms of the hands as if pushing hard on a board. Bend the hands up slightly so the muscular strain comes on the fleshy part of the hand close to the wrist.

Do this exercise whenever you happen to think of it during the day and you will soon notice a decided difference in your flesh, particularly in a prominent abdomen.

USEFUL BITS OF VELVET.

No bought powder puff or chamale skin can be better for puffing powder upon the skin than a bit of velvet. It feels good, costs nothing, can be thrown away when soiled even in the least and is satisfactory in every way. A piece of black velvet also makes an excellent penwiper.

MOVABLE SCHOOLS IN HOME ECONOMICS

A LESSON IN COOKING GIVEN TO HOUSEWIVES.

DURING the past few years the college extension department of the Kansas State Agricultural college has sent out a domestic science lecturer to give demonstrations for the housewives at the farmers' institutes. The demand for this work grew so strong that out of this demand developed the idea of the movable school in cooking and sewing, which is now in operation. The college sends out two people for each school. Each instructor takes with her as an assistant a graduate of the domestic science department. A local committee is appointed, generally by the local farmers' institute. This committee provides entertainment for the teachers, a suitable hall, at least one good range and a two burner gas or gasoline stove for each member of the class. Besides this the local committee is required to furnish all the supplies, such as flour, vegetables, meat, etc. This expense is usually covered by the membership fee of $1. To secure the services of the school it is necessary to have an enrollment of not less than twenty-four, no member to be under fifteen years of age. Cooking lessons are given in the morning, and sewing lessons in the afternoon. Of course this work is elementary. The cooking lessons offered have included such subjects as breadmaking, the cooking of eggs, meat and vegetables. The lessons in sewing have included instruction in patternmaking and drafting, buttonhole and shirt waist making.

One of the pupils of the school was a woman over sixty, mother of a graduate of the college, who had for years looked for a chance to make a scientific study of cooking, although she was considered the best cook in town. She was the most delighted person enrolled and joyously exclaimed that she had "learned a lot." In some places young married women enrolled who had never been taught to cook. One young woman had been married four months, and the fact that she didn't know how to prepare meals never seemed to matter until the cook left, and she was unable to get one anywhere. Things looked dark for her, but the movable school saved the day.

THE MODESTIC WOES OF THE SHORT, STOUT WOMAN

PICTURE HAT WITH FLEUREUSE PLUMES

ADVANCE GUARDS OF FASHION

Lady Duff Gordon's "Mummy" Dress--Hats That Injure the Hair

THERE'S not much sartorial hope for the short, stout woman," moaned a sister so proportioned recently to her dressmaker. "Will there be any chance this fall of modes being more kindly toward her?" continued the same anxious questioner.

To be perfectly fair, the short, stout woman has a good case against the present fashions, for one would really suppose that those who are responsible for the styles now in vogue labored under the hallucination that the majority of women were tall and slender. Take, for example, the frock with the deep hem, the tunic with a wide decorative band at the bottom or the tailored suit with horizontal stripes finishing the lower edge of both coat and skirt. Now, what could be more of a feat in taking from the height than these two effects? And there are many more that could be added if statistics were our object. But let it go. You remember Mark Twain says that "statistics are only watered stock."

To come back to our subject, the sorrows of the fashionable short, stout woman, it is only fair to say that the effect of the garments instanced have been modified by the narrowness of the skirts, and to the woman who is not broad in proportion to her height they have been harmless, but they have been the despair of short, stout femininity. But let us trust that the day of the deep skirt hem has passed, and there is every reason to believe that the winter styles will banish it completely. But there will be modish cloth suits having skirts trimmed with bands of fur, and fashions will vary as to the width of this band. Every sensible woman will use the width that is most becoming to her figure.

SALT ON CANDLES.

If the wicks of candles are soiled before lighting there will be no sputtering or dripping. Take fine table salt between the fingers and rub well into the wick. You will be surprised at the clear light.

The woes of the short woman, too, be she stout or thin, have really only begun when she attempts to buy a ready made suit, for everything seems designed for her taller sisters, and she will have to choose a model that can be altered without spoiling the lines. Here is a hint that is worth while recalling when buying ready made suits:

The simpler garments with vertical lines are the ones that can be most easily adapted to the needs of the short woman. The checked gown illustrated is an example of a model that is best avoided by the short woman.

Lady Duff Gordon, the "Lucille" of London, is, as every one knows, the titled Englishwoman who has opened a smart dressmaking establishment in New York city. This artist composes frocks. It was from Lady Duff-Gordon's imaginative brain that there emanated the dream dress and the emotional gown, but her latest creation is the "mummy" dress. This inspiration comes from Japan, where, she says, "the dress of the women clings to the natural lines of the figure. These garments have endured for 2,000 years because their lines were right." Working on this principle, the celebrated Lucille delved into the dresses of the Assyrians and Babylonians. Recently Lady Gordon showed a model wearing such a gown. The dress clings gracefully to the figure, says a woman who has seen the creation, showing the lines, but yet swathing the form almost as do a mummy's wrappings. The coat and skirt are combined. Once the coat and skirt are removed there remains a garment for indoors that is artistic. "For the house," said Lady Gordon, "I am going to make gowns which would not have been out of place in an ancient Assyrian temple. I am going to make gowns which will be the very essence of womanhood. They will be so very subtle, so tender, that they will instinctively appeal to man's sense of protection."

Go ahead, Lady Duff, but will the men notice the difference when their best girls are arrayed in these appealing frocks? Listen to the experience of a woman who asked two men how they liked her gowns. The man who was in love with her said, as she might have known he would, "You are adorable in everything." That would have been all right, but he was fool enough to add: "I never notice your clothes. I only look at you." Quite infuriating to any woman! So she left him abruptly and, taking her courage in her hands, asked the opinion of a man who she knew disliked her. He looked her up and down and in a very polite voice said very rudely: "In what do I like you best? But you know, my dear madam, I don't like you at all." Perhaps it served her right. What do you think? So much for the masculine viewpoint anyway.

Now what about millinery for the short, stout woman. Here the fates have been more kind to her, for in the new Eiffel tower millinery, piled high as to crown and abbreviated as to brim, the short, stout woman is taller and less stout apparently. But the big hat—never let her dally with it! But what a temptation it is when one sees charming models like the large chapeau illustrated, adorned with the new fleureuse plumes that have knotted fronds. The toque model, which shows the newest pose for feathers, is her meter.

The gigantic hat has been monarch of all it surveys until recently, when small hats have entered into the running for favor, but the large hat, in spite of rage and ridicule, is just as firmly fixed on pretty curls as though it intended to be fashionable forever. But danger is now said to lurk beneath its mammoth shade, and there is every likelihood that hatboxes will shrink to normal proportions this winter. A famous hair specialist asserts that "if women will wear big hats and shapes that envelop the head they will lose their hair."

"As grass turns yellow under a mushroom, so women's hair will lose its color under the present style of hats," says this seer. "There is every possibility of the sex going bald unless a revolution in hats is effected. First of all, these enormous mountains of millinery shut out the health giving sun and air; secondly, they present such a vast surface to the wind, the large shapes, that they tug against the detaining hatpins like kites on strings." What woman cares a bit for this Cassandra-like talk! She'll wear the modish hats, and unless the unexpected happens will pile as much of her own or false hair under them as she pleases.

Really the only safe dress proposition that I have left is the new hand bag, and, by the way, whether of jeweled meshed gold or silver or merely leather, these new bags are larger than those we have been carrying, and the shopping type is fitted with a button watch on the outside. There is no excuse—that is, no good masculine excuse—for a lady's missing an appointment if she has a watch equipped bag. CATHERINE TALBOT.

MUSINGS OF ELINOR HITE

WE have all of us heard of girls without charm. Maggie Wylie was one, Barrie's—oh, yes, I had nearly written charming—heroine. You remember what Maggie said when her brothers asked, "Maggie, what is this thing 'charm' exactly?" And Maggie replied: "Oh, it's a kind of bloom on a woman. If you have it you don't need anything else, not even education, and if you don't have it it doesn't matter what else you have. Some women, the few, have charm for all, and most have charm for one, and some have charm for none."

And poor Maggie thought she came under this last category. Yet it was not so, and it is said that she is of all Barrie's lovable women the most lovable. Now, there are Maggie Wylies all over the world. We have all met them—sweet, lovable and really charming women who don't know their charm. Maggie didn't. You know the kind of woman I mean. Barrie knew when he etched in Maggie's picture so artistically—the girl who, like Grizel, another of his heroines, was "very good at loving." Now, the world wants more of these women—women who are not necessarily pretty, who will never be lovely, but who nevertheless are "very good at loving."

Maybe some girl is now saying to herself: "Yes, that's me. I'm like Maggie." Or maybe another reader is saying: "Why, that's like So-and-so. She doesn't believe she has any charm." Well, if you're the first of these girls, just take heart. Maggie had more charm than she knew. So have you, perhaps. And if you're the one who knows a girl "just like that," then play the part of good Samaritan to that girl and tell her that she's charming. Perhaps she won't believe you at first. Those shy girls seldom do when anything like that is said to them.

Only the other day a girl I knew was absolutely astonished when another woman said to her: "Miss So-and-so thinks you are pretty. She said so pretty eyes you had."

That word of appreciation, coming secondhand, though it did, was like a tonic to the girl. She went and looked at herself in the glass to see if it could be true, and then she thanked God that she wasn't quite unsightly to her fellow beings after all.

So if you know any girls who are shy and unhappy and sensitive, but who are really charming or pretty or lovable and don't know it, just give yourself the pleasure of making them know it. They will value it all the more from you than from a man. It's always more likely to be sincere from a woman. The same thing applies to work. We have heard of employers who never praise. They don't deserve to get the best work out of their employees.

HINTS FROM BABYLAND.

When the baby goes out in his perambulator or go-cart great care should be taken that he is lifted gently over the curbs and when taken on country roads smooth ones should be first choice.

The Massive Baby.

It is not always a sign that a baby is healthy if he is very fat and eats enormously. Babies of this type should not be fed to excess and should be kept in the open air as much as possible. As soon as they are old enough they should be encouraged to kick and stretch and may indulge in walking exercises if their legs are strong enough.

Do Not Walk the Floor.

Don't send your year old son or daughter to the "land of Nod" by pacing the floor with him or her. The hour may come when you will be physically incapable of so doing, and trouble may follow.

The Importance of Tidiness.

Children should be encouraged to take care of their things, and even quite small girls can be taught the value of this. Most mothers are guilty of allowing their children to depend on them for nearly everything. The little girl who is taught to sew the buttons on her own clothes, to repair ripping seams, to trim the ends of her hair ribbons, not only develops the habit of self reliance, but unconsciously becomes neat and particular with her belongings.

Comfort in Bloomers.

There are many mothers who find it very hard to allow their little girls to give up wearing the dainty little white underclothes for dark bloomers, but for ordinary wear they are a great saving in the washing and afford a child a thoroughly comfortable garment. Children should never be conscious of their clothes, and there are only two things that will make them so. One is discomfort and the other an undue amount of elaboration, which attracts attention.

Bread and Butter For Babies.

There is no place in which bread and butter can be so beneficial or poisonous as in the nursery. The worst thing you can give a young baby under a year old is bread. But later on bread becomes useful. It should never be given to a child at any age, but stale bread or toast is excellent.

TOILET TRIFLE FOR TRAVELERS

BLOUSE CASE OPEN.

WHAT could be nicer as a gift for the girl who travels than a case in which she may safely bestow her "best" lingerie blouses? It does away with the necessity of paper for packing and keeps the supply of waists together, preventing as well the edges from becoming soiled. The original case was made of dotted muslin, but lawn or silk may be used. Muslin, however, is the best material, as it always looks fresh and dainty and launders well.

To make the case get a yard and a half of muslin. This quantity will

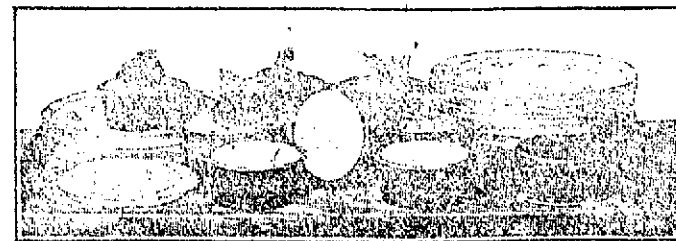

This is rarely well made, as it is too often gritty rather than creamy.

The next time you make it try this method: Have the butter soft and stir in gradually powdered sugar instead of granulated, which is usually selected. When creamy and ready to serve stir in a quarter of a cup of cream, whipped very stiff, and the well beaten white of an egg.

SHE SAW ROSTAND'S "CHANTECLER" IN PARIS

"Yes," said a woman recently returned from Paris, "I saw Rostand's 'Chantecler'—that is, I didn't hear all of it. I left before the last curtain. Why? Frankly, it was too smelly. I don't know what kind of moth killers they use to preserve the plumage worn by the actors. I rather think each actor has his favorite kind, and the odors fight each other. Then the feathers have their own effluvia brought out by the heat of the stage, and as the performance progressed—when! I should have fainted if I had tried to stay out the drama. I couldn't understand why they didn't have a good strong breeze blow across the stage. It would have made things much pleasanter to the audience, not to mention the actors. I don't see how the latter endure the atmosphere. A breeze, moreover, would have rustled the foliage and made the scenes more realistic."

A NEW WAY TO SERVE CORN

GREEN CORN AU GRATIN IN RAMEKINS.

COOK one slice of onion, says the Boston Cooking School Magazine, and a slice of green pepper, chopped fine in one or two tablespoonfuls of butter until softened and yellowed, add two tablespoonfuls of flour and a half teaspoonful of salt and cook until frothy, add two cupfuls of thin cream and cook and stir until boiling, then stir in sweet corn, cut from the cob, to make quite a consistent mixture. One or two beaten eggs may be added if desired. Turn into buttered ramekins and cover with two-thirds of a cup of cracker crumbs mixed with melted butter. Let cook in the oven until the crumbs are browned. Serve as an entree at dinner or luncheon or as the chief dish at supper or breakfast.

RESTORING OLD PICTURES.

Have you a collection of old family daguerotypes that are almost faded out of existence? Before they have gone beyond help take them to a photographer and have them restored.

This work is now so well done that the quaint old pictures will last for years. In making a collection keep the old wooden frames with velvet lining that add to the quaintness.

Daguerotypes are now reproduced by an old time process and made into effective pictures which look well framed with narrow wooden molding.

A DELICIOUS SAUCE.

Here is a sauce that is delicious with a steamed pudding.

Where white sauce is not used a good hard sauce is the next best choice.

BOARD OF HEALTH

Will Take Action to Suppress Cremator Odors

There was a little hen talk at a meeting of the board of health held yesterday afternoon. Two men who keep hens and who live near the corner of B and Puffer streets were present by appointment. Neighbors had complained that the hens were a nuisance; that they made funny noises and, unlike other hens, cackled when they didn't lay eggs. The complainors or petitioners, however, did not put in an appearance and the hearing was postponed until Sept. 15.

The petition of Charles Saffer to locate a stable at 41 Middlesex park was read and action on it was postponed until a view is taken.

A communication from a department inspector relative to a sanitary inspection of the police station was taken on as a partial report and the agent was notified to confer with Inspector Dow of the buildings department relative to the matter.

Agent Bates said that the cremator had been burned out and that the present jacket is nearly worthless. It will be cleaned out and allowed to cool so that the members of the board may inspect it at their earliest convenience.

ANNUAL SESSION

Of the National Loomfixers Held in Lawrence

LAWRENCE, Sept. 3.—Mayor Cahill welcomed the delegates to the 19th annual convention of the National Loomfixers' association of America, which was opened in the hall of the local association yesterday. President John A. Farrell of Fitchburg was in the chair.

Delegates were present from New Bedford, Salem, Chicopee, Adams, Fitchburg, Clinton, Dover, N. H., Manchester, N. H., Biddeford, Me., Taftville, Conn., and this city. Fred Brazeau of Adams was appointed sergeant-at-arms.

The secretary and treasurer's reports were accepted and the financial report was referred to be audited. It was voted to amend the constitution, increasing the membership of the executive board from three to five members. Mr. Oliver Christian of this city was given an additional $25 in his salary in appreciation of his services. An amendment to consolidate the offices of secretary and treasurer was voted down.

Officers will be elected today and the next place of meeting decided upon. A banquet will be tendered the delegates by the local union this evening, to which Lieut. Gov. Frothingham and Congressman Ames have been invited. On motion of Secretary Oliver Christian of this city, it was unanimously voted to extend a rising vote of thanks to Mayor Cahill for opening the convention.

Capt. William H. Taylor, chairman of the committee on arrangements, made a few remarks, expressing his pleasure for officiating as chairman of the important committee. He said that the Lawrence Loomfixers had arranged for a banquet and reception for the delegates and invited guests Saturday night at Franco-American hall, the reception to occur at the Franklin house, between 6 and 7 o'clock. He told the delegates that they would regret coming to Lawrence to hold the convention.

A letter was received from Secretary Morrison of the A. F. of L. in which he said that the A. F. of L. declined to grant a charter to the National Loomfixers' association, because the organization was not affiliated with the United Textile Workers.

A communication was received from the Somersworth, N. H. local union, in which it was announced that it had withdrawn from the national association.

The convention reopened at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The order of business includes the appointing of committees.

The national officers comprise: John A. Farrell, Fitchburg, president; John Bates, Adams, Mass., vice-president; Oliver Christian, Lawrence, secretary; Matthew Currie, Biddeford, Me., treasurer.

Executive board: John Flood, New Bedford; Anthony Gendron, Biddeford, Me.; Raymond C. Fontaine, Dover, N. H.; Napoleon Bois, Salmon Falls, N. H.; Denis J. Cady, Lawrence; Jules Stuer, Lawrence; George Taylor, Lawrence; Warren McElmen, Lawrence; Henry Parth, Dover, N. H.; Prescott C. Smith, Salem, Mass.; Arthur H. Biddeford, Me.; August Dohla, Fitchburg; John Whoolsey, New Bedford; John Seidel, Taftville, Conn.; Alvin Cloutier, Manchester, N. H.; Arthur Brazeau, Adams, Mass.; Alexis Blawie, Biddeford, Me.; Frank Madden, Clinton, Mass.; Samuel McCauley, Chicopee.

THE HARVESTER Attempts to Break the Record Today

REARVILLE, Sept. 3.—Two days' events, postponed on account of rain and a heavy track, were combined in one card for the closing of the Grand Circuit race meeting at the Rearville track today. Besides the six races on the program there was another attraction in which interest centered. Ed Geers' champion trotting stallion of the world, the Harvester 2:02, attempted to better its record made at Fort Erie three weeks ago.

The races today included the classic Massachusetts stakes for 2½ class trotters with a purse of $10,000, the Bunker Hill stake, 2:05 pace, the purse being $8000, the Norfolk, with $2500 stakes for 2:14 pacers, two trotting events in the 2:16 class, with $1000 purse, and a 2:14 pace, also for $1000.

LIABILITIES ARE $500,000

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 3.—The Idaho state bank of Haley, Idaho, is in the hands of the state bank examiner. The liabilities amount to about $500,000.

SON WINS OVER FATHER IN THE FIRST BATTLE

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 3.—The voters of the state of California have one of the most interesting fights in their history this year not only for the governorship, for which Hiram Johnson of this city is the republican candidate and Theodore A. Bell of Napa the democratic selection, but in many of the assembly districts and for other state officers. One of the interesting features of the battle was the primary contests for the republican nominations. In one of the Sacramento assembly districts Grove L. Johnson, the aged father of the man who won the republican nomination for governor on the insurgent platform, was a candidate on the "stand pat," or regular, ticket. Johnson, the son, won his battle by a big majority, while the father went down to defeat with other opponents of his offspring. But—and here is the interesting part of the story—one prohibitionist placed the name of the father, Grove L. Johnson, on a ballot, and he won the prohibition nomination on that one vote. Again, there were 25 democrats who voted for Grove L. and the same number who voted for a man named Bliss. This was a tie, and the supervisors of the county must decide whether Bliss of Johnson shall have the nomination on the democratic ticket by tossing a coin. Should Johnson senior win the democratic nomination he will again be opposed to his son, as he will be compelled to take the stump with his son on the opposition ballots.

FETE CHAMPETRE PRESIDENT TAFT

Was a Very Successful Affair Starts On 3000 Mile Journey Today

BEVERLY, Sept. 3.—President Taft is off this afternoon on a 3000 mile journey to deliver an address before the National Conservation congress at St. Paul Monday morning. No stops are scheduled either going or returning and Mr. Taft will be back in Beverly late Wednesday afternoon. The president has prepared his St. Paul speech with much care. He has devoted more pains and study to it than to any of his recent speeches and it will stand as defining accurately and finally his position on the great subject of conservation.

Mr. Taft recently cancelled all of his speaking engagements in the west, save this one. Col. Roosevelt is to be in St. Paul on Tuesday. The president will visit the state fair at St. Paul Monday afternoon and leave for Beverly Monday evening. The president will journey into Boston this afternoon by auto and leave on a regular train for the west at 4:50 p. m. He goes by way of Albany, Buffalo, Cleveland and Chicago and returns the same way.

MISS ELKINS MAY BE MARRIED TO DUKE IN FEBRUARY

PARIS, Sept. 3.—Miss Katherine Elkins and Mrs. R. S. Hill returned to Paris from London today. Circumstantial stories are to the effect that Miss Elkins and the Duke of the Abruzzi will be married in February.

In last evening's Sun, C. B. Courn Co. advertised Electric Light Oil at twelve cents a gallon but that price is incorrect. The mistake is rectified by stating that householders can buy this excellent lamp oil for ten cents a gallon.

DELEGATES SAW NEWPORT

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 3.—The program of entertainment provided for the delegates to the Atlantic Deep-sea Waterways association's third annual convention was ended today with a sail to Newport. The visitors sailed from the southern gateway of New England on the steamer Warwick this morning, arriving at Newport at 10:30. There a visit was made to the naval training station where there was a dress parade. A slight-seeing tour of the city was then made, after which the delegates returned on the steamer to this city.

STRIKE SITUATION ENDED

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—At the close of the miners and operators meeting that lasted until after midnight it was announced that the strike situation in the Illinois coal fields virtually had been brought to an end. The miners get a share of their demands, only a few details having been changed.

If All Housekeepers Knew the Advantages of the Crawford Ranges

few others would be sold

In the saving of time, trouble and labor and in superior cooking ability, no other range can compare with them.

The Single Damper (patented) is the only perfect fire and oven control; one motion—slide the knob to "kindle," "bake" or "check," and the range does the rest.

The Two Hods in the base (patented) is a wonderful trouble-saving feature. One Hod for ashes, instead of the old, clumsy ash pan; the other Hod for coal.

The Oven with its cup-joint flues is heated all over alike; no "cold corners," no "scorching spots."

The Patented Grates save trouble and money.

Auxiliary Gas Ranges at the end or above the range, if desired.

Clearing House Statement Shows That Hibernian Week Was a Fine Business Proposition for the Dealers of Lowell

The Boston clearing house statement for the week shows that the deposits in the local banks for the week of August 24, Hibernian week, were $12,000 greater than for the corresponding week of one year ago.

The figures themselves do not represent the real increase for one year ago every mill in Lowell was running steadily and there was more money in circulation locally by thousands of dollars than there were this year so that the increase from out of town sources was far in excess of $12,000, a fact that shows that Hibernian week was a first class financial proposition for the city of Lowell, thanks to Mr. O'Sullivan and the Central Council of the A. O. U. L.

COL. ROOSEVELT JACK BARRYMORE

WELL KNOWN ACTOR WEDS MISS KATHERINE C. HARRIS

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Jack Barrymore and Miss Katherine Corri Harris were married at noon Thursday in the church of St. Francis Xavier in West 16th street.

The wedding was very quiet, almost secret. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. Thomas Harlan, formerly of Boston. Only relatives were present.

They were Mr. and Mrs. Russell G. Colt, Mrs. Colt being Miss Ethel Barrymore, Mrs. Brady, grandmother of the bride, and Mrs. Kitty Harris, the bride's mother.

Immediately following the ceremony there was a wedding breakfast, and then Mrs. Barrymore departed for Manhattan, where the young folks will make their home for a time with Mr. and Mrs. Colt. Mr. Barrymore remained in New York until after the performance of "The Fortune Hunter," in which he is the star.

The marriage was not attended by Mr. Harris, who had opposed it from the time the engagement was announced. His only objection, he stated, was the extreme youth of Miss Harris. She is only 18.

Surprise was caused by the announcement of the engagement early last month. Mr. Barrymore and Miss Harris obtained a marriage license on Aug. 12. Miss Harris left the city immediately after the license was obtained to visit at Murray Bay, Canada.

Although she was out of the city, there were many reports that they had been married secretly. "These were denied by Mr. Barrymore.

John Barrymore, Blythe, the full name under which he was married, is a member of two of the most distinguished theatrical families in the United States. He is a son of the late Maurice Barrymore and George Fawcett. The bride is a granddaughter of the late Judge John R. Brady.

Says That This Country Should Fortify the Canal

In Speech at Omaha He Praised Senators Dolliver and Burkett Who are Classed Among the "Insurgents"—Col. Roosevelt's Views as to Panama Canal Differ Entirely From Those of President Taft

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 3.—The people of Omaha gave Theodore Roosevelt a day of comparative rest yesterday. All the colonel did was to attend a breakfast given by the Roosevelt reception committee, a luncheon at the Field club, a dinner at the Omaha club, an entertainment given by the board of governors of the A-K-S-B, the official boomers club of Omaha, take an automobile ride, make three speeches and talk with political leaders and old friends whom he met here.

Several other things had been planned, but in his behalf, a telegram was sent from Kansas City Thursday night, saying that he was tired and needed a day of rest.

The Auditorium, where the principal speech was delivered, was jammed, and the crowd in the street outside was so great that Col. Roosevelt had to use the tail of a football player to get through the throng to his automobile.

During the remainder of the day, however, the people had little opportunity to see him, as the parade was called off to make it easier for him, and his appearances in the streets were in a rapidly moving automobile. He went to bed earlier than usual last night.

Senator Burkett introduced Col. Roosevelt as "The man who was once the first citizen of the nation, and is now the greatest man in the world."

There was loud applause.

"I am particularly pleased to be introduced by Senator Burkett," said Col. Roosevelt, "because he was one of the men on whom I especially relied while I was president, both while he was in the house and in the senate. On one occasion he paid a tribute to me which may have been entirely unmerited, in which he described what the typical American public servant must be. He said, 'In the great struggle of life, he (the good American) must be prepared to take the side of the right rather than the dollar. Old time methods in politics, old time ideals of governmental duty and prerogative are relegated to the junkshop of political antiquities. No man who is skeptical in his own mind of the righteousness of the advanced ground that the American people have taken, socially and morally, can hold their confidence. No man who is fearful of popular rule, or is more afraid of the people's oppression of wealth with law than of its oppression of the people without law is eligible to popular esteem.'"

"In my own case," Col. Roosevelt continued, "all that I can say is that I have endeavored to live up to that description, and that I am able to accomplish what I did accomplish in Washington only because of the way in which I was backed up by men like Senator Dolliver, and as we have a guest from Iowa present, let me say, also, like Senator Dolliver."

Then the colonel proceeded with his set speech in which he spoke of the Panama canal and the navy. He said that the trip of the American fleet around the world increased greatly the prestige of this country, and that the work which is being done on the canal is one of the stupendous performances of all the ages. He took sharp issue with the plan which was placed before congress at the last session of neutralizing the canal zone, and in stronger tones declared that this country should fortify the canal.

After Colonel Roosevelt had finished there were cries for Senator Dolliver, who spoke briefly in praise of Mr. Roosevelt.

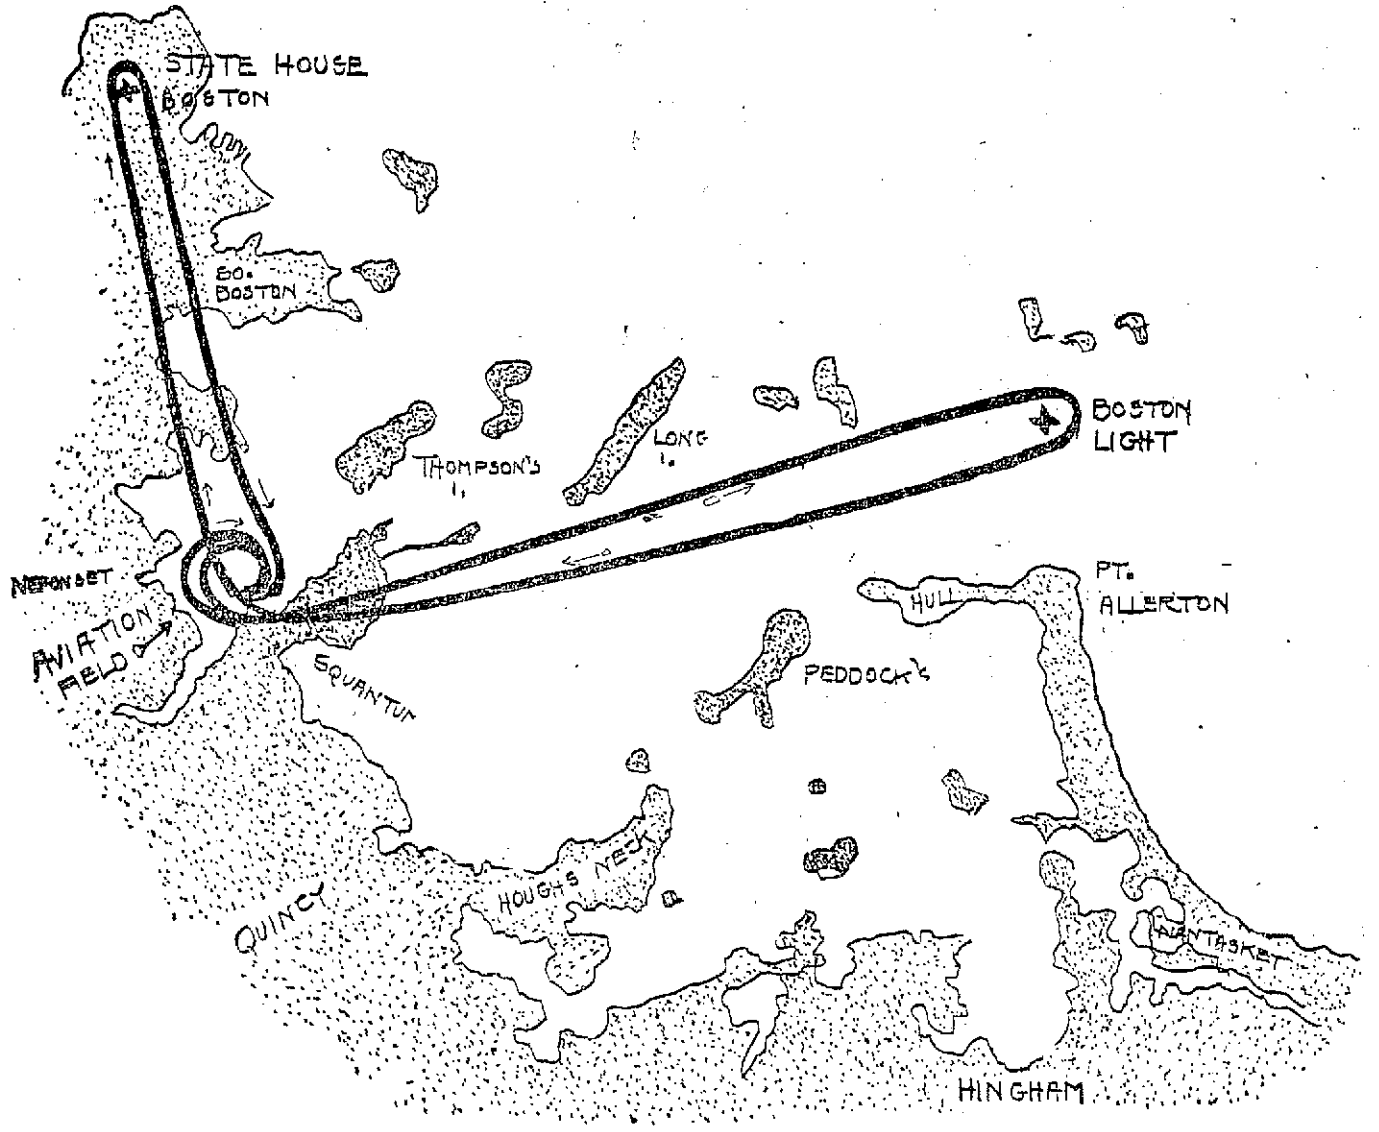

There have been three men in American history," said Senator Dolliver, "who have stated the central doctrine of our institutions for all that could be understood. Thomas Jefferson gave us the doctrine of equal rights for all and special privileges for none. Abraham Lincoln restated this doctrine. It is a good providence that in our time that doctrine has been stated again—the doctrine of a square deal."

"In the next ten years, the young men of the United States will see to it that the doctrine of a square deal is true, and kept true for all time."

At the luncheon at the Field club, Colonel Roosevelt spoke of millionaires whom he liked and millionaires whom he did not like.

BIG FIREWORKS DISPLAY

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 3.—Colonel Roosevelt will arrive in St. Louis from Omaha at 11 o'clock this morning. His train will be switched to the entrance to Missouri baseball park on the river front. Here he will be met by a reception committee which will escort him to a stand erected on the baseball diamond. Colonel Roosevelt will give a talk to the crowd expected in the ball park and at 11:45 will resume his journey to St. Louis. The Roosevelt train will reach St. Louis at 4:30. Early this evening there will be a fireworks display and at 9 o'clock Colonel Roosevelt will be the guest of honor at a banquet at which will be gathered several hundred prominent men of St. Louis.

Made a Grand Flight Over Boston Harbor in Bleriot Machine

BOSTON, Sept. 3.—More than 1000 persons on the aviation field at Atlantic yesterday afternoon when the English aviator, C. Grahame-White, rose like a bird from the ground, swept up to a level of about 800 feet and in an ever widening circle soared over Quincy bay and the islands in the harbor, over Dorchester bay, almost to South Boston, then over Savin Hill and Neponset and straight over the field again, and in a shorter circle on a lower level he swooped down with the grace of a gull and alighted at almost exactly the spot from which he started.

It was such a clean, such a perfect, such an imposing flight—all done so naturally and with such absolute certainty and masterfulness—that the 1000 or more people on the field gave a cheer, rushed toward the cool, smiling young man as he stepped from his machine and almost swept him off his feet in their enthusiasm.

Nothing like this flight by Grahame-White in a Bleriot monoplane had ever been seen in the United States before, and it amazed even those who were thoroughly familiar with the bird-man who flies in biplanes.

It amazed them because it was so much like the real thing—a bird in flight. For that is exactly what this monoplane looks like—a great, soaring bird, traveling at a speed of between 50 and 60 miles an hour.

Grahame-White was in the air exactly ten minutes and a half, but they were precious minutes to all those who have been working for weeks over this meet to see somebody do just one thing—fly.

Rises as Easily as a Bird

In point of fact one did not think of time. The thing itself was so impressive that time cut no figure whatever in it. There was the thing that people had read about, had seen pictured, had doubts about. There it was in reality and all that people could do was look on in speechless amazement.

There was a cheer from those in the vicinity when he left the ground. A few people in automobiles pressed a "hank" as he rose over the grandstand, but everybody on the field was too much occupied with the beauty of the spectacle itself as the machine rose in the air as easily as a bird, to do more than look on in open-eyed wonder. They were too dazed to do more, and it was only after the man-bird had alighted that people woke up and gave vent to their feelings in a cheer and in shaking hands with each other in a sort of spirit of congratulation, as people do when they are pleased to the point where mere words cannot express their feelings.

One little chair near the writer gave expression to the feelings of a whole lot of people when Grahame-White rose from the ground into the clear sky, when he said in amazement: "Well, what do you know about that?"

That exclamation just expressed what most of the people who had been standing around all the afternoon waiting for something to happen, felt. For as the hours wore on and nobody but Cromwell Dixon appeared, like a spider on the slender framework that hung from his dirigible balloon, most of those present had about decided that the bird-men did not dare to fly.

Dixon Circles Over the Field

Cromwell Dixon's performance was in a way satisfying, for nobody could help but admire the nerve of this boy as he rose into the air about 1000 feet and circled about for a few minutes, while he crept forward and backward, or tilted his body to one side or the other to maintain equilibrium. It looked safe enough and yet it looked almost foolhardy.

It was, in fact, sensational for it was easy to see that the boy had struck a swift current of air aloft and that his 10-horse power motor was not equal to it. So after a circle aloft over the field the boy headed his balloon downward, and came gracefully enough toward the earth where willing hands had grabbed the line he had thrown over and pulled the big, pointed, sausage-looking balloon to the ground.

A crowd had been watching Cromwell Dixon and his helpers get the balloon in readiness all the afternoon in a tent at the end of the aeroplane hangars. They had seen this slight boy climb up the netting of the balloon tent and again, as a sailor might send a rope ladder; they had seen him put in and patch it, and they had smelled the acids and the hydrogen until they were almost suffocated; and all with the hope of seeing the strapping lad beguine make the light that had been scheduled for several days.

Finally the balloon was led from the tent about 6 o'clock and taken to the hangar, where a lot more fixing and ballasting and adjusting had to be done until people began to think that the whole thing was to be a fizzle. But the boy was working hard all the time. He is just a mass of nerves, and the spectators sympathized with him.

Rush to See White and His Monoplane

Then a cry went up: "Here comes Grahame-White with his monoplane!" And there was a rush for the space between the large hangars through which the monoplane was being pushed, with the English aviator and Sydney Macdonald and a few friends leading the way.

There was a cheer as the machine was wheeled into the open. Then Grahame-White stopped and beckoned to Charles J. Glidden, saying the crowd must be kept off the field.

Mr. Glidden lifted his voice, waved his arms and jumped around for a few moments in a way that meant business. He ordered the crowd back and emphasized his orders with a threat that Grahame-White would not fly unless the crowd kept back. That was enough.

The crowd wanted to see White fly, and was willing to fall back or forward or any other way, just for the sake of seeing somebody fly.

Cromwell Dixon then got busy and before anybody realized it he had sailed into the air with his propeller beating away at a great rate.

All eyes naturally turned to Dixon, and while he was going up Grahame-White and his men led the monoplane over to a point on the getaway near the initiation battleship which seemed to rise out of the ground.

Young Dixon waved his cap and gave a cheer. He went up about 1000 feet and headed first toward Dorchester bay, then turned and headed toward the northeast. He had struck a strong current and was bucking it, but it was too much for him and he began to describe a circle and descend while the crowd gave another cheer and the autos honked.

His flying was done for the day, but he had barely touched the ground when there was a roar from the direction of Grahame-White's monoplane and the crowd paid no more attention to Dixon and his aerial saucer.

"There he goes!" came as with one voice from the crowd as the English aviator dashed along the ground toward the eastern end of the grandstand for a space of about 100 feet when the machine seemed to life itself from the ground and soared over the high bank of seats like a fine horse over a high fence.

There the smile ends, however, for the horse turned to a soaring bird in a twinkling—a soaring bird that rose gracefully against the clear eastern sky; rose steadily to a height of perhaps 500 feet and began to soar toward the northeast, rising higher and higher and making a broad circle over the bays and islands while the whirling mass of the rotary motor and propeller gave a feverish and feverish as the biplane grew smaller and smaller and got farther away.

Sight a Beautiful One

Around he swept over the edge of South Boston and Savin Hill and Neponset and as he passed over the field the aviator was seen to wave his cap and the tense crowd cheered and the autos honked.

It was a beautiful sight. The red sun had just set in the west; the dull purple had already begun to dull the distant hills; the sky was absolutely clear, except for the dense column of smoke that floated lazily from the gas works across the Neponset river.

There was absolutely nothing to mar the flight or the spectacle, and it all looked so perfectly natural that nobody expected anything to happen out of the usual any more than when a fine bird soars into the air and circles through the sky, and then alights.

That was about the way Grahame-White alighted, and everybody looked with admiration on the tall, dark eyed, smiling young man as he walked back with his friends behind the monoplane.

Know What He Wanted to Do

While being led to the hangar White was laughing and chatting and telling what a bully flight he had and acting very much as if it had been nothing particularly out of the usual to him.

But it was out of the usual to very nearly everybody else on the field, including some American aviators and the mechanics and helpers who are putting together the other flying machines and getting them ready for today.

And these mechanics and helpers and all the other people on the field who had seen Grahame-White and his men at work throughout the day had learned to admire this young man for another reason—for the ease and grace and rapidity with which he did his work.

WHITE MAKES ANOTHER FLIGHT

ATLANTIC, Sept. 3.—Under ideal conditions and perfect aviation weather the Boston-Harvard aero meet of ten days was opened today with a list of events which were participated in by some of the best known aviators in this country and Europe. Claude Grahame-White of England, who has announced his intention of going after every prize with the exception of the one in the slow lap contest, made the first flight today. It was an unofficial one in which Grahame-White circled the field three times about 100 feet in the air. The distance was about six miles and his time was announced as seven minutes and 7.5 seconds.

A telegram was received today from the aviation field in Garden City, N. Y., wishing the contests here the best of success.

FROM PARIS TO BORDEAUX

BORDEAUX, Sept. 3.—M. Hilaire arrived at noon from Angoulême, completing the final stage of his biplane flight from Paris to Bordeaux. He made the trip with but four stops.

The aviator circled about over St. Andre's cathedral triumphantly waving the tri-color of France and gracefully alighted amid the applause of a great crowd that had gathered to witness the successful finish.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

The opening attraction of the present season at the Opera House, is announced to be the Daniel Ryan, supported by a capable company of players in "The Black Fox," a play dealing with life in Northwestern Canada, and said to be a drama of exceptional strength and excellent dramatic construction. Mr. Ryan, who is an actor of virility and intelligence and who in the past years has appeared with considerable success in a number of romantic roles, will be seen in the character of a habit-trapper, a style of character that should be particularly suited to his histrionic ability. The play has everywhere received liberal praise and both star and play are soon to have a New York hearing. The company in Mr. Ryan's support is said to be a capable one and the entire production is carried. The engagement here will be played at popular prices and two performances only will be given here, on Monday, Labor Day, afternoon and evening. Seats for both performances are now on sale and the advance sale indicates capacity houses at both performances.

"GIRLS"

"Girls," Clyde Fitch's greatest comedy is about the best inducement the most critical theatre-goer desires, and, needless to say, thousands have profited by witnessing the play at Daly's theatre, where it ran for a year. "Girls" is a comedy that would compel "Sobor Sues" to more than smile. It is constructed along strictly original lines, and brimful of situations that compel laughs to flow incessantly, and while this seems to be the author's objective point, he has not overlooked the sentimental or serious side. "Girls" contains a pretty love story so cleverly interwoven in the plot—which is not disclosed until the very end—that the interest does not lessen. "Girls" is a tonic for all ages, and many a girl will profit by the good, wholesome lesson it teaches. "Girls" comes to the Opera House, Tuesday, September 6th.

"THE MIDNIGHT SONS"

Panely the interior of a modern theatre—stage, auditorium, balcony, boxes and gallery, with their respective living audiences depicted in a stage picture. This is an actual scene in "The Midnight Sons," Lew Fields and the Messrs. Shubert's musical amusement—said to be the very biggest on tour—which is to come to this city Friday and Saturday, Sept. 9 and 10.

Two hundred and fifty players are employed in this particular feature. Another sensational scene depicts a full-sized Pullman train running at top speed. Every detail of the celebrated New York production is promised. "The Midnight Sons" comes to us precisely as it was presented for over half a year at the Broadway theatre. The great company travels in its own special Pullman train of eight cars.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

There will be joy in Lowell next week. And that joy will radiate from Hathaway's theatre, where the best of vaudeville and best pleased of audiences will prevail. The occasion is the opening of the house for the season, under the exclusive management of John I. Shannon, who has assembled a noteworthy company of vaudeville stars as an earnest of what may be expected during the weeks that are to follow. At the head is Laddie Cliff, the most precocious boy comedian and grotesque dancer who ever came out of England. He has excited a furore in his own country, where he is regarded with an affection not second to the place that Harry Lander holds in the hearts of the Scottish people. Three years ago his popularity as a music hall favorite attracted the attention of Percy Williams, who brought him to this country for a six weeks' engagement. His act went like wildfire, and his engagement was extended for a whole year. Since then he has been enticed to America for such engagements as could be wrested from eager managers in other parts of the world, and is now making a farewell tour of this country. This will be Laddie's first appearance in Lowell, and he is certain of a triumphant week. Singer, dancer, mimic, monologist, Laddie Cliff is all of these, and those who see and hear him will come to wonder at his unprecedented popularity. He has been led to the place that of his legs, the lift of his songs, and the boyish freshness and charm of his stage presence, all contribute to his success, and at the conclusion of his scheduled act audiences are invariably making imperative demands for more.

A masterly dramatic sketch is "The Other Man," and it is splendidly played by Miss Elsie Ridgely and a fine supporting company. The story is of a young society girl who has fallen in love with a married man, and plucks to elope with him. She is visited by another woman, who claims to be the man's wife, and from the moment their interview begins, there is a sequence of surprises, culminating in the rescue of the young woman, though the manner of its accomplishment is not at all that the audience has been led to expect. Jarvis and Martin unite in a laughable exhibition of comedy juggling and hoop rolling. An original tightwire novelty, entitled "An Element of Wire," is shown by the Woods and Woods trio, two men and a pretty woman. They begin by showing how to form the stunt suggested, and proceed with the execution of seemingly impossible feats of balancing on the wire. In one of them, the woman makes her way across the wire while riding a safety bicycle with the front wheel in the air. Tinea Lightner's pianologue is a merry, tuneful mixture of brilliant piano playing, songs and jesting. The Van Der Koores, two men, collaborate in a shriekingly funny comedy magic act. A feature is the introductory act of the educated duck, a burlesque novelty that is making a hit everywhere. Charles A. Tusey and Oscar Ragland, "Those two little fellows with the big laughs," have an unending flow of funny talk, and their singing is first class. A selection of up-to-date moving pictures concludes the bill.

THEATRE VOYONS

The troubles of the forefathers newly arrived on the shores of this country are many, and much has been written about them, but nothing has been so vividly and so effectively told as in the drama "The Emigrant," a real comedy shown at the Theatre Voyons today. It is natural and true to actual conditions and at the same time laughs are most frequent. "The Voy" is a pleasingly lighthearted story excellently acted and staged with the greatest of care. "A Modern Prometheus" acted by the Biograph company is a comedy drama of every day life and one that thrills and interests from the start to the finish. Tomorrow a Sunday concert will be given with a program of exclusive songs and pictures, and on Monday a new feature program will be offered.

A NIGHT COURT

For Women Only Opened in New York

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—When Magistrate Barlow drew his black silk robes about him and stepped down from the bench in the old Jefferson Market court building yesterday morning, he had set a new mark in criminal jurisprudence.

The first session of what is said to be the first law court exclusively for women was at an end, and if the preliminary signs could be taken at their face value, the experiment was a great success.

True, only four arraignments stand as the first night's record, but they were enough to show that such an institution was badly needed in New York and that it would make for the expedition of the law in the dark hours.

Rosa Le Brun has the distinction of being the first woman arraigned before the new tribunal. There was no final disposition in her case. The woman may be deported to France. The remainder of the cases brought before Magistrate Barlow were charges of intoxication and were disposed of with little testimony.

The new tribunal, far from beginning its career with the well wishes of all, has raised a storm of protest at the very outset. All during the session last night Mrs. Donald H. Hooker of Baltimore, president of the Just Government League of Maryland; Miss Mary Allen, a woman lawyer of Utah, and Miss E. L. Dock, head of the Nurses' Settlement, sat taking notes and making mental observations for use in a book which the suffragettes of the city have announced their intention of making on the court.

One of the trio sat shortly before the court adjourned yesterday morning that $100,000 would be raised here within the next few days to conduct a fight aiming at the repeal of the law which established the new court. William M. Tivins will probably be engaged to represent the suffragettes in their fight.

Mrs. Hooker, as spokeswoman for the trio of watchers, characterized the court as a "standing disgrace to womanhood," and said that she and the women back of her would continue their fight until it had been "wiped out of existence."

"The most objectionable feature of the court," she said, "is the physical examination to which women prisoners, brought into the court and convicted of soliciting, may be submitted. It was the idea of the framers of

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

Will open this season on Monday, Labor day, Sept. 5th, with high class vaudeville and moving pictures. There will be an entire change of the bill on Monday and Thursday. The offering for the first three days of the week will be: Wolf & Cassini, a breezy singing and dancing act; Emerald & Danne, in a comedy sketch entitled "A Hot Scotch"; also the Maginelli family, who will present a musical novelty offering entitled "Musical Barbers," making three of the strongest vaudeville acts ever presented in this city, also the latest and best motion pictures. Notwithstanding the extra quantity and quality of the entertainment, the prices at this popular playhouse will remain the same as last season.

Bay State Dye Works

You will soon be going away on your vacation and will need all the ready money that you will be able to get hold of, and at the same time you will want to have your wardrobe in good shape. At a small outlay we will put your clothing in almost as good shape as when it was new. We will dye, clean, press and press and the very best work at short notice.

A TWO-TENEMENT HOUSE AND ABOUT 4500 SQUARE FEET OF LAND

AT NOS. 154 AND 156 PERRY STREET, COR. OF SHERMAN STREET

On the premises, regardless of any condition of the weather, I shall offer for sale my two and one-half story house of two tenements and about 4500 square feet of land. There are seven rooms, bath and pantry, with one tenement, and six rooms and pantry with the other. The tenement on the first floor has a good sized hallway, large parlor, dining room, kitchen, three chambers, pantry and toilet; the tenement on the second floor has parlor, sitting room, kitchen, two chambers, bath, pantry and two finished attic chambers. The rooms are large, airy and well lighted, each flat is conveniently laid out, and is in good condition. There are two windows running two stories in height on Perry and Sherman streets. The lower flat I occupied myself until recently; the upper flat is occupied by a first-class tenant and the house would easily rent for $360 a year. The lot has a frontage of 75 feet on Perry street and of 60 feet on Sherman street, with an area of about 4500 square feet. The house is situated close to the line on the Sherman street side, giving ample room to erect another house fronting on Perry street, and this end of the lot is already connected with the sewer. Now, then, here is an opportunity for the home seeker or the speculator. For the home speaker, who could occupy one tenement and have the income of the other, and the fact of the flats being six and seven rooms each, accommodate a good sized family and command good rent; and tenements in this locality always rent well. For the speculator, a two-tenement house in such a locality, within five minutes' walk of many large industries, situated on a corner lot, with ample room to erect another house, it is bound to prove a good investment. There is not a more desirable locality than Belvidere, and it is seldom you will find a two-tenement house of this description, with each tenement entirely separate in itself, located on a corner lot, with about 4500 square feet of land, at public auction. Look this parcel up. Terms: $360 to be paid to the auctioneer as soon as struck off. A good, liberal mortgage can remain at 5 per cent.

By order of

MICHAEL BURNS.

Saturday, Sept. 10th, at 3.30 P. M.

EXECUTOR'S SALE OF THE COCHRAN ESTATE, CONSISTING OF A

FOUR-TENEMENT HOUSE AND ABOUT 4400 SQUARE FEET OF ## LAND AT NOS. 43 AND 45 ABBOTT STREET, CORNER OF RICH-

MOND AVENUE.

As executor of the above estate I shall offer for absolute sale on the premises, regardless of any condition of the weather, this four-tenement house and about 4400 square feet of land on the day and hour advertised. The house consists of four tenements with five rooms to a tenement and rents for about $236 a year and is always rented, as there is a great demand for small tenements in this locality. It being in such close proximity to many large industries. The lot which is a corner lot, has a frontage of about 45 feet on Abbott street and of about 92 feet on Richmond avenue with an area of about 4400 square feet. The large frontage on Richmond avenue together with the way the present house is situated on the lot gives ample room for the erection of another building should the purchaser so choose. Abbott street runs from Central to Lawrence street and this parcel is the third property from Lawrence street. Now I think this parcel a good investment for someone who could give it the time and attention that such property requires and remember that it will be absolutely sold to whomsoever will bid the most for it on the day and hour advertised.

Terms: $300 to be paid to the auctioneer as soon as struck off.

THE LOCAL POLICE

Suspect That Tony Carrell is a Clever ThiefClothes Found in Home Identfied by Residents of Belvidere—
He Will be Arraigned in Court
Next Wednesday

In the arrest of Tony Carrell, who was taken into custody yesterday morning by Major E. J. Hayes, corporation detective, assisted by Patrolman William H. Wilson, the police are of the opinion that they have behind the bars one of the cleverest, clothes line and sneak thieves who has worked this vicinity for years.

The man is a foreigner, and while he looks to be on the shady side of 50 years, he may be younger.

He has been in this city but three weeks, but during that time, it is said that he managed to steal property from the William H. Ward Co., over a thousand feet of lumber from the Massachusetts cotton mills and clothing of almost every description from yards in lower Belvidere. When the police visited Carrell's apartments at 36 Davidson street, today, they found so much stuff that it was necessary to telephone for a large wagon to remove the trunks, boxes and clothing found in the rooms to the police station.

While the police are of the opinion that many of the goods taken from the Davidson street house were stolen in other cities and brought here by Carrell, people residing in Belvidere this afternoon identified nearly a hundred articles as their property.

There were about 3500 fans present at Spaulding park when the regular Lowell-Lynn game was called about 3.15 o'clock this afternoon. There was a light rain descending at the time, but the players were anxious to play the game and the spectators were also anxious that the game be played.

Tyler was on the mound for Lowell and Swormstedt did the twirling for the visitors.

Umpires Rorty and Duffy exchanged positions in the big game, Rorty going behind the bat while Duffy gave the decisions on balls and strikes.

It was announced that the first game of the double header between Lowell and Lawrence Labor Day afternoon would start promptly at 2.15 o'clock.

The following was the batting order of the teams:

LOWELL

First Inning

Lowell scored one run in the first inning, but the visitors failed to send a man across the plate.

Conner opened with a Texas leaguer over second base and went to second on Conroy's single to center field. Margee fled to Conner and Tenney foul flied to Monahan.

Score—Lowell 1, Lynn 0.

Second Inning

The first half of the second inning was marked by two of the most remarkable plays of the season. Daum the first man up sent a fly to the left field fence where there was a crowd of spectators standing. The ball was traveling in fair ground and Margee by clever spinning made a flying ball through the crowd and captured the ball just as it was going to strike

Score—Lowell 1, Lynn 0.

Third Inning

Lowell scored one run in the third inning, but the visitors failed to send a man across the plate.

Conner opened with a Texas leaguer over second base and went to second on Conroy's single to center field. Margee fled to Conner and Tenney foul flied to Monahan.

Score—Lowell 1, Lynn 0.

Conner opened with a Texas leaguer over second base and went to second on Conroy's single to center field. Margee fled to Conner and Tenney foul flied to Monahan.

Score—Lowell 1, Lynn 0.

Sixth Inning

Lowell scored one run in the sixth inning, but the visitors failed to send a man across the plate.

against the fence. The catch brought forth vociferous applause. Monahan then foul flied to Boutles. Carg got a three bagger to the centre field fence. Busiek hit a fly between the pitcher's box and the home plate and Sullivan caught it, but the sphere bounded from his mitt but before it had reached the ground Tyler who had also run for it went headforemost under the ball as though he was sliding for a base and despite the fact that he ploughed up considerable ground he managed to get the ball.

In the latter half of the inning Fluharty fled to Carg and Boutles and Sullivan went out on strikes.

Score—Lowell 1, Lynn 0.

Seventh Inning

Lowell scored one run in the seventh inning, but the visitors failed to send a man across the plate.

Conner opened with a Texas leaguer over second base and went to second on Conroy's single to center field. Margee fled to Conner and Tenney foul flied to Monahan.

Score—Lowell 1, Lynn 0.

Eighth Inning

Lowell scored one run in the eighth inning, but the visitors failed to send a man across the plate.

Conner opened with a Texas leaguer over second base and went to second on Conroy's single to center field. Margee fled to Conner and Tenney foul flied to Monahan.

Score—Lowell 1, Lynn 0.

Ninth Inning

Lowell scored one run in the ninth inning, but the visitors failed to send a man across the plate.

Conner opened with a Texas leaguer over second base and went to second on Conroy's single to center field. Margee fled to Conner and Tenney foul flied to Monahan.

Score—Lowell 1, Lynn 0.

Tenth Inning

Score—Lowell 1, Lynn 0.

Twelfth Inning

Lowell scored one run in the twelfth inning, but the visitors failed to send a man across the plate.

Conner opened with a Texas leaguer over second base and went to second on Conroy's single to center field. Margee fled to Conner and Tenney foul flied to Monahan.

Score—Lowell 1, Lynn 0.

SANGUINARY CHOIR

Had the Lowell Americans 4 to 1

The much talked of game between the Lowell Americans and the Sanctuary Choir was played at Spaulding park this afternoon prior to the regular Lowell-Lynn game. Although the game was scheduled to start at 1.30 o'clock it was about 2 o'clock before the teams got down to business. It took Umpire Duffy a long time to get the batters up to the plate and keep the game going in order that the big teams might have a chance to have their little battle finished before darkness set in.

The respective rosters of both teams, representing the north and south communities, turned out in large numbers and they were enthusiastic in their applause. There were about 2500 present when the game was called but the fans kept pouring in and when the game was half over there were about 3000 present.

The double umpire system was used, Umpire Duffy taking care of the balls and strikes, while Rorty was the decision maker on the bases.

When the game was called the batting order of the teams was as follows:

Sanctuary Choir

O'Connor 1b
O'Brien 2b
Harris 3b
Blair lf
Marcotte ss
Clark rf
Godfrey 1b
Eaton c
Canney p

Lowell Americans

Conner 1b
Burg 2b
Wallace 3b
Logan 2b
Daum 1b
Monahan 3b
Carg 1b
Swormstedt p

First Inning

The Lowell Americans won the toss and allowed the Sanctuary Choir to go to bat first. Neither side scored during the first inning, however.

O'Connor and O'Brien foul flied to Fahey; Harris sent a foul fly towards Fahey but the latter dropped it. Fahey then flied to Grant.

In the latter half of the inning Fahey drew a base on balls. Buckley bunted a foul fly to Eaton who threw to first for a double. Grant struck out.

Score—Sanctuary Choir 0, Lowell Americans 0.

Second Inning

The Sanctuary team broke the ice in the second inning by scoring a run, but the Lowell Americans failed to rally. Blair and Marcotte fanned the breezes. Clark singled to left field and on a bad throw by Grant went to second. Godfrey scored him with a two bagger to left field. Eaton was third out on a fly to Condon.

After Eaton had dropped a foul fly from Silcox's bat the latter drew a base on balls. Dowd foul flied to Godfrey. Qualey and Grady struck out.

Score—Sanctuary Choir 1, Lowell Americans 0.

Third Inning

The Americans scored in the third inning. Canney and O'Connor of the Sanctuary Choir struck out. O'Brien bunted a two bagger to centre field and Harris hit to Grant and was out at first.

In the American's half Vaughn drew a base on balls and Condon singled to right field. Clark allowed the ball to go through him and Vaughn scored and Condon went to third. Fahey foul flied to O'Connor. Buckley hit to Canney who threw Clendon out at the plate. Buckley stole second but Grant struck out.

Score—Sanctuary Choir 1, Lowell Americans 1.

Fourth Inning

The Sanctuary team scored another run in the fourth inning. Blair singled to right field and went to second on Conner's sacrifice, and scored on Clark's single to centre field. Godfrey struck out and Clark went to second. Clark stole third. Eaton drew a base on balls and stole second. Canney struck.

In the latter half of the inning Silcox singled to centre field and stole second. Dowd singled to right field and Silcox tried to score but he was nailed at the plate. Dowd then stole second. Qualey struck out and Dowd was nailed while trying to steal third.

Score—Sanctuary Choir 2, Lowell Americans 1.

Fifth Inning

The Sanctuary Choir got another run in the fifth inning. O'Connor singled to left field and went to second on O'Brien's sacrifice. Harris fled to left field, but Qualey dropped the ball and O'Connor went to third, while Harris went to second. Blair struck out. O'Connor and Harris worked a double steal. O'Connor scoring. The latter walked over the plate instead of sliding as Vaughn the catcher of the opposing team, was asleep at the switch. Marcotte hit to Fahey and was out at first.

Monday will be Labor Day and while it will be observed by a general suspension of business there will be no formal celebration on the part of the Labor organizations.

It was recently voted by the Trades and Labor council to omit the celebration this year owing to the curtailment and the present two weeks' shut-down. The Loomfixers' union, however, will have an outing on the upper boulevard which will draw a big crowd.

The Carpenters' union has received an invitation to be the guests of the brethren of Lawrence Monday, where a big celebration and parade is being held and they have accepted though they will not appear in the parade.

Thousands of French-Americans will go to Manchester on Monday where a big parade of French soldiers and a military competition at York park is to be held. Four of the local organizations will participate in the parade while the Garde Protenac will also compete in the military contest.

The Opera House and Hathaway's theatre will open their seasons with two performances and strong attractions while every picture theatre in the city will run holiday performances.

Lakeview, Canobie Lake and Breezy Point offer special attractions, day and evening.

The biggest attraction here will be a double header game between Lowell and Lawrence at Spaulding park, the first game beginning at 2 o'clock and two games for one admission. In the morning at 10 o'clock Lowell will play Lawrence at Glen Forest.

Columbus Day Plans

On October 12 Massachusetts will observe as a holiday for the first time, the anniversary of the discovery of America by Columbus, being one of 15 states to recognize the day as a holiday through the efforts of the Knights of Columbus. It is the desire of the Knights and the legislators to have the day observed generally and not particularly by the organization that takes its name in honor of the discoverer. It is argued that but for the discovery of America by Columbus in all probability there would have been no Pilgrims' Day, Washington's Birthday, Lincoln Day, Independence Day or Labor Day and hence the holiday should be as general in character as the others. As this is the first year of the holiday the supreme officers of the Knights of Columbus have suggested that each city of sufficient size should have its own celebration. In Boston one of the features will be a parade of the Catholic societies of the city and it is expected that 50,000 men will be in line.

A celebration will be held in Lowell the exact nature of which will be decided upon next week. The committee on celebration from Lowell Council Knights of Columbus consists of Fred Hugh J. Molloy, chairman, William F. Thornton, Dr. T. F. Carroll, Joseph Handley, Joseph W. Green and Grand Knight Daniel S. O'Brien, ex-officio. Among the features will be religious services and a banquet.

A MOCK DUEL

May Result in Death of Boy

KINGMAN, Me., Sept. 3.—A mock duel between Floyd O'Rourke, son of Sheriff O'Rourke, and Clifford Larabee, each aged 12, may end tragically. O'Rourke proposed the duel, using a revolver and rifle. They turned and fired after having stood back to back and walked an agreed distance. O'Rourke fell with a bullet from Larabee's revolver in his left breast. They did not know the revolver was loaded.

MILL BANKRUPT

AS A RESULT OF THE HIGH PRICE OF COTTON

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Owing to the high price of cotton the Williamsburg Knitting Mill company today became a voluntary bankrupt in the federal court. Liabilities are placed at $22,663 with assets estimated at $12,625. Receivers will continue operation of the mills.

PARDON FOR COLE

FORTLAND, Me., Sept. 3.—Thomas Cole of Brunswick was pardoned by President Taft today and released from the Cumberland county jail where he was committed on Feb. 3, for one year.

A telegram was received this afternoon from the attorney general's department stating that the president had commuted Cole's sentence and requiring that he be released at once. The executive clemency was due to illness, an attack of pneumonia, having left Cole in a weakened condition. His sentence, with time off for good behavior, would have expired in December. He was sentenced for a postoffice burglary at Bangs, being arrested on the day he completed a term in state prison for another offense.

SLOSSON CHALLENGES

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—George F. Slosson today challenged William Hopper for the world's billiard championship at a U.S. balk line game, 500 points up for a purse of $1000.

JUMPED FROM TRAIN

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 3.—Upon the arrival today of a Pennsylvania railroad train from Pittsburgh it was learned that Miss Louise K. Hoffman, 25 years old, of Painesville, O., jumped from a window of a sleeping car last night and was killed. The body was found today near Hillside, Pa.

LATEST RESCUED AT SEA

Members of Crew of the West Point Picked Up

The Boat Caught Fire at Sea and Afterwards Foundered—Some of the Crew May Have Been Lost

BOSTON, Sept. 3.—Sixteen members of the crew of the British steamer West Point have been rescued at sea by the steamer Devonian, which arrived here today. The West Point, which was bound from Glasgow for Charleston, S. C., caught fire at sea and afterwards foundered. The news of the loss of the West Point and the rescue of her crew was received here by wireless. The message received by the White Star line office from Captain Trant of the Devonian did not give any particulars of the rescue. Neither time nor position were mentioned. It is not known whether all of the crew of the West Point were saved, nor whether they were taken from the burning steamer or from the ship's lifeboats.

The Devonian with the rescued men on board, although to arrive on Monday, is not expected by the officers of the Leyland line, to whose fleet she belongs, to make port before Tuesday morning. The Devonian was somewhat delayed in leaving Liverpool and there also would be a further delay as a result of the halting in midocean to render assistance to the survivors from the West Point.

The Devonian has a full passenger list on her trip to Boston. Most of the passengers are young women. It is understood, the majority of whom are schoolteachers who have been spending their vacations in Europe in travel.

In his wireless despatch Captain Trant, commander of the Devonian, did not give any particulars of the disaster. Neither date of rescue nor position were given. It is not known whether the entire crew of the West Point was saved or whether some perished. There is a possibility also that some of the West Point's crew may have been taken off by some other steamer.

The West Point, Captain Pinkham in command, sailed from Glasgow, S. C., on Aug. 18. The West Point registered 4810 tons gross and 3974 tons net. She was built at Newcastle in 1899. She hailed from Liverpool, her owners being the Norfolk & North American Shipping Co. (limited) of that city.

MISPLACED SWITCH MADE TROUBLE

NEW BEDFORD, Sept. 3.—The tracks of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad in this city were blocked for several hours this morning by the overturning of a large refrigerator car which smashed a hole in the side of a passenger coach. No one was injured. A misplaced switch is believed to have been the cause.

MISS GLADYS KERENS MARRIED

LONDON, Sept. 3.—Miss Gladys Kerens of St. Louis, youngest daughter of Richard Kerens, American ambassador at Vienna, and George Hamilton Colket of Philadelphia, son of the late George Colket, were married today in the church of St. John the Evangelist at Herons Ghyl in Sussex. Only members of the two families were present. These included Ambassador and Mrs. Kerens, who arrived from the Austrian capital last night. Father Burke officiated. Miss Mary Kenna, a niece of the bride, was bridesmaid and C. Stevenson Hulberry of Philadelphia best man. A wedding breakfast was served at The Rocks, Bournemouth, Sussex, the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dudley Kenna.

BY DIRECT VOTE

Plan to Nominate Senators and Rep's

Thomas P. Riley, attorney and counsel-at-law, has addressed the following communication to City Clerk Daddman:

Sept. 1, 1910.

Dear Friend: I am sending you under separate cover, petitions signed by voters in your place, for the placing of the direct nomination question on the ballot in the next state election.

These signatures must be certified to by the registrar of voters in each city and town and the petitions filed with the secretary of state before the 8th of this month.

I respectfully ask that you notify the registrars in your place in order that they may certify the signatures Monday or Tuesday and also ask them if they will kindly reforward the petitions to the office of the secretary of state in the wrapper that will be enclosed with them for that purpose, mailing them not later than Wednesday morning.

The petitions will reach you by Monday at the latest.

Thanking you for your courtesy in behalf of the petitioners of the commonwealth as well as your own district, I remain,

Respectfully yours,

(Signed) Thomas P. Riley.

This communication has to do with an act relative to the nomination by direct plurality vote of senators and representatives in the general court.

The question is: "Shall nominations by political parties of candidates for the office of senator or representative be by direct plurality vote?"

This applies to the 14th and 19th representative districts and the 7th and 8th senatorial districts.

CLARA KONTER

Girl Who Drank Poison is Dead

PITTSBURG, Sept. 3.—Clara Kontor, the principal in one of the most mysterious cases the police and medical men of Pittsburgh have ever attempted to solve, died in the Ohio Valley General hospital early today from the effects of drinking but a pint of turpentine. The poisonous draught was taken Sunday by the girl, who told the hospital attendants she was tired of life.

Clara Kontor left her home near Shouster two years ago. One morning, long after search had ceased, she was found in bed in her home unconscious. For days she lay in a stupor, physicians being unable to arouse her. Finally she was awakened when a friend suggested making a sudden and sharp noise at her bedside. The girl's identity was not established at the hospital until late yesterday.

2000 EMPLOYEES AFFECTED

CLINTON, Sept. 3.—The Lancaster Glove mill beginning today will be closed until Sept. 22. Two thousand employees are affected.

PLANT IS CLOSED

HOLYOKE, Sept. 3.—Until Sept. 12, the 1400 employees of the Lyman Cotton mill will be idle, the entire plant having closed last night.

The mills have been shut down twice before this year.

EDSON CEMETERY

Bids on New Gateway to be Called for

Bids for the new gateway to the Edson cemetery will be called for by the purchasing agent on Tuesday. The erection of a gateway is provided for in an appropriation of $2500. The gateway will be opposite Third avenue and at the intersection of Gorham street and Carlisle road. The gateway itself is to be granite posts with wrought iron gates and fence.

Other calls for bids by the purchasing agent will include drawing paper for the school department; trousers and overalls and mops and brooms for the charity department.

BURGLAR IS BUSY

Several Breaks Made in Andover

A midnight marauder attempted to enter the home of George Littlefield at 65 Allen avenue last night, but was scared away before he could force an entrance to the house.

The burglar was detected in the act of entering the house through a rear window which he had forced up, but was frightened away.

The man was seen by one of the inmates of the house as he was trying to enter, and is described as being about 40 years of age, 5 feet 7 inches tall, weighing about 165 pounds, and was dressed in a dark suit of clothes.

The constantly increasing number of breaks about the city has put the police on edge, and they have been instructed by Chief Burkes to keep out a special watch for open windows on their beats.

On Wednesday somebody entered the room of Charles Hanson in the Stirling Chambers on Andrew street, and when he returned he found a light suit of clothes, a Panama hat, six stickpins and two razors missing. The fellow who made this raid was evidently in need of raiment, judging by what he took.

Gilbert W. Ballard of 50 Andrew street also received a call from the burglar, and clothing and jewelry to the amount of $75 was carried away. If the stranger keeps at it in time he will be strong enough to start a little store of his own.

Miss Carrie Brown of the Osmund house has a grievance against the fellow, for he entered her room on the same day as the others and walked away with a horseshoe diamond stickpin, a five stone emerald ring, gold chain and locket with an opal in the centre and surrounded by five small diamonds, a daisy bead chain, a broken chased band ring, gold cuff links, gold watch fob and a register bank containing $1.70.

He is supposed to be a man from Lynn.

MILLS SHUT DOWN

FAIR RIVER, Sept. 3.—Forty-six cotton mills owned by eighteen corporations shut down today until Sept. 12, throwing out 13,000 operatives.

Several others will be idle until next Wednesday. The renewed curtailment here will keep 2,500,000 spindles idle next week and shut off 175,000 pieces of print cloth. The following corporations ceased work: Fall River Iron works, (7 mills); Anconia, Border City, Chase, Phil, Laurel Lake, Mechanics, King Philip, Narragansett, Poonasset, Richard Borden, Seacoast, Stafford Weaving department, Tecumseth, Troy, Wampanoag and Merchant No. 3. The Borden and Luther mills will start up Wednesday.

One of the Lowell Delegates

JOHN H. MURPHY

Lowell Delegates to Atlantic Waterways Convention

The most enthusiastic party of Lowell men who ever returned from a trip are the board of trade delegates to the Atlantic Deeper Waterways convention at Providence this week, consisting of President Harvey B. Greene, Secretary John H. Murphy, J. L. Chalifoux, Jesse H. Shepherd, Carl M. Phil and Representative George H. Marchand.

The Lowell delegates were fortunate in having with them Mr. Chalifoux, who is a close personal friend of Gov. A. J. Pothier of Rhode Island and as a result they were the personal guests of the governor and were the envy of all the delegates.

The party left here early Thursday morning in Mr. Chalifoux's auto and returned last night through the festivities do not conclude until this evening.

Secretary Murphy gave a most enthusiastic account of the trip to a reporter of The Sun this morning, emphasizing the manner in which Providence and the state looked after their visitors.

For the entertainment of the 4000 delegates the state appropriated $5000, the city made an appropriation and the board of trade made a collection among the business interests of the city, the entire fund for entertainment amounting to the magnificent sum of $25,000.

The entire city of Providence was gaily decorated for the visitors and open house was the rule on all sides. From the Civic square to the Narragansett hotel where the delegates made their headquarters the entire street was decorated with bunting and evergreen. At either end of the arch in illuminated letters three feet long was the inscription, "What Cheer." The greeting of old Roger Williams himself.

The Lowell delegates with the exception of Mr. Chalifoux were registered at Narragansett hotel. Mr. Chalifoux being the personal guest of the governor at his home in Woonsocket. Gov. Pothier making use of Mr. Chalifoux's auto during the convention. The convention was held in the Providence Opera House and the Lowell men attended both sessions on Thursday which were previously reported.

GREAT SWIMMER

LETTER CARRIER JOHN EWING WILL SHOW SOME CLASS

Everybody in the Lowell post office is watching the wire today with his mind only partly on his work and if it were possible for the post office to shut down for the day every employee of Uncle Sam would be lined along the north shore from Revere beach to Old Orchard.

Talk about John Daly, Pete McKally, Rose Pinnoff, Annette Kellerman, Mary McMorcroft, Mickey Larkin, Percy Lynch, Ed. McCormick and Luke McLuke being swimmers, it has remained for Letter Carrier John Ewing to make them all look like a lot of dead fish, for he starts out today to swim from Old Orchard beach to Revere on a wagger.

John has been doing all kinds of stunts in the water and this will be his crowning effort. In the event of making the swim he will enter the ranks of the professionals with Letter Carrier Joe Egan as manager and after a tank act on the North circuit they will go to England and swim the English channel.

Carbineers intervened and in dispersing the rioters wounded 23 persons.

Is Being Constructed Over the Prescott Canal

The work of constructing the large triple girder bridge over the Prescott canal, near Merrimack square, which will give the Massachusetts Cotton mills an additional entrance from Canal street, is being pushed ahead rapidly by the New England Structural Co., which is doing the work.

The principal use of the bridge will be for the transfer of freight from the railroad tracks in Canal street to the yard or vice versa. The structure will be bricked in on the top and the sides by the mill which will be erected over the canal.

The modern methods of the bridge builders attract the attention of many people and at almost any time of the day a hundred or more people stop to watch the activities of the workmen.

Everything is done in a systematic manner and with clock like precision. Each man has a certain thing to do at a certain time and a little slip up by one man will cause a derangement of the system, but the workmen are well drilled and mistakes are few.

The principal attraction in connection with the construction of the bridge is the manner in which the men do the rivetting. There are several portable forges on the temporary flooring of the bridge where men get the rivets to a red heat. When the rivet is ready to be inserted in the hole the man at the forge takes the rivet in a pair of tongs and throws it to one of the riveter's tenders, the latter catching the red hot rivet in an old nail keg. The rivet is then passed to the riveter, it is placed in the hole and while a couple of men hold a heavy piece of iron against one end of the rivet another man applies a trip hammer, which operated by compressed air, hammers out the top of the rivet. The work is done in about a minute and there is a striking difference when compared with the manner in which the work was done a few years ago.

Many of the people who are attracted to the scene take great interest in watching the man who catches the red hot rivets in the barrel, expecting undoubtedly to see him miss one now and then, but as a general rule he has the barrel in the right place and at the right time to receive the rivet.

INJURED BOY TAKES BLAME

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—"It's my fault; don't arrest the man," said six-year-old Michael Connelly, of No. 2451 Eighth avenue, last evening after his right collarbone had been broken by contact with the mudguard of an auto in West One Hundred and Thirty-second street. The child was playing with several companions and ran in front of the machine of Matthew Goldthwaite, of No. 226 West One Hundred and Thirty-second street.

Goldthwaite brought the car to an immediate standstill as it struck the lad. Because of the boy's statement Goldthwaite was not held.

GRAND JURY SESSION

The grand jury will sit at the court house in Gorham street next Tuesday to consider local cases where probable cause of guilt has been found. While there are but six cases they are of such a serious nature that the session of the superior court to follow the sitting of the grand jury will be an important one.

The following is a list of the cases to be brought before the grand jury:

- George Giannakos, murder.
- Arthur Duchesne, rape.
- Charles I. Hebert, breaking and entering and larceny from a store in the night time.
- John J. Costello, manslaughter.
- Louis Balikos, rape.
- Joseph J. Johnson, breaking and entering and larceny.

TO COMPLETE DRYDOCK

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—The fourth contract for the completion of the great drydock at the New York navy yard, the construction of which has presented serious difficulties, was signed at the navy department yesterday. The latest contract changes the method of remuneration to the contractors, Holbrook, Cabot & Rollins, of Boston, now constructing the dock.

Owing to the insufficiency of the appropriation, the government entered into a contract with the Boston firm for the construction of the dock, payment to be made on a cost plus 10 per cent. basis. The government was given an option, should the limit of cost be increased, to substitute a new contract. That was done yesterday.

BOARD OF CHARITY FIGHT PICTURES

Referred Feeble Minded Bill to Mayor and City Council

As a result of the city solicitor's opinion relative to the payment of that sum talked of feeble-minded bill, the board of charities, at a meeting held last night, voted to refer it to the mayor and city council. The solicitor, in his opinion, stated that if the bill had been considered and provided for when the appropriation was made for the charity department for the year 1910 it should be paid by the charity department, and if it hadn't been properly provided for, an appropriation should be made to meet it.

The feeble-minded bill, so called, was not considered in the estimate or appropriation for the charity department for 1910 and that being the case a special appropriation will have to be made. That is why the matter was referred to the mayor and city council.

The city solicitor's opinion was not quite satisfactory to the board. The opinion was published in The Sun yesterday. Dr. J. J. McCarthy, chairman, said that the city solicitor did not make full answer to the board's request for an opinion on the matter.

"I don't know where to go to get any proof or any evidence that there was a special amount appropriated for this special bill," said the chairman. "The city solicitor has overlooked or at least does not refer to the sections I referred to in my letter to him."

"In my letter I referred to the estimate for 1910; also the municipal register for 1909, page 50, section 4; ordinance for appropriation section 1, paragraphs 2, 3 and 4; section 3 and paragraph 3 of said section; page 48, section 3 of the charter, and any other laws or ordinances which may in any way refer to this question."

On motion of Mr. Howe the matter was referred to the mayor and city council. It was the opinion of the members of the board that the city solicitor's opinion meant that the committee on appropriations should make a special appropriation for the feeble-minded bill.

Chairman McCarthy called attention to a bill of $324.48 for unloading coal for the city farm. Mr. Howe allowed it would be a good plan to ask the railroad to run a spur track to the farm. He said it would save considerable money, and agreed to look up the facts.

Mr. Howe wished that all those who have bills to read would speak of the institution as the "Chelmsford Street Hospital," instead of the "Lowell Poor Farm."

The subject of cash allowances came up, and Mr. Howe said he had always been adverse to granting them, except in emergency cases. He favored them to bridge worthy old persons, or women with children across bad spots.

Chairman McCarthy said that sometimes agents of property allowed people to occupy it, and then demanded that the charity department pay such rent, even if there were no food or clothing forthcoming.

A specific case was cited and the man with the property was a great friend of the poor. He placed an elderly woman in a tenement of his near the First street car barns. Then he went to the office of the board of charities and asked for the rent, at the same time proffering the advice to the clerk of the board that the board ought not to offer any further assistance than the paying of the rent. That struck Chairman McCarthy and the other members of the board as being a pretty cold proposition.

Mr. Howe believed that the woman should get apartments nearer the heart of the city. He said that in the winter months she would have to pay carfare to and from the city. The case was laid over until the next meeting.

The chairman stated that various papers given the appropriations committee a few months ago had been returned. The board had asked several times for the return of the papers, but the appropriations committee seemed to love them too dearly to part with them.

Mr. Howe moved that the appropriations committee be given a vote of thanks for the safe return of the papers, and Mr. Coupe suggested that they be put in some safe place where the board would know where to lay hands upon them.

WHISKEY GALORE
Was Found in Corridors of Jail

RUMFORD FALLS, Me., Sept. 3.—D. Stanley Jackson was arraigned at the municipal court yesterday in the charge of drunkenness Wednesday, but when arraigned Thursday was "under the weather."

His case was put over and a watch set to learn if a friend was passing him liquor on the quiet.

Jackson wanted to borrow a cork-screw later and his guard furnished one, when the prisoner drew a quart bottle of whiskey from a barrel of waste and was opening it when the officers took it away. A search of the cell and the corridor, freedom of which had been enjoyed by Jackson, revealed five pint and three quart bottles full of whiskey.

Further investigation showed that Jackson had apparently forced the door to the "rum room," where the seized liquors are kept, and had set apart two gallons of whiskey for his immediate consumption. He had drunk much and spilled considerable.

In court he was bound over to the supreme court under $300 bonds on a charge of breaking and entering and given 60 days in jail on second offense for intoxication. Other charges are hanging over him, one said to be at Andover in connection with a disorderly house.

Dracut will not have the Johnson-Jeffries fight pictures and some half dozen enthusiastic promoters are doomed to disappointment.

Up to a week or more ago the selectmen never dreamed that anyone had any idea of exhibiting the taboed pictures within the limits of the town but suddenly some half dozen different promoters got after them for a permit using all kinds of arguments.

Two of the promoters at least were residents of the town, a couple more from Lowell and a couple more from Dracut. The stumbling block that they all ran into was Chairman Banks of the board of selectmen who is also chief of police and who issues the permits for the shows.

The selectmen met last evening in regular session and when the matter came up Chief Banks put the kibosh on the pictures in no uncertain language. "I wonder if they think that Dracut is a dumping place for the pictures," he said. "I am a member of the Sun. All of a sudden along comes a bunch of promoters to exhibit the Johnson-Jeffries fight pictures in this town. Every other city in the commonwealth has turned them down and probably as a last resort they come in Dracut and point out the fact that Manchester has allowed them. Manchester is in New Hampshire and this is Massachusetts. If the other places won't have the pictures, Dracut will not permit them."

FUNERALS

CAVANAUGH.—The funeral of Patrick Cavanaugh took place this morning at 8.30 from his home, 108 Chapel street and proceeded to St. Peter's church where high mass of requiem was sung at 9 o'clock by Fr. Heffernan. The choir under the direction of James E. Donnelly rendered the Gregorian music and there were songs by Miss Whitley and Mr. Donnelly. The bearers were Thomas Lafferty, James Carty, James Kelly, James Scully, James Magee and James Cassidy. Burial took place in the family lot in the Catholic cemetery where the committal prayers were read by Fr. Heffernan. Funeral Director John F. Rogers in charge.

Among the many floral tributes were the following: Large pillow inscribed "Husband," from the wife; large pillow inscribed "Godfather," Charles E. Scully; spray, John Kettle; wreath, a friend.

The following delegation from Division 2, A. O. U. W. was present: Patrick Gallagher, Thomas J. Shannon, Cornelius Sullivan and St. Peter's Name society, John J. Watson, John Gargan, John H. Corcoran and John Hynds.

SAYERS.—The funeral of Thomas J. Sayers took place this morning from his late home, 20 Gold street, at 8.15. High mass of requiem at St. Patrick's church at 9 o'clock. Rev. Joseph Curran officiated. The choir under the direction of Mr. Michael Johnson sang the Gregorian mass and as the body was being borne from the church the choir sang "De Profundis." Miss Alice Murphy and Mr. Andrew A. McCarthy sustaining the solos. The bearers were John F. Fitzgerald, Frederick Hasselt, Patrick Hamersley, Eugene Malone, Joseph W. Wood and John O'Connor.

An attendance at the funeral were Patrick P. Sullivan, president of the B. & N. St. Ry.; Thomas J. Shannon, superintendent of B. & N. St. Ry.; Francis J. Farrington, division superintendent of B. & N. St. Ry.; William A. Driscoll, claim agent of B. & N. St. Ry.; and John M. O'Donoghue. The motorcade and conductors, headed by Walter H. Hickey, starter, and Charles A. Gallagher, secretary, attended the funeral in a body. Interment was in St. Patrick's cemetery. Rev. Fr. Curran read the committal prayers. Undertaker Peter H. Savage had charge.

Among the many beautiful floral tributes were a large pillow inscribed "Father," from the family; basket from grandchildren; large cross from Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Sullivan; mammoth anchor on base, with inscription "Farewell," from employees of Boston & Northern Truck Dept.; mammoth gates ajar, surmounted with dove from Boston & Northern street railway motor-men and conductors; standing wreath on base from Boston & Northern Car Repair Dept.; large wreath from Supt. Lees of the Boston & Northern St. Ry.; spray of 55 chrysanthemums from Mr. John Cody and family; sheaf of wheat from Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Simpson; spray of 55 chrysanthemums from Mr. and Mrs. Denham; wreath from Mrs. Mary Donovan and family; spray of flowers from Miss Anna C. O'Neill; spray of eyes palms and chrysanthemums from Mr. and Mrs. James J. McManis.

Among the out of town people present at the funeral were Mrs. Albert Wallace of Lynn and Mrs. Patrick Simpson and her daughter Grace of Lawrence.

If you want help at home or in your business, try The Sun "Want" column.

The greater portion of this morning's session of the police court was taken up in disposing of cases of drunkenness, there being many offenders present.

Richard J. Murphy was under a suspended sentence of three months in jail and failure to abide by the probationary rules resulted in his being arrested. When he appeared in court this morning the suspension of his former sentence was revoked and he was committed to jail for three months.

John O'Brien was released from jail yesterday morning, got drunk during the day and at night he was in Middlesex street soliciting money from passersby. When the court learned that John had been from Woodstock, N. H., where many of Lowell's undesirable come from, he was sentenced to the state farm.

Joseph Holland said he belonged in Lincoln, which is not very far from Woodstock and is also a lumber camp, but when he promised to shake the dust of Lowell from his feet if given a chance the court gave him three days to leave town. If he fails to do so he will be sent to the state farm.

Elizabeth Hall pleaded guilty to being a common drunkard and was sentenced to jail for months.

Patrick McCarthy was sentenced to the state farm and Robert Porter got four months in jail.

Catherine Phelan and Timothy Condon, charged with being drunk, were ordered to each pay a fine of $5.

Five first offenders were fined $2 each. Henry Abel and Mary Brady were found guilty of drunkenness and fornication. Abel was sentenced to three months in jail while the woman received a two months' sentence at the same place.

The case of Tony Carrell, charged with the larceny of a wheelbarrow from the W. H. Ward Co. and one thousand feet of lumber, valued at $12, the property of the Massachusetts cotton mill, was continued till Wednesday at the request of Corporation Detective Noyes.

FAVORS HAMLIN

Douglas Prefers Him to Foss or Vahey

BOSTON, Sept. 3.—Ex-Gov. William L. Douglas is greatly interested in the success of the democratic state ticket this fall for he believes there is an opportunity to defeat Gov. Draper. Mr. Douglas and his friends think it is time to agree upon a strong candidate whom all can support with enthusiasm.

The ex-governor feels that some one other than Congressman Eugene N. Foss or James H. Vahey should be nominated for the sake of harmony, the most available candidate, and he would like to see the leaders unite on Mr. Hamlin.

Mr. Douglas has had one or two conferences with Mr. Hamlin, in which he has urged that he be a candidate. Mr. Hamlin, however, has not been willing to enter the fight as against Mr. Vahey or Mr. Foss.

So interested is the ex-governor in the situation that on Thursday he asked Chairman Macleod of the democratic state committee to call on him. Mr. Macleod went to Mr. Douglas' summer home and spent several hours in conference with him.

In view of the adoption of the policy of sending unpledged delegates to the democratic state convention, ex-Gov. Douglas holds that there never was a better opportunity to nominate a candidate for governor who would have the loyal support of the entire party and who would appeal to the independent voter. He hopes to see an early understanding and the choice of Mr. Hamlin.

The ex-governor favors making the tariff and high prices the leading issue and he has collected a mass of data and drawn on his experience as a manufacturer for a lot of campaign material which will be at the service of the party managers in the campaign. On account of the familiarity of Mr. Hamlin with the tariff question, Mr. Douglas holds that he would be a very consistent candidate for the democracy this year.

Friends of the ex-governor in various parts of the state have endorsed his views of what the party should do and as a result a movement in behalf of Mr. Hamlin is well under way.

BIG CELEBRATION

WAS OPENED AT HALIFAX, N. S. TODAY

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 3.—A truce celebration of ten days' duration and which is being participated in by prominent delegates of priests and laymen in the Anglican world was opened at Halifax this morning. The attendance includes two archbishops, hundreds of other clergy and many of the laity interested in church work. In recognition of the bi-centenary anniversary of the establishment of the Anglican church in Canada, the real occasion of the celebration, King George IV, the temporal head of the church of England, presented a magnificently bound copy of the book of common prayer to the church in this country. The book was brought from England by Right Rev. Arthur Foley, minister of the Anglican church in London.

Today the new beautiful Gothic cathedral of All Saints was dedicated with imposing ceremonies. The Holy Eucharist was first celebrated at 7 a. m. by the Right Rev. Clark Lumb Worsell, D. D. lord bishop of Nova Scotia. At this service a beautifully carved oak altar given in memory of the late Right Rev. Herbert Binney, fourth bishop of the diocese and a benefactor of the church, was dedicated. The altar is in memory of the late Very Rev. Dean Gilpin, second dean of the diocese whose service took place at 11 a. m. when Right Rev. Frederick Courtenay, D. D., D. C. L., rector of St. James church, New York, and formerly bishop of Nova Scotia, was the preacher. At this service an elaborately carved oak pulpit in memory of Bishop Binney was dedicated. There was an immense procession of vested clergy from all parts of Canada and the United States and many from England. After the dedication of the cathedral a luncheon was held in Masonic hall, after which the visitors were entertained by the city in the public gardens.

KOURIO ARRESTED

IS HELD ON A CHARGE OF KIDNAPPING

ST. JOHNSBURY, Vt., Sept. 3.—As Kourio, a Syrian who goes under the name of Isaac Corry, is in jail here charged with kidnapping and assault. About 14 years ago Kourio lived in Barre with his wife and one child. Up on the birth of a second child, it is atleged, Kourio went away. His wife, unable to support the family, placed the baby in the care of Frank Simons of Stannard.

Three years ago Kourio appeared and asked for a writ of habeas corpus to gain possession of the child. It was refused by the court.

Kourio was not seen again until he appeared in an auto at the school his daughter was attending. It is charged he seized her, forced her into the auto and drove to his home in Berlin, N. H.

An adopted brother who attempted to prevent the alleged seizure of the girl charged he was assaulted by Kourio.

States Attorney Simonds and Sheriff Winch of this county went to Berlin, secured Kourio's arrest and brought him here last night. He was held under $1000 bail for the grand jury.

The Massachusetts state police were in Nashua Thursday, running down clues of the firebugs who burned the Congregational church in Dunstable.

It is supposed they took through the woods.

It is understood that they questioned a party of young men in Nashua, who were at the time of the fire camping out at Island pond, about three miles from the scene of the conflagration.

The state police are doing all in their power to apprehend the perpetrators, as they run down every clue which they come across.

ALASKA CALLED EMPIRE

CORDOVA, Alaska, Sept. 3.—Atty. Gen. George W. Wickersham and Secretary of Commerce and Labor Charles Nagel sailed for Seattle yesterday on the government steamship Albatross on the last leg of a trip through Alaska that has occupied more than a month.

The Albatross is due at Seattle Monday. The government officers said they were unable to express their surprise at the wonderful things they have seen.

"We came to see a little place called Alaska, but discovered an empire," said Atty. Gen. Wickersham. "I realize more and more the importance of opening the coal lands, and after we have a talk with the president he may have some recommendations that will result in straightening out the present tangle. The great necessity of Alaska is railroad transportation, as upon it depends the adequate development of mines and agricultural lands."

It is expected that this transportation cannot be furnished until the coal lands are opened, for cheap coal is required to operate a railroad. I am in hopes that something will be done in this matter this winter."

IMPORT TRADE

WAS A RECORD BREAKER THE PAST YEAR

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Uncle Sam's import trade under the Payne-Aldrich tariff law during the past year was a record-breaker, according to the government's statistical experts. Under this law during the 12 months ending July 31 last, imports aggregating $1,662,600,000 came into the United States. Of this vast total $794,500,000 was listed as dutiable, while $768,000,000 entered free of duty. Although it was the first year of the Payne-Aldrich law it eclipsed all former records under the Dingley, Wilson and McKinley laws. Until the Payne-Aldrich law became effective Aug. 1, 1909, the banner year of the previous 18 years had been 1907, when under the Dingley act an aggregate of $1,466,500,000 of imports was recorded.

Custom receipts during the past year amounted to $227,000,000, which was more than seventeen million dollars in excess of the previous year under the Dingley act. The customs receipts during each of the 18 years preceding 1910 showed a much less encouraging record, except in 1904 and 1907, when the customs receipts exceeded last year's total. During the past year March showed larger customs receipts than any other month during that period with a total of $33,700,000.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

The following marriage intentions have been registered at the office of the city clerk since the last were published:

THE FIFTH DISTRICT DEMOCRACY SHOULD WAKE UP

Just a few words with the democrats of the Fifth district. It would be utterly disgraceful to the democracy of the Fifth district if a vigorous fight be not made to elect a democratic congressman this fall and thus to strike a blow at the trust rule and tariff extortion that prevails under the protecting aegis of the republican party.

Some of our democrats may not realize the extent to which the present tariff bears down upon the toilers, taxing heavily the necessities of life and letting luxuries come in at a moderate rate. Of this we shall here cite but a few examples. Champagne, for example, is admitted at from 34 to 66 per cent, whilst wearing apparel is taxed from 80 to 92. The wealthy few must have their champagne at a moderate price but the masses must pay 92 per cent. on clothing.

Another example of discrimination against the poor is found in the duty on hats. Those hats bringing not over $4.50 a dozen are taxed 77 per cent, while those valued at $18 a dozen are taxed only 47 per cent., a difference of 30 per cent. in favor of those who can afford the more expensive style. The cheaper hats are worn by the toilers, the more expensive by the wealthy few.

The imposts in the woolen schedule are so high as to bar foreign competition altogether except on very high priced goods purchased only by the wealthy consumer to whom the matter of price is a secondary consideration. In this case also the poor people feel the discrimination.

It was formerly held that the importer pays the tariff, and so he does, but he adds it to the price of the imported products, and thus the American consumer is compelled to pay it back. The case is even worse when a trust on finding a prohibition tariff in force puts up the price to the limit where foreign competition begins. This is little short of public plunder. It is this that enables the trusts to sell their products in Europe and Asia at prices 25 per cent. lower than to the American consumer.

This is what the voters of the Fifth district are getting under republican rule.

Are they going to submit to this deliberate extortion without a struggle? Will they allow themselves to be sold out or betrayed by supposed democrats? This is a time when the people should fight their own battle. If they don't they will have to bear their present burdens or one even worse for years to come.

Let the old Fighting Fifth do its full duty by nominating a strong candidate for congress and then going in to elect him.

THE SPECIAL EDITIONS OF FAKE PAPERS

The Springfield Union has a few words to say in reference to the fake New York newspapers that send out the "seventh" and "eighth" evening edition all printed in the early morning. The Union has reference particularly to the editions that reached Springfield on the day Mayor Gaynor was shot. They blazoned in large letters the news of the early morning, but had not a single word of the general news of the day, and were silent as to the great event of the attempted assassination of Mayor Gaynor.

The Union is right when it says that the so-called "seventh" edition of those so-called evening papers, is printed about seven o'clock in the morning, and the "eighth" evening edition, about an hour later, otherwise it would be an impossibility to get them into New England for sale during the noon hour, or in the early afternoon.

Here in Lowell we had an illustration of this same method of imposing upon the public when a Wednesday morning special edition appeared purporting to give a full account of the big Hiernian parade. As a matter of fact the paper had nothing definite about the day's proceedings, with the exception of a few pictures, and even these were misleading and inaccurate. This is what the people may expect when they buy early editions of sensational papers purporting to give the news of the day.

The Sun can get all the important news of the civilized world up to the moment of going to press, and it can put an edition on the street as fast as any paper in the United States. It might, therefore, be supposed that when the fake sheets appear on the street even the unintelligent reader would understand that the very best that can be expected of them is to be five or six hours behind The Sun in the live news of the day. Unfortunately many do not seem to see the difference, but it must be said that they are the people who buy a paper for funny pictures rather than the live news of the world.

LABOR DAY OUTLOOK

Labor day this year finds comparatively few conflicts between capital and labor. Of course there is widespread discontent and unrest owing to the high cost of living and the fact that wages have not advanced in the same proportion as did the prices of commodities.

In spite of this, however, the labor forces are showing a good deal of conservatism. They are wisely avoiding, wherever possible, the expensive luxury of declaring strikes. It has often happened that strikes have been declared in this city for the most trifling causes, notwithstanding that they involved the only means of support for thousands of people. These strikes injured not only the operatives but the factories in which they occurred, and today some of our local factories are suffering from reverses that had their origin in lost markets caused by strikes that a little tact and diplomacy might have averted. The effort of one side to force the other into submission is what has ruined many a mill and broken up many a labor union. If the spirit of mutual resistance be supplanted by that of mutual concession and compromise, there will be fewer strikes and a better feeling will exist between employers and their help.

Had Restelli or Capsalis committed their crimes in Lowell they would now be behind prison bars like the crooks who came in to do this town a few days ago.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

The 100th anniversary of the independence of Chile is to be celebrated in London September 20 by an elaborate banquet. Lord Aldenham, one of London's "merchant princes," has been chosen to preside at the banquet. He is a member of the firm of Anthony, Gibbs & Co., which has been engaged in the South American trade for 100 years or more.

The new chairman of the Democratic executive committee of Texas is Colonel Sheb Williams of Paris. Colonel Williams is a farmer and business man, and his election to head the state committee has brought to light the fact that it is the first time in the history of that body that its chairman has been chosen from outside the legal profession.

The editor of the Courier met Joel Little Blinn one of the last week and handed him a dollar on subscription, says the Colony, Oklahoma, Country. Joel had stayed at home and tended his crops this season while nearly all the other Indians in the district were chasing around over the country, visiting, dancing and idling away their time. He has made a fair crop of corn and some oats. He has three acres of kafir corn that his neighbors estimate will yield 50 bushels to the acre. He has raised some potatoes and other things to eat and has no reason to worry about horse feed or what he will live on this winter, which is better than putting in the summer painting his face and wearing feathers and being on the verge of starvation all winter. Joel is a real Arapahoe Indian farmer and one of the best, besides he is a good citizen.

Mrs. Mary Powell of Philadelphia, aged 70, walked from Manhattan to the top of Pike's Peak and back the other day. She did not make record time. She made a leisurely trip to the summit before dark and returned by moonlight.

Through a cablegram received from Paris has become known that Mrs. Marian Stoll of Philadelphia has done some record mountain-climbing in the Tyrolean Alps. The message said that Mrs. Stoll had been to the top of Mount Winklerturm, and that she is the only woman who has accomplished this feat. Her husband, Mr. Stoll, is an engineer with the Philadelphia Electric company. He did not know that his wife had established a record for mountain climbing until the cablegram was read to him, says a Philadelphia newspaper. He had received a letter from his wife that said she had been to the top of the "Betteleurturm," a peak of the Alps, 8,800 feet, or a mile and a half above sea level.

Mrs. Stoll is about twenty-nine years old, and she has been abroad for ten years studying art in the "Kunstgewerbeschule," or the School of Applied and Industrial Art in Munich. She intends to return to this country in November. Although she had climbed mountains when she was in Europe on two previous occasions, she did not indulge in the hazardous undertaking in order to establish a record of any kind. She and her husband had often trodden through dangerous and obscure places while they were on vacations, and Mrs. Stoll always said that she tried to reach the top of mountain peaks just for pastime.

In the early part of July Mrs. Stoll ascended the Betteleurturm and other high peaks in the "Betteleurtal." When she wrote to her husband she said she intended to go through the "Zillertal," "Pfunderthal," "Brixental," "Gneibental," and other peaks that have been traversed more or less frequently by men tourists. It is believed that Mrs. Stoll started for Mount Winklerturm from the Hotel Glockenstein in Austria. Her husband is awaiting another letter, for he thinks that she will tell him all about her recent ascent of Winklerturm.

According to the dispatch received from Paris, the feat of Mrs. Stoll has created widespread comment among tourists and natives in the Tyrol. It is believed that she risked her life in order to perform the task for many peaks that she had reached are considered almost inaccessible even to guides. Mrs. Stoll was Miss Marian Buck of Waterbury, Conn. She met her husband while studying art at the Drexel Institute, and while Mr. Stoll was studying electrical engineering there.

The story is going around that the New York policemen who have been on duty around where the woman suffered.

CHILDREN'S HAIR

Proper Treatment of the Scalp in Childhood.

Much harm results from washing a child's head with the usual soap and shampoos, as most of them contain too much alkali. This makes the scalp rough and dry, and often leads to a diseased condition which causes the hair to fall out as the child becomes older. Mothers are strongly advised to use just Birt's Head Wash, the new anti-septic shampoo that is made of refined neutral soap (containing no free alkali), white of eggs, coconut oil, glycerine and salicylic acid. It removes every particle of dirt, all disease germs and leaves the scalp soft and pink, and the hair vigorous and glossy. A child whose head is kept clean with Birt's Head Wash will never have dandruff, and the hair roots will be kept in such a healthy condition that the hair will not fall out as the years pass. 25c. 60c.

fragilis have been holding their open-air meeting this summer have been most chivalrous, and if they do not yet believe in woman suffrage, they are in a fair way to become converted. The guardians of the law have taken a further interest in the speakers. On one occasion, when the evening air and the year of Broadway began to tell on feminine vocal cords, and there was an ominous crack in the speaker's voice, some one touched her arm, and she turned to find a policeman at her elbow offering a glass of soda water. Once a student member of the force even offered to carry back the orator's soap box to the corner grocery from which it had been borrowed, but, needless to say, the women in charge of the meeting refused to allow such a sacrifice of official dignity. At another meeting a policeman gave what is considered the final proof of devotion to the "cause." In response to the contemptuous inquiry of a bystander, "How would you like to have women judges?" a blue-coated champion responded: "I'd just as soon have women judges as men. I think a woman judge would be great."

At the age of 125—so she says—Frau Dukiervitz of Posen, Prussian Poland, has a rival for the distinction she claimed of being the oldest woman in the world. Frau Dukiervitz says she was born on Feb. 21, 1785. Now comes a story from Bulgaria of a peasant woman still living who declares she was born in May, 1784, nine months before the Polish duke, and her family hold that she is the oldest woman alive today.

U. S. FOREIGN TRADE

Comparative 1909 and 1910 figures of the trade of the United States with the principal grand divisions and countries of the world for the month of July and the 7-month period ending July have just been completed by the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor. While both the total imports and exports for the month were about 6 million dollars larger than during July of last year, the monthly imports from and exports to Europe show some decrease. The trade from North and South America, Asia and Oceania shows satisfactory increases both on the import and export sides.

For the 7-month period ending July considerable gains over last year's figures are shown by the imports from the principal countries except France, Italy, British India, Japan and particularly Brazil. The decline in imports from Brazil is due to the smaller receipts, during the present year, of Brazilian coffee, which were particularly heavy during the early part of 1909. The large gain in the imports from Cuba during the 7-month period of the present year is primarily to the larger receipts of higher-priced sugar from that island. Exports during the 7-month period to the leading Asiatic and European countries, except Germany and Russia, were smaller than a year ago, but those to leading American countries made considerable gains. The decrease of exports to Europe is accounted for mainly by the smaller quantity and value of foodstuffs shipped to those countries, and the decline of exports to China is due chiefly to the reduced exports of cotton cloth to that country. Total exports to Japan, notwithstanding the increases under many heads, show a slight decline for the period under consideration, because of the large decrease in the Japanese takings of our raw cotton. The value of our exports to Canada during the 7 months of the present year was more than 30 per cent. larger than during the corresponding period of 1909.

AUTO DRIVERS

To be Shut Out of Revere

REVERE, Sept. 3.—An innocent looking vote, passed by the Revere selectmen at their last meeting, is in reality a joker that will result in entirely preventing automobile traffic through Revere beach Saturday, Sunday and Monday between the hours of 3 and 10 p. m. As a count kept by the officials has shown that over 400 automobiles sometimes pass along the beach drive in an hour on a busy Sunday or holiday, the inconvenience to motorists along the north shore will be considerable till after Labor day.

The metropolitan park commissioners have for several years shut off motor travel on the beach front from Eliot circle to Revere street Saturdays, Sundays and holidays from 3 till 10 p. m. This has caused automobile traffic to pass through Ocean avenue, a narrow street parallel with the boulevard. The resulting congestion has caused considerable anxiety to the town officials who are responsible for the public safety on Ocean avenue.

Several weeks ago the selectmen passed an order closing Ocean avenue to motor vehicles the same hours as the boulevard is closed to them. This order, however, could not become effective until after a hearing and approval by the state highway commissioners. The hearing was held, but up to date the highway commissioners have announced no decision.

Last Sunday afternoon the crush of autos on Ocean avenue caused an accident in which a little boy was run over and his arm broken by an automobile. Saturday, Sunday and Labor day will be three consecutive days during which the automobile restrictions will be in force on the boulevard, and past history has shown that these are often

MARRIED AGAIN

THREE HOURS AFTER HE BURIED THIRD WIFE

NORWICH, Conn., Sept. 3.—Oliver H. Rudd, a well-to-do farmer of Preston City, four miles from here, created a sensation Thursday by taking a fourth wife three hours after burying his third in the Yantic cemetery in this city.

Wife No. 3 was an inmate of the Norwich hospital for the insane and died there Tuesday. The funeral services were conducted at a local undertaker's rooms at 1:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon, Rev. C. A. Northrup of this city officiating.

Mr. Rudd was driven from the cemetery directly to Town Clerk Shedd's office in Preston City, where he procured a marriage license and was married by Rev. N. B. Prindle of the Preston City Baptist church to Mrs. Jennie Johnson of Nanticoke. The minister demurred at marrying Mr. Rudd under the circumstances, but when informed by the newly-made widower that he was resolved to marry at all events, he reluctantly consented to perform the ceremony.

Mr. Rudd is 75 years old and his bride 58. His deceased wife was 39, her marriage to him taking place six years ago. The groom is a civil war veteran and draws a pension from the government.

WONDERFUL CURE OF SORE HANDS

Skin Peeled and Flesh Got Hard and Broke—Blood Flowed in Fifty Places—"Single Box of Cuticura Ended Suffering."

About eleven years ago I was troubled with sore hands, so sore that when I would put them in water the pain would very nearly set me crazy, the skin would peel off and the flesh would get hard and break. There would be blood flowing from at least fifty places on each hand. Words could never tell the suffering I endured for three years. I tried everything that I was told to use for fully three years, but could get no relief. I tried at least eight different doctors, but none of them seemed to do me any good, as my hands were as bad when I got through doctoring as when I first began. I also tried many remedies, but none of them ever did me one cent's worth of good. I was discouraged and heart-sore. I would feel so bad mornings when I got up, to think I had to go to work and stand the pain for ten hours, and I often felt like giving up my position.

Before I started to work mornings I would have to wrap every finger up separately, so as to try and keep them soft and then wear gloves over the rags to keep the grease from getting on my work. At night I would have to wear gloves in bed. In fact, I had to wear gloves all the time. After doctoring for three years, and spending much money, a single box of Cuticura Ointment ended all my sufferings. It's been eight years since I used any and I don't know what sore hands are now, and never lost a day's work while using Cuticura Ointment. (Signed) THOMAS A. CLANCY, Nov. 11, 1909. 310 N. ## JOSEPH A. HOLMES

Made Director of the New Bureau of Mines

BEVERLY, Sept. 3.—President Taft last night announced the appointment of Joseph A. Holmes as director of the geological survey, as director of the new bureau of mines at Washington.

Dr. Holmes had been selected for the place some time ago, but his appointment was held up, it is understood here, on the ground that Secretary Ballinger, in whose department the new bureau was placed was opposed to him.

Dr. Holmes is the intimate personal friend of Gifford Pinchot, James R. Garfield and F. H. Newell, director of the reclamation service, all three of whom sharply criticized Mr. Ballinger on the witness stand of the Ballinger-Pinchot inquiry.

It was reported here that Secretary Ballinger felt Dr. Holmes might have had a hand in what he termed the "conspiracy" against him. Friends of Dr. Holmes, while admitting the latter's close association and friendship with Messrs. Pinchot, Garfield and Newell, declared nevertheless that he had taken no active part in the campaign against Mr. Ballinger.

The endorsement of Dr. Holmes for the place was almost unanimous. It came from the mine operators and the miners' organizations alike. The purpose of the new bureau is to investigate and report upon safely appliances to prevent the awful waste of life annually. The bureau will also make an investigation looking to the improvement of methods of mining.

Dr. Holmes is a native of South Carolina. For 10 years he was professor of geology and natural history at the university of North Carolina and from 1891 to 1894 was state geologist of North Carolina.

A staff of engineers and experts will be transferred with Dr. Holmes from the geological survey to the bureau of mines. George Otis Smith, director of the geological survey, has been acting as director of the bureau pending permanent appointment by the president.

Civil Service Extension

President Taft is contemplating and probably will issue soon after his return to Washington from Beverly, an executive order putting all assistant postmasters and the permanent clerks at money order postoffices under the civil service. Postmaster General Hitchcock recommended this step to the president some time ago and he has been considering it. Yesterday the president talked the matter over with H. H. Dana, president of the national civil service reform league. Mr. Taft will take the question up with his cabinet the latter part of this month and finally dispose of it. Mr. Hitchcock thinks the order will work a great improvement in the postal service.

President Taft has a long list of matters to take up with his cabinet after. He will reach Washington Sept.

IN CONTROL OF THE GLOUCESTER GAS COMPANY

GLOUCESTER, Sept. 3.—At a meeting Thursday afternoon of six of the majority of the stockholders of the Gloucester gas light company, including the friend estate holdings of Boston, at the rooms of the Gloucester safe deposit and trust company, it was voted to sell a controlling interest in the stock to the Massachusetts lighting company of Boston.

Negotiations to this end have been in progress for the past month. Yesterday the final papers in the transaction were passed in Boston. The matter has been very secretly conducted, so much so that numerous of the local holders of stock were entirely unaware of what has been going on.

Quite a block of the stock is held here, but the heaviest stockholder is reported to be a Boston man. Mrs. Fred L. Davis, wife of a prominent business man, owns a block and they know nothing whatever of the projected change. The explanation here is that the Boston stockholders who are in a majority have placed their block on the market, at what price local holders do not know.

The Gloucester gas company stock is considered the safe local corporation stock of Gloucester. Its stock is issued at $50 per share, is closely held and is quoted, when sold, at double its par value. The property is in fine physical condition and under Supt. Coggin has paid handsome dividends.

It is understood that for the past year efforts have been quietly made to secure what could be had of this stock. Its manufacturing plant is on the water front and it obtains all its coal by water. The price for gas here is $120 per thousand with a 10 per cent discount for prompt monthly payment.

A WILD CHASE

For Man Supposed to be Capsalis

KENNEBUNK, Me., Sept. 3.—There was an exciting chase and capture in the western part of the town early yesterday morning. Fred J. Wieher, deputy sheriff, received word that Nicholas Capsalis, the Somersworth murder suspect, would pass through here on a freight train. Wieher waited for his man, but could not get another officer to stay with him.

When the train arrived he arrested one tramp and, giving him to the night operator at the station, started for a second man. He chased him about the streets and, firing shots, made the citizens think the town was in the hands of desperadoes. The man escaped after all, though a posse of officers from Biddeford got on his trail a little later.

Wieher locked up the man arrested, and yesterday morning he was arraigned for evading car fare.

CAPSALIS BLAMED
SACO, Me., Sept. 3.—City Marshal Harry W. Beatty received a telephone message from Deputy Sheriff Albert R. Pennell of Bar Mills yesterday morning that a man thought to be Nicholas Capsalis, accused of murder in Somersworth, N. H., had held up in the woods at the point of a knife knife in the woods, taken their rig from them and driven away.

Later the horse and carriage were found several miles away, where it had been abandoned by the fierce looking foreigner. The description of the horse thief tallied closely with that of Capsalis. Bar Mills is about five miles from the woods in North Saco where it has been suspected the Greek has been hiding for a week.

According to the story told to Marshall Beatty, two men were getting out barrel staves in the woods near Mills when they saw a man creeping toward their rig, which was standing in a woods road a short distance away.

They shouted to him as he jumped into the carriage, whereupon he threatened to knife them if they did not keep away. He then drove away at a fast pace. The men hurried to the house of Deputy Pennell and told their story. He notified the Saco officers and then started in search of the man who had stolen the outfit.

While he found it abandoned several miles from where it was taken, he was not able to discover any trace of the man.

70,000 Garment Workers Will Return to Their Work

NEW YORK, September 3.—The cloakmakers' strike, one of the greatest industrial disturbances in the history of American labor, was settled last night. Seventy thousand garment workers, who have been idle for nine weeks, will shortly return to work. Ten thousand of them and those dependent upon them—50,000 souls in all—were on the point of eviction and hundreds of them had already been forced into the streets. The industrial loss to employers and employees has run high into the millions. In loss of wages alone the total has been estimated at more than $10,000,000, while the loss to manufacturers, jobbers and retailers, the country over, has been computed at ten times that amount.

Julius Henry Cohen, counsel for the manufacturers' association, describes the agreement signed by him and representatives of the strikers in this sentence:

"No principle has been surrendered by the manufacturers, yet, the union may truly claim that they have won a great victory for their people."

One feature of the settlement, important not only to the strikers, but to the nation at large, is the abolition of all contract work at home. Hereafter, garments made in New York will be manufactured under sanitary conditions. There will be no more sweat shops.

The rock on which all previous efforts at a settlement split was the adoption of the "preferential union shop" idea, for which Louis D. Brandeis, of Boston, counsel for Glavins in the Pinchot-Ballinger hearing, is given full credit.

In the articles of agreement, the idea is thus described:

"Each member of the manufacturers is to maintain a union shop; a union shop being understood to refer to a shop where union standards as to working conditions, hours of labor and rates of wages prevail, and where, when hiring help, union men are preferred; it being recognized that, since there are differences of degrees of skill, employers shall have the selection as between the union man and another, and shall not be confined to any list, nor bound to follow any prescribed order whatever."

Other articles provide for:

(1) Free electric power.
(2) No work at home.
(3) Discipline of any manufacturer proved guilty of discrimination of his employees.
(4) Six work days a week and a cash weekly pay day.
(5) All sub-contracting within shops abolished.
(6) Nine hours' work a day; five days a week, and five hours the sixth day.
(7)—The price of piece work to be agreed upon by a committee of employees and their employers.

"Double pay for overtime."
Mr. Cohen concludes his statement with the following declaration, remarkable for one in his position:

"Trades unions are not only necessary, but must be guided and strengthened. I shall urge all my clients to use every legitimate means to that end and I shall urge upon them strongly that each present employee, in their shops, join the union. You must help, by urging your people to be peaceable and quiet in returning to their work and in meeting those who are now union men."

The settlement of the strike averts a crisis on the crowded East Side. "With thousands out of work and unable to pay rent, the cost of living, Charles S. Hamlin, of Boston, made a fiery address before a large assemblage of democrats here last evening. He declared that President Taft's speech at Vinona was a frank avowal of the fact that he had been unsympathetically led into tariff propositions and "foiled."

In addition to Mr. Hamlin's addresses were made by George F. Haley of Saco, and W. M. Pennell, a congressional candidate. Mr. Pennell spoke of the evils of high protection as he sees them in decay of shipping and loss of trade in Portland. All of the speakers declared for reciprocity with Canada.

The governor gave a proclamation in which he urged the people of the state to attend the state fair next week, assuring them of "perfect safety."

HAIR IN SUMMER

IN summer, when one is living much in the open, the hair is apt to fall out more readily than at any other season of the year. Dust is the cause of most of this tribulation, for the dust of the present day is not the harmless dust of old time roads. It is laden with filth and oil from roads traveled by hundreds of automobiles and comes in thick clouds instead of thin, as from a carriage. I refer particularly to the woman who lives an outdoor life and particularly she who motors during the summer and early fall months. In order to see just how much dust can accumulate in the hair in a day of automobilizing take a perfectly clean brush and after a few strokes rub the brush well with a Turkish towel. Each place where the fingers hold the towel will be defined with black smudges, and by the time the head has been entirely brushed the towel will be streaked with grime from end to end. The harm to the hair with this sticky dust forming a veritable paste at the roots can be imagined.

Daily brushings are not enough to combat the dust. There should be a shampoo given every ten days with soft water and pure soap. When the hair is perfectly dry a good tonic should be rubbed into the scalp, one without any greasy properties, for that would mean a foundation for the next batch of dust to adhere to. After the tonic is on the hair should again dry out entirely, a sun bath being given if possible.

Blond hair has to be washed more frequently than dark hair for the sake of its color, as it soils as easily as chiffon with dust and grime. To its beauty the smoke and cinders of a trip by train are fatal, and a shampoo should be given as soon as possible at the end of the journey. Dark hair, as it does not show the effects of travel stains as easily, stands in far greater danger of injury, and the harm done when the accumulation of grime is not noticed is incalculable.

Too much sun is bad for hair of any color. It not only dries out all the natural oil, but bleaches and coarsens hair to an effect of old rope or straw and gives a curious rusty appearance to dark hair.

Salt water has the same effect, besides often rotting the roots of the hair, this last calamity occurring when the hair is dried in the sun on the beach. If the hair when bathing gets wet and is dried before returning to the house it should as soon as possible be washed out in fresh water. A tonic should be rubbed into the roots, and the drying should be done with a fan and rubbing by hand. The scalp, too, should be thoroughly massaged and the hair brushed well when dry. This starts a good circulation, which is very necessary for healthy hair.

A FAT REDUCER.

Before starting to starve or drug off your extra layers of fat try the effect of this simple exercise, which is a mighty reducer of "too, too solid flesh."

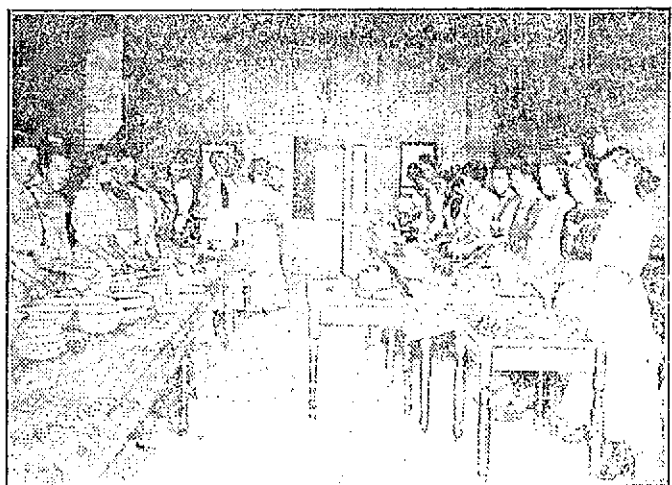

Standing with knees close together, rise on the tips of the toes and at the same time elevate the chest and force down the palms of the hands as if pushing hard on a board. Bend the hands up slightly so the muscular strain comes on the fleshy part of the hand close to the wrist.

Do this exercise whenever you happen to think of it during the day and you will soon notice a decided difference in your flesh, particularly in a prominent abdomen.

USEFUL BITS OF VELVET.

No bought powder puff or chamois skin can be better for puffing powder upon the skin than a bit of velvet. It feels good, costs nothing, can be thrown away when soiled even in the least and is satisfactory in every way. A piece of black velvet also makes an excellent penwiper.

MOVABLE SCHOOLS IN HOME ECONOMICS

A LESSON IN COOKING GIVEN TO HOUSEWIVES.

DURING the past few years the college extension department of the Kansas State Agricultural college has sent out a domestic science lecturer to give demonstrations for the housewives at the farmers' institutes. The demand for this work grew so strong that out of this demand developed the idea of the movable school in cooking and sewing, which is now in operation. The college sends out two people for each school. Each instructor takes with her as an assistant a graduate of the domestic science department. A local committee is appointed, generally by the local farmers' institute. This committee provides entertainment for the teachers, a suitable hall, at least one good range and a two burner gas or gasoline stove for each member of the class. Besides this the local committee is required to furnish all the supplies, such as flour, vegetables, meat, etc. This expense is usually covered by the membership fee of $1. To secure the services of the school it is necessary to have an enrollment of not less than twenty-four, no member to be under fifteen years of age. Cooking lessons are given in the morning, and sewing lessons in the afternoon. Of course this work is elementary. The cooking lessons offered have included such subjects as breadmaking, the cooking of eggs, meat and vegetables. The lessons in sewing have included instruction in patternmaking and drafting, buttonhole and shirt waist making.

One of the pupils of the school was a woman over sixty, mother of a graduate of the college, who had for years longed for a chance to make a scientific study of cooking, although she was considered the best cook in town. She was the most delighted person enrolled and joyfully exclaimed that she had "learned a lot." In some places young married women enrolled who had never been taught to cook. One young woman had been married four months, and the fact that she didn't know how to prepare meals never seemed to matter until the cook left, and she was unable to get one anywhere. Things looked dark for her, but the movable school saved the day.

ADVANCE GUARDS OF FASHION

Lady Duff Gordon's "Mummy" Dress—Hats That Injure the Hair

THERE'S not much sartorial hope for the short, stout woman," meant a sister so proportioned recently to her dressmaker. "Will there be any chance this fall of modes being more kindly toward her?" continued the same anxious questioner.

To be perfectly fair, the short, stout woman has a good case against the present fashions, for one would really suppose that those who are responsible for the styles now in vogue labored under the hallucination that the majority of women were tall and slender. Take, for example, the truck with the deep hem, the tunic with a wide decorative band at the bottom or the tailored suit with horizontal stripes finishing the lower edge of both coat and skirt. Now, what could be more effective in taking from the height than these two effects? And there are many more that could be added if statistics are only wanted.

To come back to our subject, the sorrows of the fashionable short, stout woman, it is only fair to say that the effect of the garments instanced have been modified by the narrowness of the skirts, and to the woman who is not broad in proportion to her height they have been harmless, but they have been the despair of short, stout femininity. But let us trust that the day of the deep skirt hem has passed, and there is every reason to believe that the winter styles will banish it completely. But there will be modish cloth suits having skirts trimmed with bands of fur, and fashions will vary as to the width of this band. Every sensible woman will use the width that is most becoming to her figure.

SALT ON CANDLES.

If the wicks of candles are salted before lighting there will be no spattering or dripping. Take fine table salt between the fingers and rub well into the wick. You will be surprised at the clear light.

The woes of the short woman, too, be she stout or thin, have really only begun when she attempts to buy a ready made suit, for everything seems designed for her taller sisters, and she will have to choose a model that can be altered without spoiling the lines. Here is a hint that is worth while recalling when buying ready made suits: The simpler garments with vertical lines are the ones that can be most easily adapted to the needs of the short woman. The checked gown illustrated is an example of a model that is best avoided by the short woman.

Lady Duff Gordon, the "Lucille" of London, is, as every one knows, the titled Englishwoman who has opened a smart dressmaking establishment in New York city. This artist composes frocks. It was from Lady Duff-Gordon's imaginative brain that there emanated the dream dress and the emotional gown, but her latest creation is the "mummy" dress. This inspiration comes from Japan, where, she says, "the dress of the women clings to the natural lines of the figure. These garments have endured for 2,000 years because their lines were right." Working on this principle, the celebrated Lucille derived into the dresses of the Assyrians and Babylonians. Recently Lady Gordon showed a model wearing such a gown. The dress clings gracefully to the figure, says a woman who has seen the creation, showing the lines, but yet swathing the form almost as do a mummy's wrappings. The coat and skirt are combined. Once the coat and skirt are removed there remains a garment for indoors that is artistic. "For the house," said Lady Gordon, "I am going to make gowns which would not have been out of place in an ancient Assyrian temple. I am going to make

Sensibly Arranged Bookshelves

Who has not been annoyed by the irregularity of the rows of books on the shelves? The small book gets shoved back and sometimes disappears behind its larger neighbor, and Mrs. A is suspected of never having returned it after having borrowed it months ago.

The whole effect is hideously pliggidy, simply because bookcases are always made too deep for the books they contain. They are made deep enough for the maximum dictionary, which should never go on a shelf anyway, and the minimum choice little gems and even the average novels have several inches of shelf room to spare.

A bookcase made just wide enough for the books would look cramped and too heavy, so a way should be found to straighten up the lines of books and keep them well to the front, where a mere touch of the finger at the top brings the book to the hand. To solve the problem adopt this method:

At housecleaning time this fall, when all the books are taken down, tack cleats on the shelves just far enough back to give them room in front for books of different sizes. You will be surprised to find how much narrower the books are than you supposed. The cleats are therefore placed irregularly and tacked in lightly so they can be easily changed.

A book goes in until it reaches a cleat, and so all come flush with the edge of the shelf. There is no bare ledge to catch the dust and no books to get pushed out of sight.

RESTORING OLD PICTURES.

Have you a collection of old family daguerotypes that are almost faded out of existence? Before they have gone beyond help take them to a photographer and have them restored.

This work is now so well done that the quality old pictures will last for years. In making a collection keep the old wooden frames with velvet lining that add to the quaintness.

Daguerotypes are now reproduced by an old time process and made into effective pictures which look well framed with narrow wooden molding.

A DELICIOUS SAUCE.

Here is a sauce that is delicious with a steamed pudding. Where wine sauce is not used a good hard sauce in the next best choice.

This is rarely well made, as it is too often gritty rather than creamy. The next time you make it try this method: Have the butter soft and stir in gradually powdered sugar instead of granulated, which is usually selected. When creamy and ready to serve stir in a quarter of a cup of cream, whipped very stiff, and the well beaten white of an egg.

SHE SAW ROSTAND'S "CHANTECLER" IN PARIS

"Yes," said a woman recently returned from Paris, "I saw Rostand's 'Chantecler'—that is, I didn't hear all of it. I left before the last curtain. Why? Frankly, it was too smelly. I don't know what kind of moth killers they use to preserve the plumage worn by the actors. I rather think each actor has his favorite kind, and the odors fight each other. Then the feathers have their own effluvia brought out by the heat of the stage, and as the performance progressed—when I should have fainted if I had tried to stay out the drama. I couldn't understand why they didn't have a good strong breeze blow across the stage. It would have made things much pleasanter to the audience, not to mention the actors. I don't see how the latter endure the atmosphere. A breeze, moreover, would have rustled the foliage and made the scenes more realistic."

A NEW WAY TO SERVE CORN

GREEN CORN AU GRATIN IN RAMEKINS.

COOK one slice of onion, says the Boston Cooking School Magazine, and a slice of green pepper, chopped fine in one or two tablespoonfuls of butter until softened and yellowed, add two tablespoonfuls of flour and a half teaspoonful of salt and cook until frothy, add two cupfuls of thin cream and cook and stir until boiling, she left him abruptly and, taking her courage in her hands, asked the opinion of a man who she knew disliked her. He looked her up and down and in a very polite voice said very rudely: "In what do I like you best? But, you know, my dear madam, I don't like you at all." Perhaps it served her right. What do you think? So much for the masculine viewpoint anyway.

Now what about millinery for the short, stout woman. Here the fates have been more kind to her, for in the new Eiffel tower millinery, piled high as to crown and abbreviated as to brim, the short, stout woman is taller and less stout apparently. But the big hat—never let her dally with it! But what a temptation it is when one sees charming models like the large chapeau illustrated, adorned with the new pleureuse plumes that have knotted fronds. The toque model, which shows the newest pose for feathers, is her metier.

The gigantic hat has been monarch of all it surveys until recently, when small hats have entered into the running for favor, but the large hat, in spite of rage and ridicule, is just as firmly fixed on pretty curls as though it intended to be fashionable forever. But danger is now said to lurk beneath its mammoth shade, and there is every likelihood that hatboxes will shrink to normal proportions this winter. A famous hair specialist asserts that "if women will wear big hats and shapes that envelop the head they will lose their hair."

As grass turns yellow under a mushroom, so women's hair will lose its color under the present style of hats," says this seer. "There is every possibility of the sex going bald unless a revolution in hats is effected. First of all, these enormous mountains of millinery shut out the health giving sun and air; secondly, they present such a vast surface to the wind, the large chapes, that they tug against the delicate hatpins like kites on strings." What woman cares a bit for this Cassandra-like talk? She'll wear the modish hats, and unless the unexpected happens will pile as much of her own or false hair under them as she pleases.

Really the only safe dress proposition that I have left is the new hand bag, and, by the way, whether of jeweled meshed gold or silver or merely leather, these new bags are larger than those we have been carrying, and the shopping type is fitted with a button watch on the outside. There is no excuse—that is, no good masculine excuse—for millady's missing an appointment if she has a watch equipped bag. CATHERINE TALBOT.

TOILET TRIFLE FOR TRAVELERS

BLOUSE CASE CLOSED.

WHAT could be nicer as a gift for the girl who travels than a case in which she may safely bestow her "best" lingerie blouses? It does away with the necessity of paper for packing and keeps the supply of waists together, preventing as well the edges from becoming soiled. The original case was made of dotted muslin, but lawn or silk may be used. Muslin, however, is the best material, as it always looks fresh and dainty and launders well.

To make the case get a yard and a half of muslin. This quantity will make a case large enough to hold a half dozen blouses. Mark the center of the length used, hem the ends and trim with lace, then fold the ends over equally with the hem outside as shown to form pockets as receptacles for the blouses and join at the selvages, which run the length of the case.

Finish the edges between the pockets, turn inside out evenly and sew a ribbon in the center of each end to fold over and tie with, as in the closed view illustrated, when the case is complete, though you may ornament it in other ways if preferred. The owner's monogram in very attractive when worked prettily in wash cotton or silk.

KEEP OLD BICYCLE PUMPS.

When going over the new home of a very neat housewife recently a bicycle pump was noticed in the broom closet. The guest who was being taken over the house said to her hostess, "When your small son wants to pump up his tires will he ever think of looking for the necessary tool in this closet?" "That is not his pump, it is mine," was the reply. "I use it for my carved furniture, and it works as well as a vacuum cleaner. The pump can hold it with her foot, pump with one hand and with the other direct the blast from the tube into any niche or cranny that a duster does not reach, and old Mr. Dust goes flying." She has told many of her friends of this use for the discarded bicycle pump.

MUSINGS OF ELINOR HITE

WE have all of us heard of girls without charm. Maggie Wylie was one, Barrie's—oh, yes, I had nearly written charming—heroine. You remember what Maggie said when her brothers asked, "Maggie, what is this thing 'charm' exactly?" And Maggie replied: "Oh, it's a kind of bloom on a woman. If you have it you don't need anything else, not even education, and if you don't have it it doesn't matter what else you have. Some women, the few, have charm for all, and most have charm for one, and some have charm for none."

And poor Maggie thought she came under this last category. Yet it was not so, and it is said that she is of all Barrie's lovable women the most lovable. Now, there are Maggie Wylies all over the world. We have all met them—sweet, lovable and really charming women who don't know their charm. Maggie didn't. You know the kind of woman I mean. Barrie knew when he etched in Maggie's picture so artistically—the girl who, like Grizel, another of his heroines, was "very good at loving." Now, the world wants more of these women—women who are not necessarily pretty, who will never be lovely, but who nevertheless are "very good at loving."

Maybe some girl is now saying to herself: "Yes, that's me, I'm like Maggie." Or maybe another reader is saying: "Why, that's like So-and-so. She doesn't believe she has any charm." Well, if you're the first of these girls, just take heart. Maggie had more charm than she knew. So have you perhaps. And if you're the one who knows a girl "just like that" then play the part of good Samaritan to that girl and tell her that she's charming. Perhaps she won't believe you at first. Those shy girls seldom do when anything like that is said to them.

Only the other day a girl I knew was absolutely astonished when another woman said to her: "Miss So-and-so, think you are pretty. She said what pretty eyes you had."

That word of appreciation, coming secondhand, though it did was like a tonic to the girl. She went and looked at herself in the glass to see if it could be true, and then she thanked God that she wasn't quite unsightly to her fellow beings after all.

So if you know any girls who are shy and unhappy and sensitive, but who are really charming or pretty or lovable and don't know it, just give yourself the pleasure of making them know it. They will value it all the more from you than from a man. It's always more likely to be sincere from a woman. The same thing applies to work. We have heard of employers who never praise. They don't deserve to get the best work out of their employees.

HINTS FROM BABYLAND.

When the baby goes out in his perambulator or great cart care should be taken that he is lifted gently over the curbs—down and when taken on country roads smooth ones should be first choice.

The Massive Baby.

It is not always a sign that a baby is healthy if he is very fat and eats enormously. Babies of this type should not be fed to excess and should be kept in the open air as much as possible. As soon as they are old enough they should be encouraged to kick and stretch and may indulge in walking exercises if their legs are strong enough.

Do Not Walk the Floor.

Don't send your year old son or daughter to the "land of Nod" by pacing the floor with him or her. The hour may come when you will be physically incapable of so doing, and trouble may follow.

The Importance of Tidiness.

Children should be encouraged to take care of their things, and even quite small girls can be taught the value of this. Most mothers are guilty of allowing their children to do as they please, and they are taught to sew the buttons on her own clothes, to repair ripping seams, to trim the ends of her hair ribbons, not only develops the habit of self reliance, but unconsciously becomes neat and particular with her belongings.

Comfort in Bloomers.

There are many mothers who find it very hard to allow their little girls to give up wearing the dainty little white underclothes for dark bloomers, but for ordinary wear they are a great saving in the washing and afford a child a thoroughly comfortable garment. Children should never be conscious of their clothes, and there are only two things that will make them so. One is discomfort and the other an undue amount of elaboration, which attracts attention.

Bread and Butter For Babies.

There is no place in which bread and butter can be so beneficial or potent as in the nursery. The worst thing you can give a young baby under a year old is bread. But later on bread becomes useful. It should never be given new to a child at any age, but stale bread or toast is excellent.

BOARD OF HEALTH

Will Take Action to Suppress Cremator Odors

There was a little hen talk at a meeting of the board of health held yesterday afternoon. Two men who keep hens and who live near the corner of B and Tupper streets were present by appointment. Neighbors had complained that the hens were a nuisance, that they made funny noises and, unlike other hens, cackled when they didn't lay eggs. The complainers or petitioners, however, did not put in an appearance and the hearing was postponed until Sept. 16.

The granting of licenses by the agent to John Glennie to collect bones, grease, etc., and James Hadley to transport swill, was given the sanction of the board. The petition of Charles Saffer to locate a stable at 41 Middlesex park was read and action on it was postponed until a view is taken. A communication from a department inspector relative to a sanitary inspection of the police station was taken as a partial report and the agent was notified to confer with Inspector Don of the buildings department relative to the matter. Agent Bates said that the cremator had been burned out and that the present jacket is nearly worthless. It will be cleaned out and allowed to cool that the members of the board may inspect it at their earliest convenience.

ANNUAL SESSION

Of the National Loomfixers Held in Lawrence

LAWRENCE, Sept. 3.—Mayor Cahill welcomed the delegates to the 10th annual convention of the National Loomfixers' association of America, which was opened in the hall of the local association yesterday. President John A. Farrell of Pittsburgh was in the chair.

Delegates were present from New Bedford, Salem, Chicopee, Adams, Fitchburg, Clinton, Dover, N. H., Manchester, N. H., Bliddford, Me., Yaffville, Conn. and this city. Fred Brazeau of Adams was appointed sergeant-at-arms.

The secretary and treasurer's reports were accepted and the financial report was referred to be audited. It was voted to amend the constitution, increasing the membership of the executive board from three to five members. Sec. Oliver Christian of this city was given an additional $25 to his salary in appreciation of his services. An amendment to consolidate the offices of secretary and treasurer was voted down.

Officers will be elected today and the next place of meeting decided upon. A banquet will be tendered the delegates by the local union this evening, to which Lieut. Gov. Frothingham and Congressman Ames have been invited. On motion of Secretary Oliver Christian of this city, it was unanimously voted to extend a rising vote of thanks to Mayor Cahill for opening the convention.

Capt. William H. Taylor, chairman of the committee on arrangements, made a few remarks, expressing his pleasure for officiating as chairman of the important committee. He said that the Lawrence Loomfixers had arranged for a banquet and reception for the delegates and invited guests Saturday night at Franco-American hall, the reception to occur at the Franklin house, between 6 and 7 o'clock. He told the delegates that they wouldn't regret coming to Lawrence to hold the convention.

A letter was received from Secretary Morrison of the A. F. of L. in which he said that the A. F. of L. declined to grant a charter to the National Loomfixers' association, because the organization was not affiliated with the United Textile Workers.

A communication was received from the Somersworth, N. H., local union, in which it was announced that it had withdrawn from the national association.

The national officers comprise: John A. Farrell, Pittsburgh, president; John Bates, Adams, Mass., vice-president; Oliver Christian, Lawrence, secretary; Matthew Currie, Bliddford, Me., treasurer.

Executive board: John Flood, New Bedford; Anthony Gendron, Bliddford, Me.; Raymond C. Fonten, Dover, N. H.; Napoleon Edis, Salmon Falls, N. H.; Denis J. Cady, Lawrence; Jules Stiger, Lawrence; George Taylor, Lawrence; Warren McElmed, Lawrence; Henry Fortin, Dover, N. H.; Prescott C. Smith, Salem, Mass.; Arthur Harvey, Bliddford, Me.; August Dohla, Fitchburg; John Whoolsey, New Bedford; John Seidel, Yaffville, Conn.; Alme Cloutier, Manchester, N. H.; Arthur Brazeau, Adams, Mass.; Alexis Bisailon, Bliddford, Me.; Frank Madden, Clinton, Mass.; Samuel McCauley, Chicopee.

THE HARVESTER Attempts to Break the Record Today

READVILLE, Sept. 3.—Two days' events, postponed on account of rain and a heavy truck, were combined in one card for the closing of the Grand Circuit race meeting at the Readville track today. Besides the six races on the program there was another attraction in which interest centered, Ed Geers' champion trotting stallion of the world, the Harvester, 2:02, attempted to better its record made at Fort Erie three weeks ago.

The races today included the classic Massachusetts stakes for 2 1/2 class trotters with a purse of $10,000, the Bunker Hill stake, 2:05 pace, the purse being $3000, the Norfolk, with $3500 stakes for 2 1/4 pacers, two trotting events in the 2:16 class, with $1000 purses, and a 2:16 pace, also for $1000.

LIABILITIES ARE $500,000. SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 3.—The Idaho state bank of Haley, Idaho, is in the hands of the state bank examiner. The liabilities amount to about $500,000.

SON WINS OVER FATHER IN THE FIRST BATTLE

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 3.—The voters of the state of California have one of the most interesting fights in their history this year not only for the governorship, for which Hiram Johnson of this city is the republican candidate and Theodore A. Bell of Napa the democratic selection, but in many of the assembly districts and for other state officers. One of the interesting features of the battle was the primary contests for the republican nominations. In one of the Sacramento assembly districts Grove L. Johnson, the aged father of the man who won the republican nomination for governor on the insurgent platform, was a candidate on the "stand pat" or regular ticket. Johnson, the son, won his battle by a big majority, while the father went down to defeat with other opponents of his offspring. But—and here is the interesting part of the story—one prohibitionist placed the name of the father, Grove L. Johnson, on a ballot, and he won the prohibition nomination on that one vote. Again, there were 23 democrats who voted for Grove L. and the same number who voted for a man named Bliss. This was a tie, and the supervisors of the county must decide whether Bliss or Johnson shall have the nomination on the democratic ticket by tossing a coin. Should Johnson senior win the democratic nomination he will again be opposed to his son, as he will be compelled to take the stump with his son on the opposition ballots.

FETE CHAMPETRE PRESIDENT TAFT

Was a Very Successful Starts On 3000 Mile Journey Today

The fete champetre in aid of St. Louis church held recently proved to be an unqualified success according to reports of different committees which were made at an entertainment held last night in St. Louis hall. The feature of the evening was the announcement of the winners in the different contests held in connection with the festival.

The entertainment program consisted of an operetta, "Les Cordons Bleus," which was presented by Mrs. Olier J. David, Mrs. Emerile Biron, Miss Regina Caron, Miss Lucy Drouin and Miss Graciele Dupuis. Henri Boucher gave a clever sleight of hand performance. "Les Marquis aux arènes" was sung by a quartet composed of Olier J. David, Dr. T. Chagnon, Arthur J. Drouin and Jules Morissette. Messrs. Drouin and Dupuis, the "Jolly Two," gave vaudeville sketches and songs.

At the conclusion of the entertainment the prizes offered in connection with the different contests held during the festival were distributed by Rev. Fr. Jacques. The principal prize, a beautiful banner offered to the socially bringing in the largest amount, was won by the Children of Mary.

Mrs. Calixte Lequin won the prize for bringing in the largest amount on St. Anne's table; Miss Alice Renaud, the one for the largest amount on the Children of Mary table; and Philippe E. Chaput, the one for the Cercle St. Louis table. Each received $10 in gold. Contests among the attendants of the various tables were won as follows: Gold locket, Miss Ruth Lagasse; doll, Miss Rosa Richard; rosary, Miss Eva Bellisle; $2.50 in gold, Miss Donna Dupuis; $2.50 in gold, Miss Yvonne Mance.

Articles drawn for were won by D. A. Parthenais, a pocketbook; Miss Corinne Desrosiers, a statue of the Virgin; Mrs. L. Lord, a lamp; Xavier Bellisle, a dozen Fontaine pictures; Rodolphe Boudreau, a pillow; Ed. Boucher, an umbrella; Dr. Provencier, a box of cigars; Miss Albina Benoit, a bronze lamp; Adolphe Bouchard, a rosary; Mrs. J. C. Girard, a lamp; Miss Antoinette Jalbert, a fancy purse, and A. Desjardins, a toy house.

DELEGATES SAW NEWPORT. PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 3.—The program of entertainment provided for the delegates to the Atlantic Deep-sea Waterways association's third annual convention was ended today with a sail to Newport. The visitors sailed from the southern gateway of New England on the steamer Warwick this morning, arriving at Newport at 10:30. There a visit was made to the naval training station where there was a dress parade. A sight-seeing tour of the city was then made after which the delegates returned on the steamer to this city.

STRIKE SITUATION ENDED. CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—At the close of the miners and operators meeting that lasted until after midnight it was announced that the strike situation in the Illinois coal fields virtually had been brought to an end. The miners get a share of their demands, only a few details having been changed.

MISS ELKINS

MAY BE MARRIED TO DUKE IN FEBRUARY

PARIS, Sept. 3.—Miss Katherine Elkins and Mrs. R. S. Pitt returned to Paris from London today. Circumstantial stories are to the effect that Miss Elkins and the Duke of the Abruzzi will be married in February.

In last evening's Sun, C. B. Coburn Co. advertised Electric Light Oil at twelve cents a gallon, but that price is incorrect. The mistake is rectified by stating that householders can buy this excellent lamp oil for ten cents a gallon.

If All Housekeepers Knew the Advantages of the

few others would be sold

In the saving of time, trouble and labor and in superior cooking ability, no other range can compare with them.

The Single Damper (patented) is the only perfect fire and oven control; one motion—slide the knob to "kindle," "bake" or "check," and the range does the rest.

The Two Hods in the base (patented) is a wonderful trouble-saving feature. One Hod for ashes, instead of the old, clumsy ash pan; the other Hod for coal.

The Oven with its cup-joint flues is heated all over alike; no "cold corners," no "scorching spots".

The Patented Grates save trouble and money.

Auxiliary Gas Ranges at the end or above the range, if desired.

INCREASE OF $12,000

In Bank Deposits During Hibernian Week

Clearing House Statement Shows That Hibernian Week Was a Fine Business Proposition for the Dealers of Lowell

The Boston clearing house statement for the week shows that the deposits in the local banks for the week of August 24, Hibernian week, were $12,000 greater than for the corresponding week of one year ago. The figures themselves do not represent the real increase for one year ago every bank in Lowell was running steadily and there was more money in circulation locally by thousands of dollars than there were this year so that the increase from out of town sources was far in excess of $12,000, a fact that shows that Hibernian week was a first class financial proposition for the city of Lowell, thanks to Mr. O'Sullivan and the Central Council of the A. ## COL. ROOSEVELT

Made a Knight of the Ak-Sar-Ben

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 3.—Having spent a day and night in Omaha, Theodore Roosevelt resumed his tour through the west early today. He left at 8:05 o'clock for Sioux Falls. The colonel had breakfast at the Omaha club this morning with the Roosevelt reception committee and then went to his train.

Colonel Roosevelt was made a member of the Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben last night and attended a smoker at "The Den," the home of the knights. Two initiates, dressed in regalia, Speaker Cannon and Senator La Follette, were placed on trial before the court of Ak-Sar-Ben. Their counsel defended them by depicting "Cannon" as a man who "stood pat on the burning deck whence pretty nearly all but him had fled" and La Follette as the friend of the friends of the corporations, because "when they were sorely burdened with the task of counting their money he fixed things so that they wouldn't have so much money to count." The jury was unanimous for acquittal but the "court" said it was his painful duty to sentence them. He banished "Cannon" to Kansas and "La Follette" to Rhode Island, then the stage was set to remember the Omaha conception of the main street of Oyster Bay. There were songs and jokes about Roosevelt, which the colonel took with a smile. After he had been declared a full-fledged knight he made a speech in which he told about meeting in the jungles of Africa six millionaires who were all progressives.

Senator Dilliver, who had left his dress suit at home and had borrowed one which was too small for him, got up to explain why the suit he was wearing didn't fit. He said that he was having a great deal of fun at dinners and entertainments arranged in honor of another man.

JACK BARRYMORE

WELL KNOWN ACTOR WEDS MISS KATHERINE C. HARRIS

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Jack Barrymore and Miss Katherine Corri Harris were married at noon Thursday in the church of St. Francis Xavier in West 16th street.

The wedding was very quiet, almost secret. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. Thomas Harlan, formerly of Boston. Only relatives were present.

They were Mr. and Mrs. Russell G. Colt, Mrs. Colt being Miss Ethel Barrymore's mother, Mrs. Brady, grandmother of the bride, and Mrs. Kitty Harris, the bride's mother.

Immediately following the ceremony there was a wedding breakfast, and then Mrs. Barrymore departed for Manhattan, where the young folks will make their home for a time with Mr. and Mrs. Colt. Mr. Barrymore remained in New York until after the performance of "The Fortune Hunter," in which he is the star.

The marriage was not attended by Mr. Harris, who had opposed it from the time the engagement was announced. His only objection, he stated, was the extreme youth of Miss Harris. She is only 18.

Surprise was caused by the announcement of the engagement early last month. Mr. Barrymore and Miss Harris obtained a marriage license on Aug. 12. Miss Harris left the city immediately after the license was obtained. She was at Murray bay, Canada.

Although she was out of the city, there were many reports that they had been married secretly. These were denied by Mr. Barrymore.

John Barrymore Rhyth, the full name under which he was married, is a member of two of the most distinguished theatrical families in the United States. He is a son of the late Maurice Barrymore and George Drow. The bride is a granddaughter of the late Judge John D. Brady.

ROOSEVELT CRITICIZED

[New York Evening Post]

The judges of the supreme court heard yesterday from Denver, and learned that they are "honest but fossilized." This is really a compliment. It means that they have steeped themselves in the law; that they know what ordered liberty is, slowly broadening down from precedent to precedent; and that they refuse to forsake that for the rash inventions of headlong reformers who do not know their own minds for two months running. The fossils of Anglo-Saxon jurisprudence have often saved us from the fool fury of the Seine, and will do it again. The truly fossilized man, in the sense of one who has not learned what has happened, is the one who talks of the Knight case, as Mr. Roosevelt did yesterday. It is true that his attorney-general, Mr. Bonaparte, alleged the Knight case as a sufficient bar to prosecuting the Sugar Trust and that Mr. Earle of Philadelphia could never get Mr. Roosevelt to take any interest in its violations of the law. Not till a new president came in was the sugar trust made to feel the halter draw. And then the Knight case was not found to stand in the way. Even the decision in the Knight case itself, as Mr. Roosevelt might have found out if he had taken the trouble to read it, was strongly against monopoly and contracts in restraint of trade, but held for the sugar company on the ground that the "proof" submitted by the government did not substantiate the complaints. The Knight case dated from 1895. But 1904, in the Northern Securities case, the fossilized supreme court had found a way of doing what it was sought to do in the Knight case.

MEXICANS WILL BE ASSISTED IN CELEBRATION OF THEIR INDEPENDENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—To assist Mexican people in celebrating the centennial of their independence the commission representing the United States will spend several days in various parts of the southern republic. Their first stop will be at Juarez, just across the international border from El Paso, Texas. This is one of the quaintest cities of Mexico. The houses are for the most part built of adobe, while the inhabitants live about as their forefathers did in the days of Maximilian. The party that is to represent Uncle Sam is as follows: Representative David I. Foster of Vermont, chairman of the house committee on foreign affairs and chairman of the commission, and Mrs. Foster; Senator Lee S. Overman of North Carolina and daughter, Mrs. Edwin C. Gregory, Senator Cocle Crawford of South Dakota and Mrs. Crawford, Representative James L. Slayden of Texas and Mrs. Slayden, Representative George W. Patterson of New York and Mrs. Fairchild, General Harrison Gray Otis of California and granddaughter, Miss Marion McPherson; Justice James W. Gerard of New York and Mrs. Gerard, Colonel Charles A. Rook of Pennsylvania and Mrs. Rook, former Governor Curtis Guild Jr. of Massachusetts, who goes as the personal representative of President Taft, and Robert J. Shanley of Vermont, disbursing officer.

DEXTER ENDORSED PANAMA CANAL

For Mayoralty by Ex-Com. of Republican City Committee

Last night the executive committee of the republican city committee met in executive session and voted to endorse Royal K. Dexter, of the board of aldermen, for the republican mayoralty nomination.

The meeting was well attended and for members exclusively. Chairman Herbert L. Chapman presided and Edward T. Goward acted as secretary. The meeting had been previously announced in the papers and the word had been passed around that the mayoralty matter would be discussed. Alderman Dexter was not present. The committee was in session but a short time. The subject was introduced at the opening and a unanimity of opinion made a long meeting unnecessary.

pected that he will now withdraw from the contest.

Royal K. Dexter is the son of the late S. K. Dexter, for many years one of Lowell's leading wholesale commission merchants. He is now serving his second term in the board of aldermen, having previously served in the common council. He is at the head of the firm of S. K. Dexter & Co., in Middlesex street.

THE RATE SITUATION
CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—Interstate Commerce Commissioner C. A. Prouty, who attended the rate hearing here yesterday, said the commission was approaching the rate situation with an open mind.

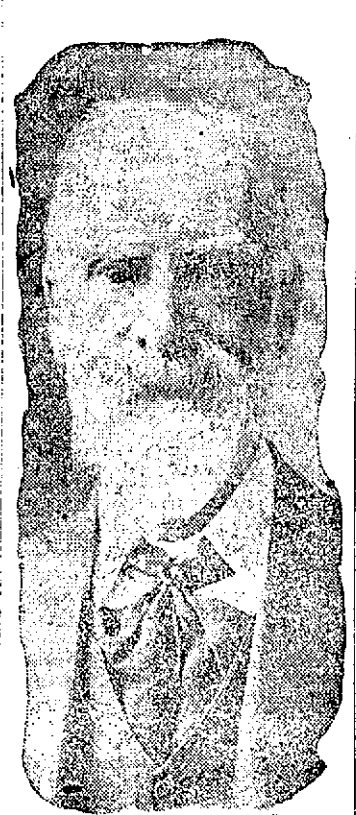

"There is absolutely no suspicion in my mind," he declared, "for as far as I know, in the minds of any of the commissioners that the accounts of the railroads have been padded or juggled in any way. In my judgment, however, all suspicion that the railroads are trying to do such a thing should be set at rest at once."

AMBASSADOR BRYCE
NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—James Bryce, the British ambassador to the United States, is on an inspection tour of the Panama canal and several South American countries. In speaking of the Panama canal, in which he declared he was greatly interested, the ambassador said: "I regard the canal as the most extraordinary improvement on nature that has ever been made on this planet." He added that the commercial value of the canal as yet was uncertain, as he did not think that would be known until after it had been put in use. Besides visiting Peru and Chile, Prof. Bryce and his wife, who accompanied him, will sail through the strait of Magellan and go to Buenos Ayres, where he will probably take a British steamer for England and return to Washington in November. He said he was making his first trip to South America and was looking forward with much pleasure to it. Although the ambassador is entering his 70th year, he is still a keen lover of travel.

JUDGE PARKER A GRANGER
KINGSTON, N. Y., Sept. 3.—Former Judge Alton B. Parker was initiated as a granger last night when he became a member of the First Park grange at Pleasant Park, N. Y. He was introduced from Pleasant Park, where Judge Parker operates a large farm.

FIRE IN HAYLOFT

Blaze Caused Damage Estimated at $3500

HAVERTHILL, Sept. 3.—The firemen had an hour's battle in preventing the spread of flames at a fire in the River-side district yesterday afternoon, which started in a barn owned by James W. Bowdoin on Race street, and was successful in saving many houses nearby; but only after the barn was totally destroyed and a two and one-half story house adjoining was gutted, entailing a total loss of $3500. The fire started in the hayloft of the barn, and Chief Gordon says that the owner, who was at work on the exterior of the structure, admitted that he had been smoking about the premises.

The barn was practically in ruins when the department arrived and the flames had jumped to the roof. The firemen were handicapped by the lack of adequate water supply and were obliged to await the arrival of a steamer before getting a stream on the house. The sparks from the fire were carried by the wind to the roofs of houses nearby, and these were saved by the use of garden hose.

The locality where the fire occurred is thickly settled and the water supply poor. The houses of N. F. Tabor and Mrs. Lizzie M. Phillips on Havert Hill street were slightly damaged by the flying sparks.

LAWYER WALKER DEAD
WILQUETING, Mich., Sept. 3.—Edwin Walker, dean of the Chicago bar and one of its foremost corporation lawyers, died at his summer residence here last night after a long illness.

Mr. Walker was special counsel for the United States in the conspiracy case against Eugene Debs in the railroad strike of 1894. He was the father of John C. and J. Grant Walker of New York.

STEAMER MANCHURIA SAILS
TOKIO, Sept. 3.—The steamer Manchuria, from Shanghai to San Francisco, held up here because of a suspected case of plague, proceeded for America today.

LEGAL NOTICES

To the Honorable the Justices of the Superior Court within and for the County of Middlesex:
Respectfully I, the undersigned, and represents Nina Belle Johnson of Cambridge in said County, that she was lawfully married to Charles H. Johnson, now of Augusta, in the State of Maine, at Hallowell, in the County of Hampden, on the twenty-eighth day of November, A. D. 1901, and thereafter her said husband and the said Charles H. Johnson lived together as husband and wife in this Commonwealth, to wit at Hallowell and Palmer, both in said County of Hampden, that your libellant has always been faithful to her marriage vows and obligations, but the said Charles H. Johnson, being wholly regardless of the same, at said Palmer, on or about the fifth day of March, A. D. 1907, utterly deserted your libellant, and has continued said desertion from the last named date to the time of filing this libel, being more than three consecutive years next prior to the filing hereof; also, being of sufficient ability, grossly, wantonly and cruelly refuses and neglects to provide suitable maintenance for your libellant.

Wherefore your libellant prays that a divorce from the bonds of matrimony may be decreed between your libellant and the said Charles H. Johnson, and for such other orders and decrees as to your Honors shall seem meet, and as justice and equity may require.

Dated the fifteenth day of June, A. D. 1910.
NINA BELLE JOHNSON.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS, Middlesex, ss.
Superior Court, August 15, A. D. 1910.
Upon the libel aforesaid, it is ordered that the libellant, Nina Belle Johnson, do appear before our Justice of the Peace at Cambridge, in said County, on the first Monday of October next, to answer to the copy of said libel and of the order thereon, to be published in the Lowell Sun, a newspaper published in Lowell, in the County of Middlesex, each for three weeks successively, the last publication to be fourteen days at least before the said last mentioned day, and the said Justice of the Peace, if ordered thereon be sent by registered letter to the residence of the libellee as set out in the libel, that he may then and there show cause, if any he have, why the prayer in said libel set forth should not be granted.

MAKE YOUR MONEY EARN
MORE THAN 4 PER CENT
I have a few shares of stock of the United Butchers' Supply Corporation, incorporated under the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and doing a daily cash business. I believe this stock will pay dividends of more than 10 per cent on every dollar you invest in it. The corporation owns and controls valuable patents. The reason it is placing this stock on the market is to increase the factory space and present ownership. The stock is practically a monopoly with no competition. In a very short while this stock should be worth a great deal more than its par value. It is now selling at $10 par.

This is not a risk. It is a sure thing. This business has existed for years and each day has brought a larger increase in its present capital. Full particulars and circulars from EDWARD ALTHOUSE, 201 Devonshire street, Boston, Mass.
